EMERALD

The sympathy of the entire community will be extended to Mr. Patrick Lambe and Herman in the death of Mrs. Lambe, which occurred at Springfield on Wednesday, June 28th.

Miss Helen Lawless, St. John, is spending a pleasant two-weeks vacation on the Island, visiting her numerous relatives and friends. She leaves on Saturday morning on return to her home.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Trainor, Emerald, on the arrival on June 27th of a baby girl.

Emmett Allen and Clarence MacDonald from Emerald School, wrote the matriculation examinations to F. W. C. in Summerside.

At the closing exercises of the school here on Friday afternoon, Grade VIII certificates will be awarded to the following students: Carlyle Trainor, Gerard Allen, Pauline Mahar, Lloyd McCourt and Betty Jones.

The girls' softball team of Emerald met the Freetown team at Freetown on Wednesday night and defeated them by a score of 25-9. These were four home runs, all by the Emerald girls, Winnie White, Dora Jones, Mary Mulligan and Thelma Jones. The umpire was Fenton Mayne; base judge Jack Deigan. The line-up was as follows: Emerald—Glady Crocken, Thelma Jones, Margaret McQuaid, Mary Mulligan, Dora Jones, Winnie White, Kathleen White, Betty Jones and Tena White. Freetown—Hilda Deacon, Olga Taylor, Ruby Jardine, Georganie Jardine, Stella Hargrave, Margaret Handranch, Helen Lewis, Mrs. Robert Jardine and Dorothy Merle.

On Monday evening, June 26th, a large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald K. MacGregor of Summerside gathered at their home to tender them farewell before their impending departure for Lot 16, where they will go in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor, during their sojourn in our community, have endeavored to do all by their kind hospitality and splendid co-operation with all the different organizations in the district, and especially the United Church at Summerside and the Springfield Women's Institute. Mr. Ernest Haslam capably performed the duties of chairman for the evening and called upon Mr. Allison Mayne, who read an address expressing the sentiments of all present, and Miss Janet Sinclair who thanked the donors on behalf of Mrs. MacGregor and himself, and all joined in the singing of "The Way of the Cross" and "The Lord's Prayer". Mr. Haslam then called on Mr. D. N. McKay, Mr. George Mayne, Mr. Linus MacDonald, Mr. Fred Ford and Mrs. Everett Haslam, all of whom uttered expressions of regret at the departure from among us of these very good neighbors who spared no effort to do all in their power to help and who truly earned the name of good citizens. During the evening a musical program was enjoyed by the ladies. —R.

DEATH TOLL SOARS IN U.S.

Weekend Holiday Fatalities Placed At 273.

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP)—Violent death overtook 273 persons in the United States in the past three-fourths of the long fourth of July "weekend" up to tonight, with the big day still to come.

With excellent weather prevailing throughout most of the country, motoring mishaps took their customary toll—146 in 39 states. Drownings were second with 77.

Railroad accidents killed 12, as did shootings. Airplane crashes accounted for three, while miscellaneous forms of violence totalled 23.

Connecticut reported no holiday deaths, while the greater New York area had the total of 15. Ohio recorded 15 traffic deaths.

Six negroes died in Texas in one accident involving three automobiles and a truck.

Push Plan To Industrialize New Zealand

(By J. C. GRAHAM Canadian Press Correspondent)

WELLINGTON, July 3.—(AP)—A vigorous campaign to industrialize this country is being waged by the New Zealand Government, and especially by a handicapped group of workers, and this in turn is creating a demand for restricted immigration.

New Zealand has hitherto been a primary producing country. The Government thinks addition of secondary industries will make the country more independent of outside economic conditions and the more self-sufficient in war-time.

Stringent export restrictions, recently imposed owing to rapid fall in the country's overseas funds, have made the establishment of industries even more urgent, so goods which may no longer be imported can be manufactured locally.

To overcome the skilled labor shortage for the new industries, and for existing ones which are being expanded, the Government has resumed assisted immigration which was suspended for a decade. The plan is to confine immigration strictly to workers for whom a definite demand exists.

Several hundred workers in building trades and Government railway workshops have already been recruited in England. Most have been engaged in England. Most contracts for a year or more before leaving. They are being assisted with their fares, and their pay back by instalment after beginning work.

The measures so far taken are strictly on an emergency basis to meet urgent needs, but they are the foundation of a system which will

Youth Congress Opens Session At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, July 3.—(CP)—The Canadian Youth Congress in session here tonight began consideration of resolutions dealing with matters ranging from marriage grants for young farmers to wider distribution of tariff benefits passed in sessions during the past few days.

All resolutions passed at commission meetings must go before plenary sessions of the entire congress for decision and it is expected official attitude of the organization on these questions will be announced before tomorrow night.

First resolution approved by the plenary session requests that any religious or racial group which wishes to have its resolutions on "proportionate share" of provincial education laws with which to establish its own schools, provided the schools meet government requirements should be allowed to do so.

Other recommendations made by the commissions which have yet to be dealt with by the board include provision for marriage grants for young farmers by the Dominion Government and compulsory medical examination of married couples proposing to be married.

Another recommendation of the Canadian Wheat Board and cents a bushel, Fort William. Eastern delegates succeeded in adding an amendment providing that the board set up a commission to investigate the entire agriculture industry with a view to greater diversification of farming.

