

The Daily Examiner

SEPTEMBER 17, 1884.

Editorial Notes.

The attention of the Minister of Finance is directed to the suggestion of our King's County correspondent. Branches of the Dominion Savings Bank might well, we think, be established at both Souris and Montague Bridge.

Gradually, but surely, our fish are working their way in the estimation of the people of the Upper Provinces; and we have no doubt that we shall find in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, a remunerative market for all the fresh fish we have to sell. P. E. Island fresh oysters are now purchased and prized not only at Quebec and Montreal, but also at Ottawa.

The Rev. Gavin Lang has gone to the Rocky Mountains in the interest of a party of highland Scotch farmers who will, we are told, be guided by the report which the reverend gentleman brings home with him. Mr. Lang, to facilitate matters, has communicated with the Dominion Government and also with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Advices from Paris, state that the Chinese have adopted a high tone in their answer to the French ultimatum. They say that China has respected the terms of the second article of the Treaty, and that France should respect the terms of the third article. They say also, that the forcible taking of a guarantee and indemnity, contrary to the treaty, compels China to give the treaty powers a history of the Tonquin question, together with the protest of China; and they request the French ambassador to come to Tientsin to arrange for a definitive treaty, to strengthen the friendly relations between the two nations.

The Toronto Mail says: "The result which has been reached (in Halton) has been justly attributed to the women and the parsons; but, be that as it may, after a free and full discussion, in which some very able advocates on both sides have taken part, a majority of the hard-headed yeomanry of the county have recorded their votes in opposition to the repeal of the bye-law by which the Sect Act is in force. Whatever we may think of this decision, the fact cannot be gainsaid. And the unquestionable intelligence, and thoroughly representative character of the people of Halton, lend to this action of theirs additional significance. After ample trial of the working of the act, they have deliberately decided, by a considerable majority, that it shall continue in force."

Professor Bomy Price puts the English Reform Bill question in this way:—

"Mr. Gladstone brings forward a Reform bill—a thing needed; no one disputes that; the Lords have never denied it. But a Reform Bill is composed of two halves—(1) an increase of the franchise and (2) a redistribution of seats. He summons the Lords to consider the bill one-half at a time. He wants first to win two millions of electors, and therewith to re-distribute the members in such a way as to work a revolution. The Lords have simply said, we must have the whole Reform Bill before us; it must be judged and examined as a whole. That is all, and for this they are fiercely assailed with cries for their extinction. I do not accuse Mr. Gladstone of any distinct plot to overthrow his country; but he wants to retain power. He avails himself of any force which presents itself. Years ago I explained the most remarkable feature of his mind. He sees all sides of a question, but only one at a time. He begins with No. 1, sees the three elements in it, surrenders himself to them, and so acts. Presently he has got upon side No. 2; he sees what good there is in it, forgets all about No. 1, and acts on a new line. And so on. He just humbugs himself and then tries to persuade others. Hence he is never to be relied on for statesmanship. Impulse is the force he obeys."

Our Advertisers.

A. McNeill announces that he will sell the life boat, of the wrecked steamer Tunstall, on the 23rd. He also calls for tenders for the exclusive privilege of catering at the Provincial exhibition, to be held next month.

Wm. Dodd sells a valuable building lot, situate on the corner of Upper Queen and Bayfield streets, on 20th inst.; also pasture lots on 1st October next.

S. W. Crabbe announces that a public dinner in honor of the Quebec team will be held at the Rankin House to-morrow evening.

McEachren & Denison, New York, publish their card as Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law.

The protests and example of the foreign ministers and envoys are said to be shaming Moorish slave-owners into treating their slaves better than has been usual. The last act of Sir John Hay has been leaving on furlough was to start a subscription for a negro who had complained to him. Her feet had been burned off by quicklime, at which she had been set to work. The appeals to the English and French to take the victims of oppression under their protection are frequent. Yet, with all this admirable tyranny, Morocco is said to be one of the loveliest and most fertile countries in the world.

The harvesting on Dalrymple's 32,000 acre wheat farm in Dakota—the largest wheat farm in the world—has been completed, and the result is an ingathering of over 600,000 bushels, averaging about 19 bushels of excellent quality of wheat per acre.

THE ARTILLERY COMPETITION

Arrival of the Island Team.

On their way home yesterday, after arriving at Summerside, the Island Team received many warm congratulations in their achievements at Quebec. At Kensington they were presented with the following

ADDRESS:

To the Artillery Team of P. E. Island: HONORED AND RESPECTED GENTLEMEN,—As you are passing through our midst, we embrace the opportunity of congratulating you on the splendid victory you have gained at Quebec.

That you would give a good account of yourselves, we felt quite sure; but that you would succeed in capturing a first prize from not only the rest of the Dominion, but also from the most sanguine could expect. In welcoming you back with us again, we feel that we are expressing the sentiments of the whole Island when we say that never did this Province welcome back an equal number of heroes with greater enthusiasm.

We are proud to know that this Province has men capable of every enterprise, and we are confident that in you is some of the stuff of which heroes are made. That you may long be spared in health and strength to win laurels for your native province is the fervent desire of your friends at Kensington.

