

Student Council General Meeting Dissolves

Speaker Ignores the Constution -Functions Under His Own Rules

The Sunday Student Union Meeting was by far the biggest farce the Student Union has yet produced. Besides being confusing, disorganized, assinine, absurd it was just plain silly! It was a disaster.

The meeting opened with what was suppose to be a general meeting for the student population. However, there were very few students present and far from a quorum so a student council meeting was held instead. There was a quorum oddly enough, for this.

The meeting was called to order and the minutes of the last meeting were read and passed. The first order of business? was the setting up of a Bursury Committee to give to students who had not made the Dean's List because they are too involved with extra - curricular activities, a bursary of some sort. The five students on the committee are Donna McGaugh, Woozy MacDoanld, Yo Willis, Crystal Madill, and Marion White.

The council then wasted a few minutes on the moving of the S.U. officies. A raise for Clyde Bell, caretaker of the Barn, was then approved by coucil. He has been put in charge of all cleaning of the Barn, to hire and fire when necessary.

The liquor license for beer and wine has been granted to the Student Union for a probationary period of 60 days. The hours are Monday's and Tuesday's 11am to 2 pm, Thursday 11 am -

6 pm and 9 pm -12 am, and Friday or Saturday 9 pm-12am. The three floors on the left hand side of the Barn are lisensed but the stairs between the 1st and 2nd floors are not. Council spent about 40 minutes discussing this. Why is anyone's guess!

The big winner of the evening was the Recommendations of the Personall Board for the Personnell Board for next year. Sound confusing? It was very confusing.

There was a big discussion on whether or not nominations from the floor were to be accepted. There was a vote taken on this and it was agreed that nominations should be taken from the floor. Council, then, moved upstairs to room 209 and 2 minutes were spent on questioning the quorum. The constitution was produced and it was discovered that council's ruling was out of order. At no time is council allowed to take personell board recommendations into their own hands, which in effect means that there can be no nominations from the floor. Mr. Mills, the speaker, then said that because the constitution was contradictory that council could not follow it. Jo Ings challenged the chair and Mr. Mills ignored the challenge. A secret ballot was taken on the Personell Board and 5 were elected from the nominations from the floor and those of the Personnell Board Board and the 5 which were elected were from those recommended by the Personnell Board. There was a vote to table the six names which was defeated.

Two councillors left there was no quorum and the meeting dissolved. There are a few suggestions which are in order for the next meeting. The first, and formost is that our speaker read up on procedures. Motions are not necessary for every little thing Secondly that he realize that the question is "all those in favor" or "all those against", and that Mr. Mills remain impartial to all issues.

Those who were fortunate enough to stay to the end, heard the President and Treasur's Reports.
