the equivalent of 1,728,493 assignments in one year.

Nevertheless, he represented MIT at the Nation Contest for Best Teacher, but was beaten by a quadruple professor from Princeton U. Upon his return to MIT, he found the institution had been shut down because of the lack of eligible students. He rejoiced in the fact that the great brain robbery was utterly defeated at MIT.

The moral is: Dr. Prunesquallor is worse than a creep!
