

Instrument Course Set For Island Centres

Civil defence officials are starting an instrument familiarization course in operational radio instruments at five municipal centres this evening which will be staged in three other centres later. The course will start at 8 o'clock and run about three hours. It will be put on in Summerside on July 4, at Alberton July 9 and at Montague July 10, it was stated.

The course will be held in the CD people have 40 instruments available which will adequately cover the entire province, Mr. Simons believes.

"We have a enough radio equipment to monitor all of the areas provided that municipalities have trained monitors, and training is available on request," he said.

P.E.I. is one of the three provinces equipped with the full quota of operational equipment, the co-ordinator stated.

John Bernachez, chief of the extension service of the Civil Defence College is in the province now and will be here for the next two weeks, assisting with the various courses.

The courses will be under the supervision of Stan MacRae, chief of radiation monitoring services for the province.

Municipalities, he explained, have been set up for civil defence by the Catholic Trade Union of Textile Workers in this town 100 miles east of Montreal. The survey will determine how many of the 700 cotton mill employees are suffering from the disease. Known as byssinosis, the disease passes through three stages—a fever, then a persistent cough, then an illness with the same symptoms as bronchitis. It is caused by the dust from cotton, especially low-quality or rotten cotton.

They point with particular pride to Restigouche Municipal Airport at Charlottetown here which they say fills a long needed transportation gap. The one-mile gravel runway opened last month to give Northern New Brunswick its first airport. Activity is also busy on the waterfront here where the federal government has pledged to spend $650,000 to improve harbor facilities at the ice-free port.

Part of the improvements include the filling in of 13 acres of water. The K. C. Irving Oil Company plans to establish an oil and gas distributing centre on the reclaimed land. Other work involves dredging and dock improvements.

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation Limited also plans to use the port to ship base metals from its Babine development 50 miles southeast of here.

 GLASGOW, Scotland (CP)—A plan to turn the River Clyde into one of the world's biggest harbors will be the subject of a study conference here in September. A three-mile dam across the river, forming an artificial lake stretching from Glasgow to Greenock, is envisaged.

Cotton Workers Disease Probed

MAGOG, Que. (CP)—A sometimes fatal disease which strikes cotton workers after 10 years of exposure to raw cotton is the subject of an investigation by the Catholic Trade Union of Textile Workers in this town 100 miles east of Montreal. Known as byssinosis, the disease passes through three stages—a fever, then a persistent cough, then an illness with the same symptoms as bronchitis. GOV'T WILL COVER COST OF SURVEY - NOT YARDS

It is the cost of the survey that livestock market yards here to be destroyed. Agriculture Minister Andrew MacIvor was referring to last week's announcement that the government would underwrite the cost, if need be, of the survey. Mr. MacIvor said that the survey by Alan Hudson, Toronto, suggested as necessary to bring marketing conditions here to the desired state.

"It was the survey itself that I was referring to, not what the survey report recommended when I said the government would underwrite the cost," Mr. MacIvor explained.

In making the correction Mr. MacIvor emphasized again that almost 100 per cent participation of island cattlemen would be needed before such a method of marketing would be assured of success.

Consumer, Gov't Spending Keep Up Economic Steam

By ALAN DONNELLY
 OTTAWA (CP)—Higher levels of consumer and government spending kept up the steam in Canada's economic growth during the first quarter of the year. But the rise of 0.8 per cent in gross national product above the fourth quarter of 1962 was the smallest rise since the current expansion began in early 1961.

The indication is that the economy will have to move ahead faster in the rest of the year to meet Finance Minister Gordon's budget speech forecast of a five-per-cent advance for 1963.

The bureau of statistics, in a report Friday, estimated the gross national product—value of all goods and services produced—hit an annual rate of $41,841,000,000 in the first quarter compared with $41,252,000,000 in the last quarter of 1962. The figures are adjusted to offset seasonal variations.

Higher prices accounted for about one-quarter of the gain and the volume of national output advanced 0.6 per cent.

INCREASES MODEST
 The over-all rise in GNP of 0.8 per cent compared with the 1.2-per-cent advance recorded for the last quarter of 1962. But price increases moderated and the rise in volume was higher than the 0.5-per-cent increase in 1962's final quarter.

But there was a standstill in total spending. With outlays on new housing and industrial equipment down, this key factor in economic growth remained at an annual rate of $7,652,000,000. This was short of the $7,287,000,000 in private capital spending anticipated for the full year—a figure which doesn't reflect the impact on construction from the budget's application of the 11-per-cent sales tax to building materials.

The international balance-of-payments deficit was at an annual rate of $52,000,000 in the first quarter compared with the deficit of $69,000,000 for the whole of 1962.

There was an increase in the deficit from the last quarter of 1962, however, as imports of goods and services rose more than exports. This was due mainly to higher payments of interest and dividends to foreign investors and heavier Canadian tourist spending abroad.

Northern N.B. Communities Attract Secondary Industry

By FRANK TERNAN
 DALHOUSIE, N.B. (CP)—Rugged woodland communities of Northern New Brunswick are successfully attracting secondary industry.

Long dependent on the basic fishing and lumbering industries, many are campaigning to diversify their economies with the secondary manufacturing found more commonly in the southern part of the province.

Typical results are found in this Bay of Chaleur port of 6,000 which grew up around the New Brunswick International Paper Company.

Scheduled for completion this fall is a $4,000,000 Canadian Industries Limited plant that will employ 75. It will manufacture caustic soda for paper-making.

The same is true at neighboring Campbellton, a city of 10,000, where Fraser Companies Limited operate a pulp mill at suburban Atholville.

Three years ago Radio Engineering Products Limited announced it would transfer operations from Grandy, Que., to Atholville. Last summer it began operations in a new plant with a payroll of 300.
