The Nuptial Mass was celebrated by Rev. Patrick Walsh. Music was by the choir of the Sacred Heart Church, Alberton, directed by the soloist, Mrs. E. E. Larter. The soloist, Mrs. Raymond Ahearn, rendered "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling."

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white sheer crepe, in princess lines with embroidered bodice, heart shaped neckline and long sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of rayon net was held in place by coronet of apple blossoms. She wore a three strand necklace of pearls, gift of the groom, and a corsage of pink roses. She carried a white Prayer Book with streamers of white ribbon to which were attached small red roses.

The groom was supported by Mr. Leo McDougall. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Doucette chose a dress of wine crepe and wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore black crepe with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

At the home of the bride's parents a delicious wedding breakfast was served to about twenty-five with flowers and centered by five guests. The table was attractive with miniature bride and groom. TRAGIC DEATH

When a gas lamp he was filling exploded and burned him, Thomas Carr groped through the blazing kitchen in search of the youngster, later to be pulled out by his daughter, suffering serious burns. He died later in hospital. Seven of his other nine children, home at the time of the outbreak, all escaped serious injury.

Believing this might refer to his brother Thomas, Mr. Howard Carr wrote to the R.C.M.P., enclosing a clipping of the picture and story from The Guardian. His fears proved to be too well founded. He received the following letter, dated May 22 from the Ontario Provincial Police at Barrie:

"Dear Sir: Your letter to the R. C. M. Police dated May 4th has been referred to me for an answer, and I am sorry to have to report to you that the Thomas Carr who was burned in the fire at his home is, without much doubt, a brother of yours.

"Mrs. Thomas Carr stated that she would correspond with you in the near future, if she has not already done so.

"I am enclosing the picture you sent to the Mounted Police.

"Yours truly, "PATRICK POLAND, "Provincial Constable."

Mr. Thomas Carr, who was in his sixty-ninth year, revisited his old home about twenty-five years ago. He is survived by four brothers: Howard and Gordon, Oyster Bed Bridge; Percy, 32 Longwood Street, Charlottetown, and Vincent, in Regina; also by one sister, Mrs. John Carter, Winsloe North.

Additional Farm Workers Arriving

The shortage of farm help in the Province is being eased slightly by the arrival of farm laborers from Europe, and a few from points in Cape Breton.

Premier J. Walter Jones is awaiting the arrival from Scotland of a herdsmen, thoroughly qualified in the care and handling of dairy cattle and acquainted with the most advanced agricultural methods in the Old Country.

The Premier, who is at present in Ottawa, expects his new herdsmen, Mr. Robert Hunter, to arrive in Canada over the coming weekend on the S.S. Georgie which left Glasgow on May 19th.

About the same time eight Dutch farm workers will reach the Island.

Yesterday, three farm hands arrived in the city from Cape Breton and were placed on the farm.

S'side R.C.A.F. Station Prepares For Trainees

The R.C.A.F.'s Air Navigation School at Summerside is preparing for its yearly influx of summer air training plan trainees. This will be the third year in which the plan has been in effect at this station, and the first course is expected to graduate near the end of this summer as fully qualified air navigators.

It is hoped that this course will be able to graduate in sufficient time for them to spend a short time flying as navigators in the field in order to give them some experience before resuming their college studies.

The summer air training plan consists of students from the Canadian Services Colleges (Royal Roads, B. C. and Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.), and from other universities across Canada, including the University of British Columbia, the University of Manitoba, the University of Saskatchewan, the University of Toronto, Queen's, McGill, the University of Montreal and others. Some of the latter have their own reserve university flights and, in this way, students can keep in touch with the R. C. A. F. during their college year. This is known as the University Air Training Plan.

The university student, taking the summer navigation course, receives the same training as his fellow flight cadet receiving his training in the R.C.A.F. (regular). Each summer as long as he remains in college, he returns to the Air Navigation School, or if he is training as a pilot or radio officer, the Flying Training School at Centralia, Ont., or the radio officer school in Clinton, Ont., until, at the completion of his third year of training, he receives his commission. He is then placed on the R.C.A.F. reserve.

Another group of college students, under the summer employment plan will arrive again this summer to take part in contact or "on the job" training. This group consists largely of R.C.A.F. veteran officers who train with commissioned rank. The others train as flight cadets. You will find these men working in the R.C.A.F. branch which is most closely associated with their college vocation.

For instance, an Arts student may work in supply or administration; a Medical student or Pharmacist will be employed in the station hospital; Engineering students will take their places in of Robert Dixon at East Baltic by the National Employment Office.

In the past two weeks several other mainlanders accepted employment on Island farms.

Seventeen Polish D.P.'s were also among recent arrivals in the Province, and are now engaged in farm work.

Other small groups of Europeans are expected to reach the Island from time to time in the next few months.

PLANS DOMINION

Edward W. Cutbill, D.S.O., 38, of Niagara Falls, Ont., to command the 1st Canadian Rifle Battalion, and Lt.-Col. Macellain L. Lahai, D.S.O., 37, of Buckingham, Que., to command the 6th Field Regiment of the Artillery.

The army said Brig. Walsh will visit all five military commands in the near future after reporting to headquarters here Monday. He now is in Kingston as commander of the Eastern (Ontario) Area of Central Command.

As of late yesterday there were 4,927 men in the brigade group primarily ticketed for service in Europe with Gen. Eisenhower's integrated Atlantic Pact army. The figure undoubtedly is beyond 5,000 now but the minimum figure for the group itself is 5,500 and double that number will be needed to provide replacements.

Wide Army Experience

Brig. Walsh married and the father of a son, has had a wide army experience as an engineer since he left Royal Military College in 1930 and enlisted as a lieutenant.

He rose to command all the engineers in the overseas army in the last war, led the troops ashore in the bloodless 1941 raid on the northern island of Spitzbergen, and came home to command the war-built Alaska Highway.

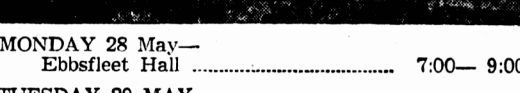

He will establish his new headquarters at Valcartier, Que., where the three infantry battalions will concentrate. The artillerymen will head for Shilo, Man.

It is expected that the various companies and squadrons recruited by reserve force units across Canada will start moving to training areas the first week in June. That will be the start of Brig. Walsh's drive to whip them into shape within the next six months.

Off the east coast, the U. S. battleship New Jersey and other Allied warships hammered Red supply lines from the port of Wonsan northward. Carrier planes joined Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers in harassing the retreating Reds.

One of the largest concentrations of Reds was spotted moving north on the road to Hwachon, six miles north of Chunchon on the central front. An estimated 10,000 Chinese troops and 500 horses were counted.
