

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

SEPTEMBER 8, 1894.

A FOURTH VENDOR.

It is evident that the appointment of a fourth vendor for Charlottetown is not contended or supported by public opinion. More than that, it is evident that the appointment of a fourth vendor would be contrary to the law, which says that there shall be but one vendor for every four thousand inhabitants! Surely the Government will hesitate, in view of these considerations, to make the proposed appointment. Party obligations and party pressure ought not to influence the Government more strongly than the letter of the law, public opinion and the public good. There is no necessity for a fourth vendor in Charlottetown. Everyone who really needs liquor can now obtain it legitimately and readily, on presentation of a physician's certificate to any of the three vendors.

We are not in accord with those of our correspondents who prematurely denounce the city authorities because drunkenness has not been abated under the Scott Act. Let the officers of the law have time. We have given the Act another trial; let the trial be fair and sufficiently prolonged. It is true that the reports and statements received by THE EXAMINER lead to the conclusion that there is now rather more drunkenness of a rather worse description than there was under Free Run and Liquor Regulation. But we must not hasten to condemn the Act and those who are trying to execute it. Rather let law-abiding men and women support by precept, by example, by active assistance, those who strive to enforce the law. Nothing can be more contemptible than the Scott Act voter who obtains and drinks liquor surreptitiously.

THE TOURISTS' SEASON.

The wave of summer travel has been further north than ever before. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have profited greatly. The money spent has been to the inhabitants of these Provinces as the sediment which annually enriches their alluvial lands. Trains and steamers were filled daily, hotels crowded, stores well patronized, dollars dropped plentifully—every one there was, directly or indirectly, benefited and refreshed by the great wave from the South. But only the crest and froth reached Pictou and Edward Island. Indeed, we believe that the evidence of our steamers, hotels, etc., is to the effect that it was, if anything, rather smaller this year than it was last year. How is this to be accounted for? Certainly, our skies were as bright, our landscapes as lovely, our climate as pleasant as ever—brighter, lovelier, and much more pleasant, we maintain, than those of the continental Provinces. How, then, is it that a greater number of tourists did not come here? We believe that the true answer to this question lies in these words, "insufficient hotel accommodation." We have several very good and very well-kept hotels, but none of the kind to attract large numbers of tourists seeking rest, comfort and pleasure; none of that kind recently established, with eminent success, upon the sister Island of Cape Breton.

If this be true, would it not be well, now, to begin to take steps towards the erection of a first-class summer hotel, and have it ready for guests by the 1st of July, 1895?

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

At latest advices, Mr. Laurier was in Regina. Where would Regina be if the policy, or impolicy, of his party had been followed? No where.

The Nor'Wester (independent) comments upon Mr. Laurier's speech at Winnipeg on the school question, and says: "Mr. Laurier was simply cowardly, evasive, laboring by innuendo as far as he dared, having the Catholic Province of Quebec in mind, and the Liberal local Government policy."

The long summer drought experienced by Ontario is accounted for by the destruction of all or most of the trees. The commonly-accepted theory is that the forest with its leaves, roots, mosses and other means of retaining moisture, acts as a reservoir, gathering the water and releasing it in such a way as to moderate regularly the flow and volume of the water courses. Upon this theory our farmers would be careful not to cut away plant trees, or if already cut away plant trees in such a way as to moderate regularly the flow and volume of the water courses.

Even on this continent, the water will sink into the thirsty earth, and the desert expanses, which already occupy a large portion of the earth's surface, will finally cover much larger spaces. GRAND COUNCIL OF THE C. M. B. A.

The biennial meeting of this Grand Council, in St. John this week united the 3-sect of Catholic manhood from all parts of the Dominion. From Calgary and Edmonton on the west to Prince Edward Island on the east, every branch of this grand organization was represented. The St. John Globe says that a more distinguished gathering has never been convened in that city. It contained priests, judges, lawyers, M. P.s., and M. P. P.s., doctors, merchants and representative farmers and tradesmen. The order of their work was admirable, and the intelligence and promptness with which it was despatched an object lesson to other legislative assemblies. O. K. Fraser, Esq., Brockville, Ont., presided. The procession of the 400 or 500 men, with their bands, to and from the Cathedral, where they assisted at solemn High Mass and heard a masterly sermon from Archbishop O'Brien and words of greeting from Bishop Sweeney, was admired by everybody. Then the Mayor of the city made an address of welcome at the Mechanics' Institute. The excellent and adopted show a membership of over 10,000 in Canada, and 238 branches. Amendments of the constitution were discussed in committee of the whole for three sessions, and many valuable works for the organization were done. The delegates from this Province were Rev. Father Burke, District Deputy, Rev. D. J. G. McDonald and Mr. James McEwen, who took due part in the deliberations, Father Burke serving on several important committees, besides making the nomination speech of the Grand President. The officers for the next two years are: O. K. Fraser, Grand President; Hon. Mr. Backett, of Quebec, 1st Vice, and Dr. Bourke 2nd Vice President. Messrs. Brown and McKie were re-elected Secretary and Treasurer respectively. The excellent financial condition of the C. M. B. A., was manifested by the report of the finance committee. After an all night session, the convention closed with a grand banquet on Friday morning. The delegates then went for a sail on the St. John River as guests of the local branches, and in the evening repaired to their homes by different routes. The St. John Association, the work of the Council, and the kind reception given them at St. John. The papers of the city publish extended reports of the work done by the Council and the portraits of the Executive.

A REMARKABLE GIFT.

