

ing generations, abetted in the horrid crime by a lot of infernal quacks with which modern medicine is infested. When on the Last Day, the cries of the Court shall with resounding "Oyez," "Oyez!" declare the "Oyer and Terminer" of the Universe opened, and the Judge with gavel of thunderbolt shall smite the nations into silence, and the trial of all the fratricides, and parricides, and matricides, and patricides, and uxoricides, and regicides, and deicides, and infanticides of the earth shall proceed, none of my hearers or readers can say that they knew not what they were doing. Mighty God! Arrest the evil that is overshadowing this century.

I charge you, my sister, that you take your husband along with you to heaven. Of course this implies that you yourself are a Christian. I must take that for granted. It cannot be possible that after what Christianity has done for women, and after taking the infinitely responsible position you have assumed at the head of the household, that you should be in a position antagonistic to Christ. It was not a slip of the tongue when I spoke of you as being at the head of the household. We men rather pride ourselves as being at the head of the household, but it is only a pleasant delusion. To whom do the children go when they have trouble? When there is a sore finger to be bound up, or one of the first teeth that needs to be removed to make way for one that is crowding it out, to whom does the child go? For whom do children cry out in the night when they get frightened at a bad dream? Aye, to whom does the husband go when he has a business trouble great or too delicate for outside ears? We, the men, are heads of the household in name, but you, O wives! are the heads of households in fact, and it is your business to take your husband with you into the kingdom of God and see that house prepared for heaven.

You can do it! Of course, God's almighty grace alone can convert him; but you are to be the instrument. Some wives keep their husbands out of Heaven, and others garner them for it. If your religion, O wife, is simply the joke of the household; if you would rather go to the theatre than the prayer meeting; if you can beat all the neighborhood in progressive euchre; if your husband never sees you kneel at the bedside in prayer before retiring; if the only thing that reminds the family of your church relations is that on communion day you get home late to dinner, you will not be able to take your husband to Heaven, for the simple reason that you will not get there yourself. But I suppose that your religion is genuine, and that the husband resides there in your soul a divine principle, and that, though you may be naturally quicker-tempered than he is, and have many imperfections that distress you more than they can anyone else, still you are destined for the skies when the brief scenes of this life are over. How will you take him to heaven? There are two ways to that best-prayer and holy example.

But you say he belongs to a worldly club, or he does not believe a word of the Bible, or he is an inebriate and very loose in his habits? What you tell me shows that you don't understand that while you are at the one end of a prayer, the omnipotent God is at the other end, and it is simply a question whether Almightiness is strong enough and keeps His word.

I have no doubt there will be great conventions in Heaven called for celebrative purposes, and when in some Celestial assembly the Saints shall be telling what brought them to God, I believe that ten thousand times ten thousand will say, "My wife."

I put beside each other two testimonies of men concerning their wives, and let you see the contrast. An aged man was asked the reason of his salvation. With tearful emotion he said: "My wife was brought to God some years before myself. I persecuted and abused her because of her religion. She, however, returned nothing but kindness constantly, maintaining an anxiety to promote my comfort and happiness; and it was her amiable conduct when suffering ill-treatment from me that first sent the arrows of conviction to my soul." The other testimony was from a dying man: "My wife, I am a lost man. You opposed our family worship and my secret prayer. You drew me away into temptation, and to neglect every religious duty. I believe my fate is sealed. My wife, you are the cause of my everlasting ruin." How many glorious married couples in Heaven—Adam and Eve, Abraham and Sarah, Lspidoth and Deborah, Isaac and Rebekah, Jacob and Rachel, Zacharias and Elizabeth, Joseph and Mary, and many whom you have known as good as the most of them!

As once you stood in the village or city church, or in your father's house, perhaps under a wedding bell of flowers, to-day stand up, husband and wife, beneath the cross of a pardoning Redeemer, while I proclaim the ban of an eternal marriage. Join your right hands. I pronounce you one forever. What God hath joined together let neither life nor death, nor time, nor eternity put asunder. Witness me and angels all worlds, all ages! The circle is an emblem of eternity, and that is the shape of the Marriage Ring.

