

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By Thornton W. Burgess
and some were even smarter. Young Reddy had already learned that there was almost sure to be good hunting in a cornfield. He was almost sure to find Mice there, for Mice dearly love corn. When he reached that cornfield he would go from one shock of corn to another taking care not to miss any. Sooner or later, he would be sure to find a shock in which were some Young Reddy Fox left the Old Pasture and started out across the Green Meadows for Farmer Brown's cornfield. He was called Young Reddy because he was the living image of his father, whom everybody knows as Reddy Fox. He not only looked like his father, but was very like him in other ways.

Young Reddy was learning to hunt. He no longer had to depend on father and mother to catch his food. He was independent. He liked being independent. He liked doing what he wanted to do when he wanted to do it. He liked the excitement of trying to catch those who didn't want to be caught. You see it was a sort of game, for some of these were as smart as he was.

Young Reddy prepared to spring on the big Mouse.

Mice, and if he was careful he would be almost certain to catch one or two running between shocks. Earlier in the season, while the corn was "in the milk," as the

Eastern Guardian

OUTSTANDING values in used cars and tractors at McGowan Motors Ltd., Montague.

Personals

Mrs. Mable Lavers, Georgetown, is a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital where she is undergoing treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Millar have returned to Toronto after spending their vacation with their parents in Murray Harbour North and Gaspeaux.

Montague Jr. Board of Trade Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Montague Junior Board of Trade was held last evening at the home of Mr. Arnold Wightman. Mr. Gilbert Clements, president, presided over the meeting.

Following the reading of the minutes, discussion centered on ways and means of raising funds to meet necessary expenses.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members enjoyed a delicious supper served by the hostess, Mrs. Wightman, after which the members and their wives were the guests of Mr. B.H. Yeo as his theatre.

saying is, Young Reddy had met other visitors there. They had big tails with black rings around them, and they had worn masks across their faces. Do you guess who they were? Of course, they were Bobby Coon and his family. They were doing a lot of harm there, for they were breaking down a lot of corn to get the milky ears. They were wasteful rascals. They would take a bite or two from an ear, then leave it and pull down another. Young Reddy watched them from a distance. They were too big for him to interfere with. He was wise enough to be polite. Already, he had found out that politeness pays. If nothing is gained through it, neither is anything lost.

It was some time since he had found any of Bobby Coon's family in the cornfield. They liked it only when it was in the milky stage. For several nights he had met no one there, and so he had come to think of himself as the only hunter there. However, he was too smart to be careless. So it was that all the time he used his eyes, and his ears, and his nose as he had been taught to use them, and as Mother Nature meant that he should use them. So it was that his ears picked up a slight sound on the other side of a shock of corn in front of him.

"A Mouse," thought Young Reddy, and licked his lips. He took a slow, careful step, and another, and then he stopped to listen again. He peeked around the shock. There sat what looked to him like a giant Mouse. He was so big that he would be a whole dinner in himself. Yet he didn't look big enough for Young Reddy to be afraid of him. Young Reddy prepared to spring on the big Mouse. Young Reddy was making a mistake, but he didn't know it.

Savage Harbor

After serving the public faithfully and well for forty-four years Mr. B. H. Stewart, baggage master on the Georgetown-Mt. Stewart route, completed his last official on Saturday Sept. 24 and now is on vacation until the last of October when he retires on superannuation. In 1911 Mr. Stewart started his railway career on a run from Charlottetown to Souris. Thirty-five years ago he was transferred to the Georgetown train and over that long period of time has given constant and efficient service. Mr. Stewart served under six different permanent superintendents, Messrs G. A. Sharpe, T. B. Grady, H. MacEwen, E. W. MacKinnon, C. T. Montgomery and G. R. Greenough. Sincere wishes of a host of friends go with him trusting that he may live long and enjoy to the fullest the fruits of his years of service.

SOURIS R.C.M.P. BARRACKS OPENED TODAY

This afternoon at 3 the new R. C. M. P. Barracks at Souris, shown above, will be officially opened. General contractors in its construction were M. F. Schurman and Co. Ltd. Personnel of the Detachment comprises Cpl. Sanford, Constables J. Veseli, M. Barrie and G. Silver.

This afternoon at 3 the new R. C. M. P. Barracks at Souris, shown above, will be officially opened.

Mixed Reception For Commercial TV in Britain

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — "It's cool, said the soft-voiced announcer. 'It's fresh as ice; it's tingling. A tube of toothpaste, embedded in a cake of ice, flashed on British television screens.

Thus did revolution break over London's rooftops Thursday night the first commercial television in British history.

The toothpaste commercial lasted 45 seconds. One hundred reporters and other guests, invited to a hotel to watch the inaugural over a battery of TV sets, greeted it with silence.

When the toothpaste man stopped talking, a dulcet-toned peddler of drinking chocolate said his quick-witted viewers tittered.

