A BUSINESS PARABLE.

One Cannot Fail to Appreciate the Point in This Story.

Once a farmer had 1,800 bushels of wheat, which he sold not to a single merchant, but to 1,800 different persons in cash, but for the greater part he would pay later. A few months later the man's bank account ran short, and he said, "How is this?" "My 1,800 bushels of grain should have kept you in affluence until another crop is ready, but I have parted with the grain and have instead only a vast number of accounts, so small and scattered that I cannot get around and collect fast enough to pay expenses."

So he posted up a public notice and asked all those who owed him to pay immediately. But few came. The rest said, "This is only a small matter, and I will go and pay one of these days," forgetting that though each account was very small, when all were put together they meant a large sum to the man. Things went on thus. The man got to feeling so badly that he fell out of bed and awoke, and running to his granary found his 1,800 bushels of wheat still there. He had only been dreaming. Moral.—The next day the man went to the publisher of his paper and said: "Here, sir, is the pay for your paper, and when next year's subscription is due you can depend on me to pay it promptly. I stood in the position of an alibi last night, and I know how it feels to have one's honestly earned money scattered all over the country in small amounts."—Union Signal.

His Alibi.

Once upon a time the late Sir Frank Lockwood, while attending a police court, noticed that the magistrates were performing their duties in a very expeditious manner, and he commented on the fact to a superintendent of police. "Is," answered the superintendent, "was pompous and none too well educated, 'their worships always dispense with justice very fast.' Some years ago he got a prisoner off by proving an alibi. Some time afterward the judge met him and said, 'Well, Lockwood, that was a very good alibi.' 'Yes, my lord,' was the answer. 'I had three offered me, and I think I selected the best.'

A woman's headaches may come from several causes. She may have a headache arising from nervousness, or from digestive disturbances. Nine cases in ten, her headaches come from disorders peculiar to women. It may show itself in the symptoms which are characteristic of a dozen disorders. Thousands of times, women have been treated for the wrong disorders. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was recommended for the sole purpose of relieving womankind of these ills and pains. Thousands of women have testified that after taking treatment from several physicians without benefit, the "Favorite Prescription" cured them completely and quickly. It has been used for over thirty years, and has an unbroken record of success.

The woman who hesitates is invited to send 31 one-cent stamps to cover only the cost of mailing a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which contains plain, clear information about all the organs of the human body and their diseases.

READY-TO-WEAR

CLOTHING

When we speak of ready to wear clothing we do not mean clothing that has been cut without any regard to style, and put together at random, but clothing that has been cut by artists, from the latest fashion plates, and made up with the greatest care.

In fact tailor made garments ready to go on your back. We have the largest, newest and greatest stock of ready to wear clothing on P E Island,

Hundreds of Suits for Men. Hundreds of suits for Boys.
Hundreds of Suits for Children.

All these we have marked at the lowest cash figure. We are satisfied with the small profits, but we must have the quick sales. Inspect our stock and prices.

Everts and Mark Twain.

At a New England society dinner some years ago Mark Twain had just finished a piquant address when Mr. Everts arose, shoved both of his hands down into his trousers pockets, as was his habit, and laughingly remarked, "Doesn't it strike this company as a little unusual that a professional humorist should be funny?" Mark Twain waited until the laughter excited by this sally had subsided, and then drawled out, "Doesn't it strike this company as a little unusual that a lawyer should have his hands in his own pockets?"—Exchange.

"How is it that you never speak to Davidson now?" asked Simpkins of our friend Jolliboy as the pair were enjoying a constitutional in the park. "You used to be such close chums, and now you pass each other without the slightest recognition."
"Ah, that was when we were bachelors," was the answer, "but he's married now."
"But surely you wouldn't cut a man because he is married?"
"No, I didn't cut him; he cut me."
"But, why?"
"Well, when he married, I made him a wedding present of a book, and he hasn't spoken to me since."

H'S IN SHORTHAND.

Many Trials of an Englishman With His Stenographer.

An Englishman who drops his h's and aspirates his a's and a stenographer and typewriter who spells phonetically from dictation make a combination from which trouble is sure to result unless the "copy" is carefully revised. The manager of one of the most important manufacturing plants in Cleveland is an Englishman. Not long ago he employed a young man to act as his stenographer, and one of the first things that the latter was called upon to do was the "taking down" of a letter to the manager's wife, who was away at a summer resort. Being a busy man, the manager didn't take the trouble to look at the letter after it had been typewritten, but when his wife answered it there was a hot time for the stenographer. "My dear Henry," she wrote, "what on earth do you mean by calling me 'Hannah' and our little Horace 'Orris'?" I will admit that this sounds like you, but why do you make a joke of it before your employees?"

Of course the fond husband and father didn't know what it all meant, and so he wrote for an explanation, when his first letter was sent back to him.

One glance at it and he rushed over to his stenographer, excitedly threw the sheet down before him and demanded, "There, what do you mean, sir, by writing my wife's name down 'Annah'?"

"Anna?" replied the young man. "Let me see. No, I've got it Hannah, all right."

"But," said the manager, who was furious, "it's not 'Annah'—it's Hannah!"

"Well, there it is, Hannah—H-a-n-n-a-h."

"Annah be dashed!" exclaimed the manager. "A-n-n-a, Hanna! Can't you understand English, you blanked fool?"

By this time the stenographer began to see through the trouble, so he begged off upon the plea that having had a swelling in one of his ears he had not been able to hear very well. But it cost him nearly a week's salary to square things with the other boys in the office, and he always deems it best to hide when he hears the manager's wife in the hall.—Cleveland Leader.