G. W. W. Bentley, John N. Robertson, A. E. Clarke, Wm. H. Hopgood, Alex. McNeill, M. D., H. A. Leslie, Reuben Tuplin, Alex. Grady, Edwin Proctor, Daniel McMillan, Mark Pond, Thomas Donahoe, G. B. Sims, John Noonan, John Burke, John Connick, Haydock Mills, Thomas Ready, Henry Saunders, William Shea, Robert T. Moar, D. Darrach, M. D., Elijah Leard, Gordon Glover, Geo. W. Carruthers, T. R. McNeill, Andrew Bowness.

Kensington, Sept. 17, 1884.

The prevalence of the storm last night caused the Committee to postpone the carrying out of their arrangements for the reception. But notwithstanding the storm, a large concourse of citizens was at the depot on the arrival of the train; and as the team alighted from the car, they received three hearty, ringing cheers.

The men were all in excellent health and spirits; and expressed themselves highly pleased with their trip and with the treatment they received at Quebec. They are to be entertained at a banquet in their honor, which will be held at the Rankin House to-morrow evening.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of P. E. Island met in Princeton on the 16th inst. There were present Rev. N. McKay, A. F. Carr, A. M.; Wm. P. Archibald, A. M.; Geo. McMillan, A. B.; Wm. A. Mason, A. B.; A. W. Mahon and J. M. MacLeod and Mr. James Ramsay, ruling elder.

A letter was read from Mr. W. H. Spencer, intimating his acceptance of the call to Georgetown and Montague. His ordination was appointed to take place at Montague Bridge on 2nd October, at 6.30 p. m. Rev. M. Campbell to preach the ordination sermon, Rev. M. Archibald to preside, ordain and address the minister; and Rev. W. R. Frame to address the congregation. Mr. R. Stuart was appointed to read the edict to the congregation on Sabbath 21st inst.

The Presbytery will also meet at Montague Bridge, at 2.30, on 2nd October, to hear Mr. Spencer's ordination trials. Rev. Mr. Mahon to examine in Hebrew, the Moderator in Greek, Mr. McKay in Church History, and Mr. Frame in Theology.

The call to Mr. George Fisher from Montrose, Elmsdale, and Tignish, which is cordial and harmonious, was sustained and has been accepted. Mr. Fisher's ordination was appointed to take place in Montrose, on 7th October, at 11 o'clock, a. m., Rev. Mr. Archibald to preach, preside, and ordain, Rev. George McMillan to address the Minister, and Rev. N. McKay to address the congregation. The edict to be served by Rev. J. Thompson, on 28th inst.

The Presbytery will also meet at Alberton on the 6th Oct., at 2.30 and at 7 p. m., to hear Mr. Fisher's ordination trials. Rev. Mr. Archibald was appointed to examine in Hebrew, Mr. Mason in Greek, Mr. Carr in Church History, and J. M. McLeod in Theology.

Rev. Mr. Grant was authorized to moderate in a call in Cardigan and Dundas.

Rev. Robert Laird was appointed to preach in Richmond Bay West, on first Sabbath in October, and Rev. M. Campbell in Valleyfield on last Sabbath of September. J. M. McLeod, Presby. Clerk.

The London papers are making elaborate preparations for reporting the progress of General Wolsley's coming campaign in the Soudan. Among the correspondents who have started or are about to start for the seat of war are Mr. Pearce of the Daily News; Mr. J. A. Cameron of the Standard; Mr. Melton Prior of the Illustrated News, and Colonel Burleigh of the Daily Telegraph. Special arrangements have been made to have the Mail represented, and Mr. Charles Williams, who has been until recently the editor of the London Evening News, has left for the seat of war. Most of those gentlemen are old and seasoned war correspondents. Mr. Cameron was with Baker Pasha in his ill-fated attempt to chastise El Mahdi, after Hicks Pasha's defeat, and for some months Mr. Cameron was missing and was supposed to be dead. Mr. Prior's spirited illustrations of African war scenes have been familiar features of the Illustrated London News for some years, his latest achievements in that line being his sketches and drawings of General Graham's operations against Osman Digma in the vicinity of Suakim. Col. Burleigh has seen as much campaigning as General Wolsley, and especially distinguished himself by sending the news of Wolsley's victory at Tel-El-Kebir, to his paper twenty-four hours ahead of all competitors. Mr. Williams is a veteran of the Afghanistan campaign, and is known as a shrewd and able critic of military movements.

Cattle interests are suffering severely in south-western Texas in consequence of drought.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Let-her "B."

SIR,—“Sinking for want of support,” the answer given to the current conundrum, “why the New Era resembles some of the houses in Charlottetown?” seems absurd, but may be true, if the issue of Sept. 13th be a proper estimate. It contains an article with the caption “Figures are not always Facts,” and I thought at first it had reference to the Era's subscription list, or was at least a jermind on the inflation business; but I was mistaken. It was an acrobatic effort at jumping to a false conclusion about authorship, and landing in British Columbia. Because (so it reasoned) an article in THE EXAMINER of the 8th inst., was signed “B.” therefore “Birch Bagster” wrote it, though why, cannot be quite clear even to the office “devil,” and on equal evidence, he might have written it. Was it a new edition of the old cat and chestnut business? The New Era man taking the friendly pen of a brother quill, to save his own from the fire? No, he was probably thinking of his kind young days when he involved another kind young day, not learning his lesson correctly then—before blurring out his ignorance, as now.