Several of the viewers tittered VIEWSERS GUFFAW
Then came an advertisement for margarine. A large country woman told viewers how much her husband was going to like it.

Guffaws broke out over the audience. The first hunk of advertising was band loomed into view.

"There weren't too bad, you know," said one young man. "The poor country woman," sighed a grey-haired man. "Dear me. She told me no more."

During 1955, he added, the corporation's outlay for newspaper advertising was the greatest in its history. Tremendously increased sales of Chrysler-built automobiles throughout the year reflected the value of the program and warranted next year's substantial increase.

Robert Morley introduced filmed excerpts from famous plays such as Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" and Noel Coward's "Private Lives."

Then professional boxing. Halfway through, a gasp went up from male viewers when the virtues of good old Irish stout were inserted between rounds.

The inaugural evening started with a white tie and tails dinner, weighty with dignity, in London's Guildhall.

Dr. Charles Hill postmaster-general, observed: "Some have forecast a debasement of taste. The answer will be found on your screens. "However, let me tell you that Hamlet will not interrupt his soliloquy to tell about the brand of toothpaste used at Elnor's."

MT. HERBERT W.I.

On September 22 Mrs. Arnold Burhoe was hostess to the Mount Herbert Women's Institute. The meeting opened by repeating the Creed. Minutes of last regular meeting, held in school, were read.

Ten members were present and three visitors were welcomed. Roll call was answered and articles presented for auction. It was moved by Mrs. Russel Farquharson and seconded by Mrs. Arnold Burhoe that we pay music teacher her fee every month. Various letters were read. A donation is to be given to the C. N. I. B.

Mrs. Errol Lund and Mrs. David Mutch are to collect for the Cancer Campaign in Mount Herbert. The P.E.I. Hospital Junior Aid is also to be supported. All bills are to be paid. Mrs. J. Russel Driscoll is to arrange for a Shur-Gain Amateur Cavalcade in the near future. Mrs. Errol Lund gave a report of the Annual Convention she and Mrs. Walter Wood attended early in July.

School committee appointed: Mrs. Winston Wood, Mrs. Kenneth Jenkins and Mrs. Louis Kelly. Mrs. Winston Wood invited members to her home on October 18th. Roll call to be answered by showing its dealers' merchandising efforts. "The bulk of the increase will go to local newspapers," he said, "for it is at the local level primarily that we must meet the buying public."

During 1955, he added, the corporation's outlay for newspaper advertising was the greatest in its history. Tremendously increased sales of Chrysler-built automobiles throughout the year reflected the value of the program and warranted next year's substantial increase.

Some industrial circles put the expected loss to Britain as high as $240,000,000 a year. One of the hardest-hit sectors is expected to be the British motor industry. Australia is the foremost outlet for British car exports.

Says Name Of Tipster In Spy Case Is Known

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Mail claims in a front-page story that the foreign office is believed to know the identity of the "third man" who warned Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess that they were under suspicion as Communist agents.

Security officers were said to have insufficient evidence to prosecute the tipster, who is reported to hold a "responsible position" in a British embassy. He is therefore due to be "squeezed" out of a baby picture. At this meeting Mrs. Ralph Raynor and Mrs. J. Russel Driscoll are to give a demonstration on something interesting.

Proceeds of two ice cream socials were reported. Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Gay MacEachern. Singing of the Ode and the Queen brought the meeting to a close.

British Export Firms Are Jolted

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's vital export market was severely jolted today by news that Australia is cutting imports by 11 per cent in an effort to halt inflation.

Some industrial circles put the expected loss to Britain as high as $240,000,000 a year. One of the hardest-hit sectors is expected to be the British motor industry. Australia is the foremost outlet for British car exports.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By Josephine Culbertson

TOO ADVANCED?

COMPLAINTS are occasionally addressed to this column (and others) that the hands and points discussed are often too advanced. "Most readers don't know enough about bridge to appreciate these fine points," some of these letters say. "Why not write about simple hands, with common mistakes?"

Well, the trouble is that if many of the most common errors were reported, there would probably be a mass movement of lip-curling, with everyone wondering why such silly mistakes should be discussed. The deal below illustrates my point. How many readers will need to be told that South made a horrible blunder in the play? Yet, in all fairness, quite a few of those same readers make similar or worse plays when they are actually at the table.

South dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

Bridge hand diagram showing cards for South and West.

Considering that West was marked with two good hearts and would defeat the contract if he could get on lead with any card, it was rather silly for South to play the club jack instead of the king! The one hope was that East had the club ace.

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "THE FURTHER WE TAKE HER AWAY FROM THOSE OLD HILLBILLIES, THE LESS INTEREST SHE HAS—IN LIVING!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "SHE'S APT TO DIE... OF SHEER, HOPELESS LONGING!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "WE'LL GET THE DOCTOR FROM ROCKTOWN, PAINE!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "HE'S JUST BEEN KNOCKED OUT. WE'LL BE OKAY. WE'LL JUST LET HIM LIE THERE AWHILE."

