Anglican Church At Kildare Redecorated

Members of the Congregation of Christ Church, Kildare are very happy about the appearance of the interior of their church which is to be reopened on Sunday. The original church at Kildare was lost by fire which occurred when the men shingling the roof were home to lunch. The present church was formerly the Methodist Church at Montrose which was hauled to the site by the late Spurgeon Jeffery about twenty-five years ago. The interior was renovated to chancel style at that time.

The present redecoration includes the replacement of all windows. After the plaster was removed dry wall construction was used. The walls are a grey tone which offsets very well the varnished hardwood ceilings and the grained and varnished wainscoting and seats.

The congregation, which consists of only fifteen families, is to be congratulated on such a large undertaking.

The Rt. Rev. R. H. Waterman, who will be making his episcopal visitation to the parish on Sunday, will rededicate the church in the afternoon and be the special preacher. Rev. J. R. McMahon, the rural dean of Prince Edward Island, is the rector.

Full-Time Responsibility
He stated flatly that the time had come when members must face the fact that it is no longer possible to have credit union management carried on by volunteer workers. The successful ones in Nova Scotia have a full-time manager and they have prospered greatly. He said the time had passed where Credit Unions could be operated on an "open one night a week" basis.

Mr. Laidlaw also said that the people must learn that Credit Unions must be built on savings and not to do this the people must be thrifty. As an example he said if the members in this Province had saved only 10 cents a day the increase last year would have been four times as great as it was. At the same time if this had been done at the start of the movement here the amount in Credit Unions would now be between four and five million dollars.

In general he believed that there were many other services which Credit Unions might supply. He particularly mentioned almost full scale banking service and said that some unions now had their own checking service and found it invaluable. The checks were accepted through the bank clearing house.

He also asked if all present thought they were really doing as much as they could to increase the membership. He suggested that instead of keeping the information to themselves they should go out and tell "what a good thing they had". He asked too why there were so many well dressed people present and stated that it was the poor people who need Credit Unions most.

Assures Support
Hon. W. E. Darby, Acting Premier, assured the meeting that Credit Unions had the wholehearted support of the Provincial Government. Mr. L. A. Farmer, Q.C., Acting Mayor, said that the success attained here was due to the leaders and noted that membership was approximately 20 per cent of the population of the city. Rev. C. E. Evans extended best wishes on behalf of the Ministerial Association and promised full support to the movement.

Chairman for the evening was Mr. J. J. Coyle who first called on Mr. Evans for the blessing. Seated at the head table with Mr. Coyle were Mr. Evans, Mr. Laidlaw, Mr. Smith, Hon. Mr. Darby, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Farmer, Dr. J. C. Murphy, and Mr. Cetus Murphy. Music was supplied by Alex MacLean at the piano, and Alf McKearney on the violin. The vocalists were Benjamin Dolron who sang Moonlight and Roses to an appreciative audience.

Miners Renew Demands For Voice On Coal Board

(By Dal Warrington, Canadian Press Staff Writer)
TRURO, (CP)—The United Mine Workers (U.M.W.) have renewed demands for miner representation on the Dominion Coal Board.

Delegates to the union's District 26 convention said Thursday a body formed to develop and stabilize the coal industry could not do its job without first hand knowledge of workers' problems.

The convention adopted other resolutions calling for more labor education, new industries in areas hit by mine closures, and legislation compelling mine operators to take out all available coal before abandoning a colliery.

For the second day the miners blasted the coal board for what they called its failure to do its duty and for being unsympathetic to Canadian miners.

S'ide Y's Men's Meeting

The 'guest speaker at last night's Y's Men's Club meeting in Summerside was W/O Bellis, commanding officer of the new C. T. U. moving to the Summerside Air Station shortly. W/O Bellis took as his topic "Maritime Warfare" and did an excellent job of outlining the work of the operational training unit which is moving to Summerside.

"The men in the O. T. U. are good or we don't take them. You will find that all the boys in our unit will be as good as your community," said W/O Bellis in his maiden speech in Summerside.

Using facts and figures he outlined to the Y's Men the part the O. T. U. plays in preparing men for maritime warfare and further, the part that the R. C. A. F. plays in defending our shores.

W/O Bellis was introduced and thanked by F/O (Y's) Ralph Emery the chairman of the meeting.

A lively song-sing led by Y's Jock Hopkirk got the meeting off to a flying start. 87.5 of the membership were in attendance. Four guests were also present, Ray Doyle, a member of the local Phalanx Club, Wendell Muttart of the firm of M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd., Stuart Veale, with the Department of Public Works and Robert Archer of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

All enjoyed a delicious supper prepared and served by the Y's Menets in the Y Centre on Green Street.

Y's Murray Willett was fine-mester. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

said. "But I knew them quite well and my thought was much more in accord with Mr. Rudyard Kipling than with Br. Bernard Shaw. On the other hand Mr. Rudyard Kipling never thought much of me, whereas Mr. Bernard Shaw has often expressed himself in most flattering terms."

Churchill said he keenly wanted to come to Stockholm to receive the prize from King Gustaf in December. Other Nobel prizes, not yet announced, will be awarded at the same time.

The statesman has written 27 books since 1898.

War Speeches

He once summed up his approach to writing: "Broadly speaking, the short words are the best, and the old words best of all."

He has used all kinds of words in his oratory. One of the best known of his many sentences came when he assumed Britain's prime ministry in the dark hours of 1940: "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Another from wartime: "We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets and in the hills. We shall never surrender."

And after the war, he coined a name: "From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the continent."

Churchill is the sixth Briton to win the Nobel prize in literature. Others were Kipling, Shaw, John Galsworthy, T. S. Eliot and Bertrand Russell.
