NAVY TEAM WIN OPENER OF HOOP FINALS

Stage Thrilling Comeback In Second Half To Overcome Hi-Y Grads' Lead

Staging a brilliant, thrilling comeback in the second half after being badly outplayed and outscored in the opening session, the Navy hoop squad last night won the opening game of the City basketball finals for the Kelly and McInnis Trophy when they defeated Hi-Y Grads 25-21 at the Holy Name Gym.

Harry Currie Arrives Home

Youthful Harry Currie, former Abegweit hockey player, arrived home Tuesday evening from Hershey Pennsylvania. Harry starred last season with the Hershey Bears, his name frequently capturing the headlines of newspapers as he paced his team to a league championship. Reports from several quarters stamped the versatile hockeyist, who plays either centre or right wing, a potential big leaguer.

ABBIE SISTERS ELIMINATE BLUEDOTS

Chalking up their second straight victory over the Bluedots in the best out of three semi-final series Abbie Sisters last night advanced to the finals of the ladies league when they sent the game Bluedots down to a 13-7 defeat.

With both teams checking their opponents very close the first fifteen minutes of the game produced not one field goal. Abbie Sisters, the strength of Anne Sherry's three foul shots that rustled the twins. In the final two minutes the winners broke through twice for field goals, Jean Grant snaring the first on a close-in shot while Agnes McGee increased her team's lead with a spectacular basket well out half. Bluedots only points of the half came when Betty Rogers made good on two penalty throws. The score of the half was Abbie Sisters 7, Bluedots 2.

Another smart field goal by McGee plus two penalty shots by Grant and Rattenbury gave the winners an 11-2 lead early in the third quarter with the losers, threatening an uprising coming through with two quick goals a minute later by B. Rogers and G. Rogers to make the count 11-6 as the quarter ended. The Bluedots' field goals were the final ones of the game. Abbie Sisters getting the only points of the fourth quarter on penalty throws by Grant and Rattenbury.

McLarnin In New York, Fit And Confident

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, April 15—Jimmy McLarnin, looking very fit, came to town today and cheered his followers with the flat statement they'd better not sell him short against Tony Canzoneri.

The former Vancouver king of the welters, out of the ring since he dropped his title to Chicago Barney Ross at the Polo Grounds last May, weighs just 147 pounds, only three more than he intends to scale in his 10-rounder with the lightweight king in Madison Square Garden May 8.

Frisch's Homer Gives Cards 3-2 Victory Over Chicubs; Giants Win Second Straight

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, April 15—Leroy Parmelee and Frankie Frisch, of the Cardinals today combined their efforts to win a 3-2 decision from the Chicago Cubs at the season-opening series.

Parmelee got the best of a pitching duel with Bill Lee, while the Cardinal manager delivered a home run for the winning margin.

Terry Moore, Cardinal outfielder, figured in both St. Louis scoring attacks. After the Cubs had a 2-1 run lead, Parmelee doubled to right and was driven across by Moore who sent a hot single through the box in the third inning.

Bees Trounce Phillies

Boston Bees in a fourth inning scoring rampage sent nine runs across the plate at Philadelphia and defeated the Phillies 12-4.

Tony Cuccinello led the winners' 16 hit attack with two singles and a double, while Walter Berger hit his first home run of the season in the ninth inning with Jordan on base.

Jehny Moore of the Phillies also hit a home run in the fifth inning. Singles by Forrest Jensen and Paul Waner in the ninth inning, combined with an error by Ival Gooden, Reds' right fielder, gave Pittsburgh three runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Giants Again Win

Youthful Harry Gumbert pitched four-hit ball against Brooklyn in New York to give the Giants their second straight victory over the Dodgers 5-3.

The game was halted in the second inning when Dick Bartell and Van Lingle Mungo took time out to trade punches. Bartell tripped, crasing first base and immediately swung on Mungo. The fight was broken up by players and both Mungo and Bartell were ordered from the game.