The temperance cause in East Royalty is progressing favorably. About four months ago a lodge of the I. O. G. T. was organized with a charter membership of over forty. Since that time new members have been added, and the lodge is now in a flourishing condition. It meets every Tuesday night in the Belmont Schoolhouse. Next night of meeting will be what is known as a "free night," at which some of the leading temperance workers of the city are expected to speak. The principal object of the meeting is to take into consideration the petition that is to go before the Governor-in-Council concerning the appointing of additional inspectors to see that the Canada Temperance Act is more efficiently put into operation. The leading question will be: Why should we sign such a petition? All are invited to attend.

The manufacturers of the "Myrtle Navy" tobacco invite the very closest scrutiny of its quality. The expert, whose trained senses teach him how to recognize the exact quality of tobacco, and the smoker who judges by his experience in smoking it, will both come to the same conclusion that it is of the very highest quality anywhere to be found. It is of the very finest of Virginia leaf, and is manufactured with the greatest possible care.

THE Chinese residents of Oregon City have been robbed, assaulted and driven out by a mob. Free country!

The Carnival at Georgetown.

The Georgetown Carnival last night was a decided success in every way, in fact the only fault that could be found was the smallness of the Drill Shed, which was uncomfortably crowded. The committee in charge had the shed tastefully decorated, and the light was very good indeed. Shortly after 8 o'clock the skaters filed out of the waiting room and in a very few moments everything looked beautiful and all persons present were pleased; pleased that the Carnival was such a success, and that everybody else was satisfied. The costumes worn by the different skaters were, without exception, in good taste and each character was well carried out. Want of space prevents us from particularizing, but our readers will understand us when we say that the Carnival at Georgetown last night will compare favorably with the recent Carnival held in the Citizens' Rink, in Charlottetown.

A detachment of Worth's Band supplied the music in their usual good style. After the Carnival a ball took place, which was kept up until 4 a.m. this morning. The Band, and those who went to Georgetown with them, returned to Charlottetown well pleased with the reception accorded them by the Georgetown people. Following is a list of the characters:

Supreme Court, King's County.

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 26, 1886.

The Court finished all business before it at two o'clock this afternoon and was then adjourned.

In Martin vs. Clay, in which the Judge reserved the question of costs—costs were allowed to the appellant.

The first case called to-day was Margaret Steele, appellant vs. Edwin Clay, respondent.—A Scott Act appeal; and it was dismissed with costs. Peters and McLean for appellant. D. C. McLeod and Wyatt for respondent.

John McKinnon, appellant vs. Edwin Clay, respondent.—Appeal heard and judgment reserved. Peters and McLean for appellant, and D. C. McLeod and Wyatt for respondent.

Same vs. Sams.—Appeal allowed. Peters and McLean for appellant, and McLeod and Wyatt for respondent.

Local Newspapers.

We have received a copy of the 'Best List of Local Newspapers,' published by George P. Rowell & Co., Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 10 Spruce Street, New York. Messrs. Rowell & Co., are the leading advertising agents of the country. THE EXAMINER has had more or less business with this firm during the past sixteen years, and it gives us pleasure to refer to the satisfactory manner in which they have observed all contracts with us. Their business methods are the admiration of all newspaper publishers, for the firm is not over exacting, and are especially prompt in paying all claims. In fact they make it a feature of their business to pay all bills that are correct the same day they are received. Mail is a day and a half in transit between Charlottetown and New York, and it has frequently occurred that a bill sent from Charlottetown Monday night to Rowell & Co., was examined, approved, ordered paid and check received in Charlottetown Thursday night. A firm that is thus safe and prompt in carrying out its contracts is a very desirable one to have business with. Those who wish to do general advertising will disregard their own interests by neglecting to negotiate with Geo. P. Rowell & Co., before placing their contracts. Their recent publication, "The Best List of Local Newspapers," embraces every paper published at an important county seat, or in a place having more than 5,000 population. The list covers every State, Territory, District and Province of the United States and Canada. The publication will be sent free to advertisers on application.

THE NEWS OF THE DAY.

Carefully Collected by "The Examiner's" Reporters.

An epidemic of measles has broken out in Montreal.

No street parade in Chicago on St. Patrick's Day.

There are over 300 Mormon elders at work in the Southern States proselytizing.

A widow with nine children has sued a young man in New York for breach of promise.