A remarkable gift has been made to Harvard University, quite unparalleled in the world. This is the bequest of $5,000 to found a fellowship for the benefit of poor and deserving colored students, preference to be given to students of need. The remarkable fact about this gift, that it comes from a former slave—Harriet Hayden—who was formerly the property of a Kentucky slave-owner. Harriet lived as a slave until after her marriage and the birth of her child, when one night she and her husband and baby a fellow-slave escaped to Canada. The Haydens got through all right, but their children were captured and taken back to the States. The first act of the Haydens, after they had contrived to get work to do, was to send $650 to secure the release of their unfortunate comrade. Harriet Hayden's child died in the civil war, while bravely fighting under Admiral Farragut.

LITERARY NOTES.

The famous musical composers have taken a hint from their literary brethren, and are securing an advance magazine publication for their compositions just as the authors publish the novels in serial form. The Ladies' Home Journal, which was practically the first magazine to offer this outlet to composers of repaite, find all the musical men rallying to it, Sir Arthur Sullivan announcing that the new song which he has just finished will be published in that magazine. Patti's veteran conductor, Arrilti, has given his new waltz to the Journal, while Reginald de Koven's new song goes also to the same periodical. Strauss has sent his new waltz to the editor, Sousa a new march, and Mascagni, of "Cavalleria Rusticana," is writing a piano score.

NEWS NOTES.

Some mysterious disease is cutting off numbers of cows in Ontario. The Minister of Agriculture is enquiring into it.

It is believed that in the fire swept district of Minnesota and Wisconsin 1,000 persons have perished, while the property loss reaches $12,000,000.

Speaking at Liverpool a few days ago Mr. Joseph Chamberlain made the statement that the policies of the country would be confused and unsettled until the Government would accept the challenge of the Lords to appeal to the country for its verdict on their rejection of the Home Rule bill.

I remember once going to see a friend who had been taken suddenly ill, and when he lay on his back at the door he said, "I would rather see you than an angel, for an angel might not know how to make gruel." You smile! Ah, it is this, homely, every day life that tells. There are good many women that not many will ever know when they are gone, for what they leave behind them is made for themselves.—The Ladies' Home Journal.

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—Sir Charles H. Tupper received a message from Victoria, B. C., tonight stating that at a meeting of interested settlers the matter of accepting the sum of $425,000 offered by the United States government in final settlement of the claims for seizures, was fully discussed and it was unanimously decided to accept the offer. The sum mentioned is considerably less than that to which the settlers are entitled, but considering the delay which would ensue if a commission were appointed to assess the damages, per centage, or to be content with the offer, have acted wisely in reaching the decision mentioned. Two of the sealers, Messrs. Warren and Cooper, have been driven into insolvency through the piratical action of the United States cruisers, but the seignior of their estates, which include the ownership of the schooners Thornton, Grace, Dolphin, Anna Beck, and W. P. Stewart, have joined the other owners in accepting the offer. The decision of the sealers will be communicated to the United States Government forthwith.

HARVEST SONG.

Laugh out, laugh out, ye orchard lands, With all your ripened stores, Such bounteous measure nature yields; How could heart ask for more? The golden rick, the lustrous bin Of rich and ripe old grain, Bespeak the wealth which all may win In Industry's domain.

The cornfields set in grand array Of solid rank and row Are streams of wealth which set this way, And soon shall overflow.

Laugh, laugh out, ye ripened fields, With e'er increasing mirth; The joy your lustrous measure yields Shall bless the whole round earth.

LECTURE FROM MR. BAYFIELDE.

Sir,—Will you kindly through the medium of your valuable paper, allow me again to thank my friends for their support and attendance at my last farwell recital which was I regret a total failure financially. Having made arrangements with those to whom I am indebted I purpose to honor every obligation at the earliest opportunity. A longer stay in the city would be of no avail and only incur increased liabilities. The disappointments I have incurred and imposed upon my friends were chiefly due to an over estimation of the musical requirements of the city.

Again thanking you, I am Sir, Yours very obediently WILLIAM BAYFIELDE.

TO SECURE OBEDIENCE.

(From Harper's Bazar.) One great secret of good discipline is not to require too much. Recall how irksome the commandments were to ourselves when we were little. Remember what sorry little plagues we sometimes were to our elders, and be patient with these rogues of ours.

Govern by principles, not laws. Where possible, keep your hands off. Better too great freedom than too little. Give a little leopohole for disobedience. When the laughter goes to spend the afternoon with a friend, don't mention the precise minute for her to return. The constant fear lest she may be a few minutes late, it is not to meet papa with hands and face washed and hair brushed, or, "Remember your music lesson at 5." Then, should the little girl be a few minutes late, it is not disobedience, and punishment need not darken a sunny afternoon.

"Better not" will secure obedience without punishment, when "must not" or "shall not" is attached to a threat will often fail. Unless self-government is taught, parental discipline is imperfect.

Let the children feel that they are necessary to mamma and papa as helpers, companions and confidants.

If you have a growing boy, take his arm when you walk with him and make much of his strength. Unselfish love cannot be widely severed from obedience. When the child finally, you must be interested in all that interests your children. Never be too busy to listen to long tales of happenings at school. Try to radiate over the good times coming. Let a child's happiness consist in anticipation. A promised treat next week will keep up a prolonged excitement that will color with joy hues the ordinary humdrum life of every day.

THE FEDERAL FINANCES.

The First Deficit in Many Years.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.

Sir John Thompson and Sir Hibbert Tupper leave for Nova Scotia to-day. Sir John Thompson will not likely return before the end of the month. The account looks for the past fiscal year have been closed by the Finance Department. The revenue was exactly $36,236,752; the expenditure $37,392,375, showing a deficit of $1,155,623. This arises entirely from the customs returns, which fell off $1,750,000, due to the prevailing depression and the uncertainty regarding tariff changes. The net debt on 30th June was $246,164,926, an increase of $4,483,948, which is more than accounted for by expenditure on capital account amounting to $5,678,568, as compared with $3,881,876 in the previous year.