Giants scored all five of their runs in the first four innings. Gus Mavuso homered in the fourth with one on for Giants and Oscar Eskhardt hit a homer for Dodgers in the sixth.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, April 15—Paced by Hal Trosky and Bruce Campbell, the Indians squared the series with the Tigers at Cleveland today, scoring eight runs in a wild third inning, knocking the Tigers' World Series hero Tommy Bridges from the box and coasting away to a 14-7 victory.

International Teams Open Season Today

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, April 15—A fairly evenly-balanced array of eight baseball teams will swing into action tomorrow, weather permitting, in the opening of the International League's 53rd season.

The inaugural schedule places games at Albany, Newark, Syracuse and Baltimore with prospects for an aggregate attendance of 39,000 fans. The biggest single crowd of 13,000 was expected at Newark but the weatherman forecast occasional showers there.

Pairings for the opening games are: Montreal Royals, 1935 pennant winners, against Albany Senators; Toronto Maple Leafs against Newark Bears; Rochester Red Wings against Syracuse Chiefs, winners of the Governor's Cup playoffs, and Buffalo Bisons against Baltimore Orioles.

Although the rosters of many of the teams have been aided by major league clubs, a number of replacements have tended to equalize playing strength. League officials, from President Charles H. Knapp down, forecast just such another thrilling fight as marked the close of the 1935 pennant season.

Last year Montreal Royals earned their first championship in 37 years a week before the season closed. Syracuse Chiefs spambled into second place on the final day by half a game over Buffalo Bisons and then went on to defeat the Royals in the seventh game of their final series for the governor's trophy.

The Royals' chance of repeating in tenth pennant fight depend greatly on Manager Frank Shaughnessy's ability to build a new "big three" pitching staff. The 1935 trio comprised Pete Appleton, Chad Kimey, and Harry Smythe. Appleton and Kimey were taken in major league raids.

He's counting on Leon Chagnon, a former big leaguer, and Clair Forster, an Ottawa graduate from the St. Lawrence Valley League, to fill the hole. Chagnon performed so creditably in spring training that he is slated to start tomorrow against the Senators, whose mound choice is Alton Benton.

Leroy Herrmann, released by Cincinnati Reds to Toronto, and Marvin Duke, Newark Bears' left-hander who won nine and lost 11 last year, will be the opening rally pitchers in Newark.

The Leafs' hopes have been raised by a number of acquisitions from the Reds.

C.A.H.A. Adopt Economy Program

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, April 15—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association adopted a sweeping economy program at the final session of its annual convention yesterday after finance committee chairman Claude C. Robinson declared: "Without effecting these economies, we won't be able to carry on another year."

Robinson reported a balance of approximately $15,000 in the treasury and an operating loss of about $7,000 during the year. Allan and Memorial Cup finals this year, he said, were conducted at an approximate loss of $15,000 each.

A few years ago these Canadian championship series provided the C.A.H.A. with its chief revenue. Only about 8,000 persons paid to watch the two games in the junior series this spring in Toronto and Toronto. The senior finals at Winnipeg attracted even smaller crowds.

Ottawa district senior and junior playoffs, remarked Cecil Duncan, newly-elected president of the C.A.H.A., were staged at a loss to the C.A.H.A. of about $3,200.

The economy program reads like this: All grants to branches are suspended for one year.

Honorariums to officers are reduced $400 to $1,000.

Expenses of C.A.H.A. life members will not be paid to future annual meetings.

The C.A.H.A. will take from branches the authority to arrange all Allan and Memorial Cup play-downs games, and will stage these games with a view to obtaining best possible gate receipts.

Team expenses are reduced. Players will be allowed expenses of $4 a day while travelling instead of $6, and $5 a day while living in hotels instead of $8.

Referees and delegates to annual meetings will be allowed expenses of $4 a day while travelling instead of $6, and $5 a day while living in hotels instead of $9.

Release Of Correspondence However Fails To Shed Much Light On Olympic Squabble

(Canadian Press, By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, April 15.—The two-sided story of the dismissal of four Halifax players from the Canadian Olympic hockey team in January, shortly before the team sailed for Germany, was made public today. At its four-day convention which ended yesterday, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association heard nothing about the matter.

