Plans Completed For Winter Work Campaign

The Local Employment Advisory Committee of the Charlottetown National Employment Office, met last night to complete plans for the Winter Employment Campaign which will begin shortly. A newspaper publicity campaign has already been approved by the Head Office of the Commission at Ottawa, and this will be supplemented by advertising by Charlottetown business establishments. The Federal government will also make full use of local TV and radio facilities, and this program will cover a period extending into the month of March.

Expenditures by the Federal government will also be supplemented locally by the liberal use of T. V. and radio time.

Last night the Advisory Committee discussed the organization of TV panel discussion, and it is expected that various public men representing the Board of Trade, labour organizations and business establishments, will appear on the various panels. It has also been arranged that the premier Hon. A. W. Matheson, Mr. W. R. Shaw and His Worship David Stewart, will appear on one of the telecasts in support of the effort, to increase winter employment throughout the Province.

GAINING GROUND

It was pointed out by various speakers that the idea of winter employment is gaining ground all across Canada. Construction work is being undertaken during the winter months in contrast to the general shut-down of such work only a few years ago. As proof of the progress being made in awakening the public's possi-

St. Paul's Church Crowded For Week Of Prayer Service

A congregation that crowded St. Paul's church to the doors made reverent observance last evening in the third service of the Universal Week of Prayer. In welcoming the ministers and people there, Canon T. J. Ibbott, rector of St. Paul's, pointed out what an essential unity in the Church of Christ is made evident by such a service of witness.

The service was conducted by the Rector assisted by Rev. A. Frank MacLean and Senior Captain John Carter who read the lessons and by Rev. T.H.B. Somers who offered the intercessions.

Rev. Allan Gibson preaching the third sermon in the series of five on prayer, dealt with the subject "Why God does not answer prayer", illustrating his sermon most vividly from the experience of Elijah and Jonah.

The special offering of the evening was dedicated to the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society. The music was led by the chancel choir under the direction of Mr. John Harris.

The service on Thursday night will be held in Trinity United Church at which Rev. Mr. Gibson will speak on the theme "When God does answer prayer."

George Kitson Re-elected To Head Herford Breeders' Ass'n

George Kitson, M.L.A. was re-elected president of the Prince Edward Island Hereford Breeders' Association at the annual meeting held recently in the board room of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Other officers named, all of them re-elected, include: Hammond Sanderson, West Royalty as Treasurer and Norris Kitson, North River as secretary.

Satisfaction with the breed sire imported from England last year was expressed by several members of the Ass'n. Discussion led to a motion that a second bull would be sought and imported from the Old Country. Many felt that the importation of these bulls would do much to increase the size of animals in the herds.

It was decided that the Association would pursue a policy of promotion through 4-H Clubs in the Province and the directors were given authority to increase grants to boys' and girls' calf clubs.

Hillary And Fuchs Patch Up Differences In Antarctic

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — A storm of words abated Wednesday as both sections of the combined Commonwealth Antarctic expedition patched up differences.

Sir Edmund Hillary, leader of the New Zealand team, promised to "assist with all our resources" a bid by the British team led by Dr. Vivian Fuchs to complete the first overland crossing of the Antarctic.

Hillary promised to get more fuel to the supply cache at Depot 700, and Fuchs radioed he would appreciate the move but didn't want risks taken.

Early this week, Hillary, whose task is to assist Fuchs, told the British team they should not attempt to complete the 2,100-mile snow-vehicle trek with the dangerous Antarctic winter approaching. Fuchs replied he was going ahead with the original plans—if necessary, without the help of the conqueror of Mount Everest.

Hillary's stand drew support here and icy comment in Britain. Fuchs, weeks behind schedule in his advance from Shackleton base on the South American side of the continent, reported his position at 260 miles from the Pole—30 miles' progress through "wind raising much drift" since Tuesday.

READY TO GO

Hillary, now at Scott base on the opposite side of the continent, said he is ready to return to Depot 700—some 700 miles inland and a 500-mile trip from the Pole—to increase fuel supplies.

The New Zealanders had been scheduled to link up with Fuchs at Depot 700 before Christmas. But Hillary unexpectedly made a dash to the Pole from the depot and was flown back to Scott base Monday.

Finced $25 In Game Birds Case

Previously remanded, the case of a French River father and son charged with unlawfully keeping live game birds within one quarter of a mile of an area where water fowl hunting was taking place, was concluded in Queens County Magistrate's Court yesterday.

After hearing argument of both counsel, Magistrate Gilbert Gaudet dismissed the charge against the father. The son was convicted as charged and a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs or twenty days in jail was imposed.