Resolutions were also passed asking that part of the tariff benefit which its sponsors claimed was received by Eastern Canadian industry.

Lord Mount Temple Dies In London

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, July 3.—Lord Mount Temple, who as Wilfrid Mount Ashley was minister of transport in Stanley Baldwin's Cabinet from 1924 to 1929, died today at the age of 71.

He was one of the foremost promoters in Great Britain until last November when he resigned the presidency of the Anglo-German Fellowship, a goodwill organization, at the time the anti-Jewish campaign in the Reich was most severe.

He visited Chancellor Hitler on several occasions.

By his first wife, a daughter of Sir Ernest Cassel, Lord Mount Temple had two daughters, one of whom married Lord Louis Mountbatten, great-grandson of Queen Victoria, and the other Captain A. S. Cunningham-Reid, member of parliament.

Need For Reform Mr. Herridge Claims

REGINA, July 3.—Need for unity of "progressive" political groups to defeat the "old line" parties in the next federal election was urged today by delegates attending opening sessions of the New Democracy movement's Saskatchewan conference, first provincial convention of its kind.

Hon. W. D. Herridge of Ottawa, former Canadian Minister to Washington and sponsor of the New Democracy, told the 115 delegates their "job here is to urge the wisdom of unity upon all the people of Saskatchewan."

"I have satisfied myself by moving about the Dominion that irrespective of place the people have realized that the conditions under which we live now are unnecessary, that reforms can achieve the improvement in living conditions which we need; and that the old line parties must be removed in favor of those who will serve the people," Mr. Herridge said.

That Body of Yours

YOUR BODY CAN DO A GREAT AMOUNT OF WORK WITHOUT MUCH FOOD

Like other boys, I was interested in stories of adventure—South Sea Islands, shipwreck, being lost in the jungle. As I grew older, I still liked the stories but couldn't understand how these adventures were able to keep going with little or no food. While I knew that the human body was capable of doing a great amount of work under stress of circumstances, I also knew that it must have plenty of food to supply that energy. It would appear that now my doubts about my adventures' ability to work with little or no food can at last be swept away, and by an outstanding nutrition authority, Dr. I. M. Rabinowitz, McGill University, Montreal.

In the Journal of Nutrition (Philadelphia), Dr. Rabinowitz reports his study of the effect of a very low diet on 500 diabetics, since these persons must live on diets considerably lower than their usual habits. He found that bodily balance or equilibrium may be maintained with diets the caloric value of which is only one-third that of the generally accepted standards. With these low or reduced diets, the average loss of weight was much less than was expected. This would prove that the amount of food necessary to supply energy for work was very small.

Since these diets resulted in an improvement in health (in diabetes), it is necessary to assume that the human body has an "unrecognized source of energy." Since the average diet contains sufficient energy (2500 calories) to do about three million foot-pounds of work, besides what is used up by the body processes (heart, lungs, digestion), the human machine appears to be very inefficient under ordinary conditions. That the human body is not inefficient however is proven by the fact that when it is underfed, it can still do work because it has available (as mentioned above) some unrecognized source of energy.

It is known that sugar—its energy—is stored in liver, muscles, and skin, but even beyond that there appears to be some further source of energy. It is this supply which we can use when our food intake becomes low.

This, then, explains why my adventures were capable of being made despite hard labor and a small amount of food.

Pioneers And Vitas Play Six - all Tie

A very tight scheduled game between the Vitamannas and Pioneers at Summerside last evening ended in a 6-6 draw. Each team had six runs, each had five earned runs, each had five hits, and the errors were 4-3 against the Pioneers.

Gill Williams did a good job on the Pioneer mound striking out only five hits. These strikeouts saved the game for the Pioneers as the Vitas had five of their runners stranded on the sacks.

Herman Durant on the Vitamanna mound was making his initial start of the season. He bared down well in the first couple of frames and left three Pioneers on the sacks. Val LeBlanc turned in a nice game for the Vitas, handling six chances without a slip-up and getting a double in his only frame and left three Pioneers on the sacks. ### Negotiations Await Report

OTTAWA, July 3.—(CP)—Negotiations for a renewal of Canada's trade agreement with the West Indies, which expires this month, will not likely begin until late summer or early autumn, it has been learned.

Because sugar constitutes about three-fourths of Canada's purchases from the West Indies, negotiations cannot well begin until the Tariff Board has reported on its study of the sugar situation. The board held a one-day hearing here early in June on the sugar reference and has additional evidence to take in Alberta, after which it will begin work on its report.

Meanwhile, detailed departmental data necessary to a conference with the West Indies is under preparation here.

Sees Freedom Of The Press Menaced

MONTREAL, July 3.—(CP)—Government censoring of the press is "creeping in everywhere," Sir Hildebrand Harmsworth, managing director of the continental Daily Mail which is published in Paris, told reporters here today.

"You in Canada may have the freest press in the world," he said. "But elsewhere—where there are hundreds of years in the House of Commons at home to limit the freedom of the press."

Yearly Visit To Dominion Is Suggested

LONDON, July 3.—(CP)—A permanent Canadian residence for the King and Queen, to which they could pay a yearly visit, was suggested here by an American.