Only E. A. Gilroy, President of the C. A. H. A. during the Olympic Games period, released telegrams exchanged with Halifax hockey authorities regarding the four players, Ernie Mosher, Vince Ferguson, Daddy Bubar and Chummy Lawlor. Then James Wry, President of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association, released affidavits sworn to by the players.

Gilroy's telegrams showed he was anxious to have Nova Scotia take care of the players' families while they were abroad, while setting out that the C. A. H. A. could not undertake this. The affidavits said the players did not demand money from the C. A. H. A.

Urges Formation Of New Canadian Sport Body

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, April 15.—Formation of a new Canadian body to control football, lacrosse and hockey is suggested by M. E. P. Kelley of Toronto, president of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Union. Mr. Kelley's statement came as comment on the change in the amateur rules, made at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"I would like to see an organization formed of the three principal group sports of the country," he said. "We would call it the Athletic Association of Canada, strike out the word amateur altogether and run our own show."

He suggested associate memberships, baseball, softball and basketball. The ties with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada would be severed and that body would be left in control of track and field sports, he added.

"This wire confidential. As per our understanding that Olympic Committee will not provide for families of players while they were at Olympics, are not city of Halifax and Province of Nova Scotia looking after families of Halifax players?" Rush replied.

Gilroy again wired Wry Jan. 1. The telegram: "Situation one that hockey reputation of Dominion of Canada is affected. As executive member of the C. A. H. A. it is your duty to reply to my wire of Dec. 28."

Wry sent the following answer Jan. 2: "When decided that Wolves were not to go as team all arrangements fell through. Have been trying to get information re arrangements made before players left. To date unable to get anything concrete. Wire particulars of present situation."

The same day Gilroy replied: "Maritime players demanding three months salary. Demand cannot and will not be granted by committee. If their threat is carried out it will be necessary to replace them. Naturally reason for doing so will have to be made public. Their action would cast unfavorable reflection on Halifax and Maritimes."

Four days later Wry sent this wire to Gilroy: "Halifax and local government interested. Expect decision hourly. Will advise."

When no further word was received from Wry the C. A. H. A. executive met in Toronto on the night of Jan. 6 and the players were dropped from the team.

Wry, who withdrew a resolution at yesterday's C. A. H. A. meeting censuring Gilroy, released affidavits of the players when he learned texts of the telegrams had been made public.

"Mr. Gilroy told me yesterday after the meeting that it would be a good idea to forget everything and wipe the slate clean," Wry said. "Now he gives the telegrams to the papers. In fairness to the players, their side of the story should be told as well. After these see the light of day, I am through with the entire proposition."

Mosher's Affidavit

Mosher's affidavit was the only lengthy one, the other three swearing to its correctness. All four said, however, that the question of caring for the players' families was brought up by Malcolm Cochrane, manager of the Olympic team, and Gilroy.

Mosher quoted Cochrane as saying before the team left Port Arthur for Toronto: "Ernie, everything is OK. Mr. Gilroy has put everything in my hands and I am to make my own arrangements."

On the train enroute to Toronto, the players conferred with Gilroy. "There were five of us there, including Gilroy," the affidavit related. "He asked if any preparation had been made for our families at all. We said no. He said Port Arthur is looking after the Port Arthur Bears and Montreal is looking after their boys and it is no more than right that Nova Scotia should look after you fellows."

"He said what about this $1,000 grant from the government of Nova Scotia. I told him that I had been in to see the Premier, once by myself and on the second occasion with R. H. Murray, Judge of the County Court, and the Premier informed us that he could, under no condition, give the money to individual

Denies Seeking Aid

Mosher replied with this statement: "I further say that at no time did I ever mention the matter of remuneration or family expenses to anybody connected with the Olympic hockey team or Canadian governing sport bodies. Where the matter was introduced it always emanated from one of the officials in charge of the team."

Ferguson said he told Gilroy that if no provision was made for his family he could not make the trip. Bubar and Lawlor said they never had suggested or demanded that the C. A. H. A. care for their families.
