

Name: Trent Drake
Age: 14 y
Height: 6' 11 m lbs
Weight: 11 m lbs
Faculty: Through Around Position: writes "Turkey Dinner" and draw these cards.

A convenient and mysterious mixture of Disney cartoons and Stephen King novels were responsible for creating the tormented, bestial psyche of this intellectual addict. As therapy, he watches horrible movies and then satistically recommends them to his unsuspecting readers. Ominous, isn't it?

The founder, president and sole member of the Official Trent Drake Fan Club is Chris McCarron! There's just no accounting for taste, is there?

series two

statistics

Name: Sean McQuaid
Age: 20
Height: of Absurdity
Weight: Variable
Faculty: Arts
Position: Editor and Comic Reviewer

Sean's first ambition was to become a superheroic crime-fighter. Unfortunately, his mutant humming ability was poorly suited for beating up criminals and only made his coworkers irate. Bitter and disillusioned, he became the X-Press cartoonist in 1990. This year he became our editor. Thus, weird justice has been served. Cool, huh?

While Sean's power fails to impress the criminal elements, his costume has been known to cause paralytic fits of laughter.

series two

statistics

Name: Chris McCarron
Age: 23
Height: 5' 10 3/4"
Weight: 11 m lbs + 1 Dark
Faculty: Arts
Position: Staff Photographer

Chris is the joker in the X-Press deck. His mutant power enables him to generate bright bursts of light, making him a living camera. He activates his power by hitting himself on the head. Hard. Many here at the X-Press believe he has used his power once too often...

Chris is prone to bursts of maniacal laughter which freak out any normal humans in the vicinity.

series two

statistics

Name: Danielle Christensen
Age: younger
Height: taller
Weight: less
Faculty: Arts
Position: Freelance and Fancy Free

Good writers don't die... they just leave the business. That's what Danielle did. She was one of the best writers, and now she's (in FF) gone to write for (another) CIMN. She still occasionally writes for us, but we miss her terribly. Please come back! It's just not the same without you... (sob)

Danielle looked so cool in her old X-Press costume that we just had to do this card!

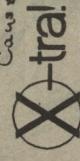

series two

statistics

Name: Dead line
Age: Ancient evil
Height: of Pain
Weight: on our shoulders
Faculty: Torture
Position: Millstone around our necks

Our worst enemy, or greatest incentive (after pizza) to finish production on time each week. We work and slave for days to get the paper out just so we won't have to listen to his maniacal barrage of ego-shattering insults. Why don't we just shoot him, guys?

Because he doesn't really exist, you idiot!

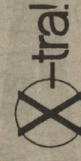

series two

statistics

Name: Domino's
Age: 20 minutes (and still hot!) Height: 1 inch high by 12" across Weight: 2 lbs
Faculty: Culinary Arts
Position: Snack Food and Inspiration

We came, we saw, we consumed. Every week we begin our meeting by decimating two Domino's Meat Lovers. Our favorite part of the meeting is watching to see who grabs the first piece. Then we are reduced to ravenous barbarians. C'mon guys... even wolves have manners!

It also comes with two 760 ml Cokes. Putting out a paper is thirsty work!

series two

statistics