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "NOTHING LIKE A GRABBLING FIRE AND THE SHELL OF WOOD SHOVES! ARE YOU UN-CHILLED, WILDA?"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "LOOK—I'LL DO THE DISHES, DARLING! I TAKE SOME ASPIRIN AND SLAM INTO THE FEATHERS! YOU'LL BE ALL RIGHT BY MORNING!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "THE BOOKS SAY THE HAMMUS ALBAMMUS IS NOT ONLY THE MOST DELICIOUS BUT THE MOST LOVAL CREATURE ON EARTH!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "HELP ME TO THE SADDLE, TONY. WE'LL GO TO ROCKTOWN AND HAVE THE DOCTOR LOOK AT MIKE'S WOUND AND HAVE..."

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "HE'S SURE GOT A SHMILE UNDER HIS FACE. HE'S SURE GOT ON HIS FACE."

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "NOW WATCH THE FIRST GAME OF THE WORLD SERIES FOR THE BODDERS. THE G-R-R-EAT JERRY LEWIS!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "BATTER UP!"

Comic strip panel with dialogue: "Later, Phil gazes unasily across the moon-washed waters of Kanda Lake..."

Chrysler Increases Newspaper Ad Budget

Windsor, Ont.: Addressing more than 200 Chrysler of Canada fieldmen at their annual convention here, R.T. Brown, advertising manager of the corporation, described newspapers as "the cornerstone of our whole campaign."

In outlining the company's advertising plans for 1956, Mr. Brown announced that Chrysler of Canada will expand its advertising coverage during the coming year, providing increased assistance to

SOURIS HOSPITAL

COOK WANTED

Immediately.

Apply to

Matron

Advertisement for DODDS KIDNEY PILLS.

Advertisement for TIRED FEET MINARD'S LINIMENT.

YEO THEATRE MONTAGUE

Wed - Thur - 28 - 29 Adm. 30 - 46

DEVIL'S CANYON

Color — Virginia Mayo - Dale Robertson
Unusual — Highly Romantic — Action

CAPITOL — TODAY ONLY

TWO-FOR-ONE SCREAM SHOW!

Advertisement for movie 'CAME FROM BENEATH THE SEA' featuring Kenneth Tobey and Faith Domergue.

Advertisement for movie 'CREATURE WITH THE ATOM BRAIN' featuring Richard Denning and Anna Stevens.

THE WORLD CHAMPION FIGHT!

The Capitol Theatre presents the Fight of the Year. You listened to the broadcast and now you can see the Rocky Marciano-Archie Moore fight Today. Due to the length of the program the Show Times will be as follows:—

MATINEE 3:00; EVENING 6:45 - 9:00

Will Expand Aluminum Plant

MASSENA, N.Y., (AP) — The Aluminum Co. of America announced Tuesday that it would spend $1,700,000 to expand its facilities here.

President Irving W. Wilson said eventually the new facilities are expected to be capable of producing 10,000,000 pounds of covered aluminum wire a year.

In a talk at a luncheon for 37 business editors of American and Canadian newspapers and magazines, Wilson said it could be expected that Alcoa would continue to have reasons to expand employment here. He did not estimate when the entire expansion would be completed or how many employees would be added.

The luncheon was part of a three-day tour arranged by the state commerce department to familiarize editors with the north country area where the St. Lawrence seaway and power development are under construction. It is sponsored also by the St. Lawrence Valley Association of Chambers of Commerce.

HURRY! HURRY!

ONLY TWO DAYS LEFT FOR THE BIGGEST LAFF-FEST IN MONTHS!

TODAY and THUR.

When "Ma" takes up the hula and "Pa" learns all about pineapples and poi... it's their funniest adventure yet!

Advertisement for 'Ma and Pa Go Native' cartoon.

EXTRA! CARTOON "URANIUM FEVER" COMEDY

SHOWS 3:30-7:9

PRINCE EDWARD

Advertisement for KING COLE COFFEE.

THE STARS SHINE BEST . . . AT THE DRIVE-IN SHOW!

Advertisement for NORTH RIVER drive-in show.

NOTE TIME: FOR THE BALANCE OF THE SEASON SHOWS WILL START AT 8 P.M. — BOX OFFICE OPENS 7:30.

TODAY and THURSDAY

IT'S SCARE-IFIC . . . WHEN THE FUNSTERS MEET THE MONSTERS!

Fiction's fearsome fiend meets the movies' men of mirth and it'll scare you where you laugh the most!

"BUD ABBOTT and LOU COSTELLO MEET DR.. JEKYLL and MR. HYDE"

CO-STARRING BORIS KARLOFF

ALSO CARTOON - COMEDY - MUSICAL "COME AS YOU ARE . . . ENJOY THE FUN!"

Mayfair Theatre

Murray River — WEDNESDAY ONLY

Advertisement for 'THE COWBOY' movie.