Very sorry for him, C. B. BAGSTER.

A Savings Bank Wanted in King's County.

SIR,—As THE EXAMINER is always found among the foremost in advocating the rights of the people, we presume no apology is needed for calling attention, through its columns, to one of the wants of this County, viz., a branch of the Dominion Savings Bank. There is one already in Queen's County, and another in Prince, both of which, it is pleasing to learn, are well patronized by farmers and others, the deposits, as the returns clearly show, being steadily on the increase.

The success which has attended these two banks warrants us in asking for still another one—to be located in King's. Either Souris, Georgetown, or Montague, would be a very suitable place in which to establish it. The people of this County are as industrious and as saving as those of any other part of the Island, and we believe that if the matter were properly represented to the Dominion Government a Savings Bank would be established here before another year goes by.

Yours truly, PROGRESS.

King's County, Sept. 15, 1884.

India's New Viceroy.

A SKETCH OF LORD DUFFERIN'S BRILLIANT CAREER.

The career of Lord Dufferin has been very brilliant. He is the son of the fourth Earl of Dufferin, his mother being the eldest daughter of Thomas Sheridan. He was educated at Eton and Oxford, but left the University without taking a degree. His father died in 1841, and he succeeded to the title. Under Lord John Russell's first administration he was a lord-in-waiting on the Queen. In 1847, the year of the great famine in Ireland, he visited that country and published an account of his tour which depicted in plain language the terrors that he saw. In 1859 he went to Iceland in a yacht and wrote an account of his voyage under the title “Letters from High Latitudes.” In the following year Lord Palmerston sent him to Syria to investigate certain massacres of Christians in that country. For the able manner in which he accomplished his mission he received the order of K. C. B. He was under-Secretary of State for India under Earl Russell from 1864 to 1866, and from 1865 until 1872 he was Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. In 1872 he was appointed Governor-General of Canada, and was without exception the ablest and most popular Viceroy that ever was intrusted with the affairs of the Dominion. Since his recall in 1878 he has been ambassador at St. Petersburg and Constantinople, fulfilling the duties of his diplomatic career with singular sagacity. No man of his time has been the recipient of so many titles, distinctions and honours. He was created an English baron in 1859, nominated a Knight of St. Patrick in 1863, appointed Lord Lieutenant of the County Down in 1864, sworn a Privy Councillor in 1868, and was made an earl of the United Kingdom in 1871. He married, in 1862, Harriet, eldest daughter of Captain Archibald Hamilton, of Killyleah Castle, County Down, Ireland. He succeeds Earl Ripon, who is the first Catholic that ever held the high office of Viceroy of India. Lord Dufferin is fifty-eight years old.

The British Association.

SUCCESS OF THE MONTREAL MEETING.

The Montreal meeting of the Association has been a great success, socially as well as scientifically. The hosts did their duty well, and the guests were willing to be pleased. Such reunions give an impulse to all concerned, enlarging the horizon and the views of members of the Association, and quickening the life of the whole community. They are signs of the times that no far-seeing statesman will underestimate. Now that the ice has been broken, a visit will probably be made to Sydney or Melbourne within the next decade; and then Halifax or Toronto will be thought not very much further away than Dublin or Belfast. Whatever the results may be, however, and they can only be good, it was impossible for any intelligent being to attend the meetings without being benefited. Therefore, we owe a debt of gratitude to all who conceived the brilliant idea and who had to do with bringing them to the point of consenting to come to Bishop Lewis and to Captain Bedford Pim, as well as to Sir William Dawson. Sir William wears modestly the honors which he might well accept from our fountain of honor. He is the legitimate successor of Sir William Logan, and doubtless considered that there is sometimes more pride in refusing than in accepting what is offered from a legitimate source. “Thus I tread upon Plato's pride,” said Diogenes, as he rubbed his dirty feet on the soft mats in the great philosopher's house. “And with a pride greater than Plato's,” was the calm reply.—Principal Grant in the Week.

A LIVELY OLD MAN.—Rev. D. Drummond, a Presbyterian minister of Cape Breton, in his ministerial journeys through that province came across a smart old man, in Francoise, 102 years of age. He thus describes him in the Presbyterian Witness: One circumstance which I believe is most worthy to relate and which is unique in our church, that of Mr. Neil MacIntosh, one of the elders there, is 102 years of age. Without any reflection on the others, these excellent elders of the congregation who were earnest and assiduous in their duties, Mr. MacIntosh excelled them all. He was present at all their services, attended the several meetings of session held during the communion days, gave personal attendance to everything connected with the tent, tables, collection boxes, &c. And all this, though he lived four miles from the place of meeting and which he walked both ways on the days he went home.
