THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 27, 1892.

Notes and Comments.

—The report from London that Mr. Gladstone proposes to withdraw all the British troops from British North America is probably untrue. It is not at all likely that Great Britain will abandon the expensive works at Halifax and the strategic position she possesses there simply because Mr. Gladstone is "decidedly favorable to throwing the Colonies, in all parts of the world, as much as possible on their own resources." Great Britain loves the Colonies, but not so much as to give up to them her most valuable possessions n order that the Colonists may learn the virtue of self-reliance.

—Mr. Wiman will lecture this evening on "Continental Unity." But he protests that he does not wish for Annexation. We presume, therefore, that he merely intends to present "Commercial Union" or "Unrestricted Reciprocity" under another name. Or, perhaps he means that the United States should come in with Canada and adopt British institutions. If Mr. Wiman expects Canadians in this part of North America to give up the higher and greater benefit of British freedom and British laws for the sake of the lower, lesser, very questionable and merely material benefit to be derived from Continental Unity of trade, he labors under a mistake.

—Mr. Francis Bain, the geologist appointed by the Dominion Government to take note of the tunnel borings in the strait, has prepared a section showing the strata so far as the borings have extended. The scale on which it is drawn is one inch to 200 feet horizontal and one inch to 20 feet vertical. It shows beds of shale and sandstone extending under the strait. Of the shale beds there is one twenty-seven feet deep and another twenty-eight feet deep, either of which could be followed, in the construction of a tunnel, for the greater part of the way from cape to cape. The borings have practically confirmed Mr. Bain's earlier deductions as to the character of the strata under the strait and the suitability of the shale beds for tunnel construction. The section which he has lately prepared is beautifully drawn, and reflects great credit upon him, and his reputation as a geologist cannot fail to be heightened by the results of the borings so far as they have extended.

—The Boston Herald of Saturday publishes the following article, which is applicable to every community, and which is worthy of careful perusal: If there is any class of people in the community who more than another should be scrupulous in paying debts, it is rich people. The sacrifice incurred on their part in so doing is nothing. They simply discharge a duty, and in the act are making to themselves habits which will be of benefit in their business relations in life. But by thoughtless inattention, or a singular reluctance to pay out money, which even those who have much of it exhibit, they do a great injustice to others, and get into very bad ways on their own account. When a bill is due to a mechanic or tradesman, it ought to be paid, and the man who has the money to discharge such debt should take pleasure in paying it. He does justice to those whom he owes and to himself by the act. By withholding it he frequently inflicts not only injustice, but causes sensible embarrassment, if not distress, to worthy people. The whole matter may seem of slight importance on a cursory view, but there is often an injury caused in this way which is important in pecuniary and other effects. The creditor is at an obvious disadvantage in urging payment, for he is in constant fear that in so doing he may offend, and thus lose a customer. He ought not to be compelled to do this. Every man who owes money should take pleasure in clearing himself of the obligation thus incurred. Next to the satisfaction of receiving payment should be that of making payment of the same, and we are not sure but the two should be on a par here.

News Notes.

The exports of gold from New York last week amounted to $260,000.

All leading Manitoba and Northwest papers express pleasure at Mr. Daly's elevation to the cabinet.

It is likely that the Canadian Pacific will assume control of the Calgary and Edmonton railway about the 1st November.

Tipperusalem is a new Oklahoma post-office. The sheriff wanted it called Tipperary and the mayor stood out for Jerusalem. The result was a compromise to save bloodshed.

It is reported that the British government will propose the abolition of the duties on tea, coffee and cocoa, and raise the deficiency of revenue thus created by a tax on land. The report is, probably, untrue.

According to the St. Petersburg Bourse Gazette the Russian Government has on deposit £10,000,000 in London, £4,000,000 in Germany, and £5,000,000 in Paris. The Gazette adds that these figures show that Russia is not in urgent need of a loan.

Extensive British contracts are, it is said, being made with the farmers in the Ottawa district for their surplus hay. Freight is now very low in price, and with figures ranging from $17 to $23 75 for clover, and $12.75 to $22 25 for meadow hay in Britain. Money should be made in exporting it there rather than to the States. If the hay were not exported at all, perhaps that would be better.

Rev. Principal Grant was interviewed a few days ago by a Free Press reporter on the Manitoba school question. He said: I look upon the question as definitely settled. Each province has supreme power within the limits of its jurisdiction as defined by the British North America Act, and the Dominion Government has no right to interfere so long as the powers granted by this Act are not overstepped, and the Privy Council has decided that the Manitoba Government has acted within the limits of the constitution."

"What about remedial legislation?"

"The Privy Council says there is no right transgressed, and consequently nothing to remedy. My idea is this, however: If the minority in Manitoba feel that they have a grievance, as they no doubt do, let them do as the minority in New Brunswick did, appeal to the majority, and they will undoubtedly find the majority ready to do them ample justice. This is the only way they can find redress, for the majority will not stand it to be coerced from the outside."

Monument to Corporal McDonald.

It is expected that the monument to be erected by the militiamen and citizens in honor of the late Corporal Rufus McDonald No. 1 Battery, G. A., who was killed at Quebec about a year ago, will be completed and set up in the People's cemetery by the middle of next month or the 1st December. Messrs. Cairns & McLean are doing the work, which is a guarantee that everything will be well done. THE EXAMINER reporter was shown the plan of the monument today. The monument proper will be of white marble, and the two bases will be of freestone. The height, including the bases, will be 12 feet. The lower base will be 3 feet 6 inches square, and the top one 2 feet 8 inches. The die will be 1 foot 7 inches square and 4 feet high. The spire or shaft will be 7 feet in height; at the base 1 foot 1 inch square, and at the top 10 inches. On the plinth will be the name "McDonald" in raised letters; and on the die the inscription proper will be placed. On each of the four corners of the die there will be raised columns, appropriately carved, and in the centre will be neatly carved gables. On the base or bottom of the spire, just over the die, will be engraved a representation of a 40 pounder gun standing on a carriage. The top of the monument will be neatly carved. The monument will cost about $200. A list of the subscribers to the fund will be published in a few days.

The funeral services in Washington over Mrs. Harrison's remains were held to-day. It was the especial wish of the family that the services be as private as possible, and the wish was respected. The following message has been received by the President from Queen Victoria: "I have heard with deepest regret of your sad loss, and sincerely sympathize with you in your grief." The order is growing so rapidly among the French Canadians in Quebec that the supreme executive have authorized the translation of the ritual and constitution into French. The supreme chief ranger has completed arrangements for the incorporation of the order in the state of New York.

Some of the papers seem to be "away off" regarding the movements of Mr. D. Ferguson. The St. John Telegraph says: "Mr. J. Heber Haslem, of the C P R. and Mr. D. Ferguson, of Charlottetown, P E I, who have been west in regard to buying up land for the land company recently formed on the Island, returned home yesterday. They looked over a great deal of land but made no purchases." It is only necessary to add that the following telegram was received by Mrs Ferguson, to-day:

"WINNIPEG, Oct. 27

"Cannot leave here for a week yet. Am quite well.

"D. FERGUSON."
