Forest folks.

The two little Squirrels agreed that it wouldn't do to make a new home very near the present one. They must find a home where Spooky wasn't in the habit of hunting, and wouldn't be likely to discover where they were living. So each evening, after they had eaten dinner, they went house hunting. Each night they glided off in a different direction. They went farther and farther, and they had no luck at all. The only place they found, other folk were living in. It was discouraging.

But Mrs. Timmy refused to give up. The more discouraging the outlook, the more persistent she became. Of course Timmy went along with her even though he didn't always approve. At long last his patience wore out.

"My dear," said he, "we might as well make the best of what we have."

Mrs. Timmy shook her head. "We'll find a house somewhere," she declared.

The Week at S.D.U.

We predicted last week that the hockey team would do better in future games. It seems now that our prediction came true. Last Friday night the Saints defeated the league-leading Rovers 6-5 here in the college rink.

One thing that is interesting to note in this City League is the fact that the Saints have been more successful against the Rovers than against the Anchors, but when the latter teams meet it is usually the Rovers who are the victors. In Friday night's game, our net-minder, Bruce Harrington, played a stand-out game, especially in the first period when he turned aside all shots of the opposing team, some of them being glaring break-aways. This defeat for the Rovers did not put them out of first place, and since that game they have increased their lead by a win over the Anchors.

You probably didn't know this before, but St. Dunstan's has a second hockey team. This team, comprising those who will likely be in the ranks of first team in coming years had its first game last week against the Summerside Juniors. They were successful in gaining a 5-3 win over the fast and sometimes smooth-passing Summerside team. Paul Perron and Pat Rossitor scored two goals each and Gerard Dalton got the other marker.

Everyone here is still talking about the thrilling intercollegiate game of last Saturday night between the Saints and Mt. A. No doubt all who saw the game are doing the same. The final score, as you probably know, was 47-43 for the Saints.

But for us the game was more than just reading the score at the end of the game and realizing that the Saints had won again. The fast and aggressive Mt. A. boys led the score for the first three quarters of the game. Students, lined around the gym, sent up repeated cheers for the team but the boys just couldn't seem to get going. But did we give up hope? No, somehow we were confident that the team would not let us down. When the third quarter came up, the tempo had increased and the minute the gym fairly shook with the silence prevailed while we awaited the sinking or tolling of a foul shot.

The Saints were now beginning to strike their pace but it was not yet their game. Three times they tied up the score, and then Cy McIsaac sank a foul shot and with a final surge to give them the game. Everyone rushed on the floor to embrace the players, especially Jack Rossitor, the star of the game. St. Dunstan's has played only a few intercollegiate games so far, and they will play many games in years to come but we feel sure that last Saturday's game will go down in the annals as one of the most thrilling of games.

Wednesday night the basketball team resumed play in the Island league schedule when they defeated Y.M.C.A. 84-45. From the opening whistle until the end of the game the Saints were never outscored. In this game, Pete Dunphy, the fast forward who specializes in lay-ups, was high scoring, edging out Joe Mullally by two points. For the benefit of basketball fans, we might mention here that St. F. X. were defeated in an inter-collegiate game with Dalhousie by the close score of 45-43.

Last week the students were privileged to see on the screen Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities". This is an old novel but still a great one and one which still holds the interest of an audience because of both its literary and historic value.

Nine candidates for the U.N. T. D. from St. Dunstan's were successful in passing the Examination Board last week. They are as follows: Gerald Arsenault, Pierre Michaud, Reginald McQuaid, Charles Macpherson, Andrew MacDonaid, Gerald Johnston, Howard White, Richard Wedge and Leo Clarkin.

On Saturday night St. Dunstan's was to participate in intercollegiate debating once more. This time a team comprising Emmett Roche and Clair Callaghan was to meet a team from Mt. Allison. At the time this was written the debate had not been held and we cannot give you the decision. Should St. Dunstan's win this debate, that will mean that they will have won all three debates for the year. Then, if some other college has also won its three debates, St. Dunstan's will have to debate off with that college for the championship.

For its size, St. Dunstan's has established quite a reputation for debating and it will be recalled that only two years ago S.D.U. debaters were in the Dominion finals. The possibilities of attaining such success this year depends a great deal on the outcome of last night's debate. To Emmett and "Copy" we say "Keep up the reputation of St. Dunstan's in debating!"

It seems that in this column we seldom speak of the coeds and so some may forget that there are such students at St. Dunstan's. May we are not provided with an occasion to say something about them and then, too, we may not be taking advantage of the occasions which are provided. In any case, we cannot deny that we weren't given sufficient occasion to speak about one of them in particular during the past week.

Indeed, we wish to turn the spotlight on Miss Bethany MacDonald, Senior at S. D. U., on the occasion of her graduate recital given at Notre Dame Academy Wednesday evening. At that time, Bethany, assisted by Maureen Blie, soprano, provided an excellent program for the large crowd of music enthusiasts assembled there. Admittedly, many of us don't know much about music, but it was hard for anyone to sit there and, amid deepest silence to listen to the beautiful strains of music coming from the piano on the nicely-decorated stage, as nimble fingers tripped with ease and precision across the keyboard, and still not recognize the talent of the young artist. Yes, we have to take our hats off to you, Bethany, on a job well done.