Upwards of 100 forged notes have been discovered in the Eckerstedt forgery case, Montreal.

The winter carnival at Burlington opened on the night of the 22nd with appropriate ceremonies.

Sir William Jenner, the well known physician, has ordered Lord Salisbury to go and recruit his health.

"Time works wonders," said a young man of 67 when he came back and found his eldest sister only 18.

Less than sixteen years ago the first house was built at Birmingham, Ala. Now it is a city with 25,000 inhabitants.

There were 67 interments in the Montreal Catholic Cemetery last week, among which were four cases of smallpox.

The London Standard says the under-secretary for Ireland has submitted a scheme for home rule to the government.

Miss Gallant, who was shot at Campbellton, N. C., last week, is now out of danger. It has not yet been discovered who fired the shot.

Some 15,000 packages of tea, valued at $180,000 have been imported at Halifax during the past six weeks, in anticipation of a change of duty.

The Castletown, Ireland, police have captured nineteen armed and disguised men. They are supposed to be members of a party of moonlighters.

A part of the cargo of the steamer Feronia, recently lost on the Dutch coast, consisted of 5,000,000 needles designed for the Chinese trade.

A self-styled prophet, Samuel Tellmarok, is preaching the "end of the world in 1888" in Corydon, Ind. He has made a Bible after his own notions.

Not a member of the Grant family attended the funeral of Hancock, and it is not known that the Grants sent any message of condolence to Mrs. Hancock.

During the last quarter of a century Archibald's stage between Halifax and Salmon River, has travelled over 663,000 miles, or equal to 27 times round the world.

The enormous increase of civil pensions is exciting alarm in England. In the Government service there are about 100,000 civil servants, yet there are 800,000 names on the civil pension list.

It is reported the first outline of Gladstone's Irish proposals have been presented to his colleagues in the cabinet and that the Premier goes the whole length of restoring the Irish Parliament.

A Kingston, Ont., girl has dismissed her suitor at the request of her father, who offered her a perfectly lovely sealskin scone for so doing. She likes her sacque better than he likes his sack.

One reason why more people did not go into the ark is that Noah neglected to advertise the excursion in the daily papers of his time. There is a great moral lesson embraced in this circumstance.

A young commercial traveller, who was on his bridal tour and spending a few days at Monaco, was found dead on the 24th at Monte Carlo. He ruined himself at the gaming tables, and then committed suicide.

One of Mr. Talmage's recent sermons on domestic subjects contained the assertion that "divorces was the first course in the menu of hell," which is not the first coarse remark that has fallen from him, by any means.

Mark Twain: As for me, I hope to be cremated. I made that remark to my pastor, who said, with what he seemed to think was an impressive manner: "I wouldn't worry about that if I had your chances."

A newspaper of Beloit, Kansas, says that in Clark county, during a recent snow storm, a large flock of sheep crowded close together, and the snow, melting for a while and then freezing, fastened the entire flock together.

In the Roman Catholic Church at Ottawa, on Sunday last, a mandement was read from His Lordship the Bishop of Ottawa, denouncing the Knights of Labor, Telegraph Operators' Union and in fact all secret societies.

A new book entitled "Hints to Poets," has recently made its appearance. It is to be hoped that the book will have the desired effect. Some poets will never take a hint till they have had a hole kicked through them.

George Leib, a colored carpenter of Savannah, Ga., fell backward from a third storey scaffolding the other day, turned a complete somersault, struck squarely on his feet, looked around to see if anyone was hurt, and quietly climbed back to his work.

A fatal encounter took place on Friday afternoon near Pineville, Ky., between a man named Lane and five men named Turner, between whom an old feud existed. The Turners were in ambush behind trees when Lane came along the road and they all fired upon him. Lane saw one of the Turners step from behind and shot him dead. Almost immediately afterwards Lane fell pierced by several bullets.

Official returns of the health office in Montreal, for the year 1885, have been issued. The total number of deaths was 7,825 as against 4,353 in 1884. Of these 6,178 were French Canadians, 896 other Catholics and 929 Protestants. There were 3,164 deaths from smallpox, and from all preventable diseases, 4,564. There were 5,876 children, 122 between 80 and 90 years of age, 23 over 90 years, and one over 100 years.
