of this city, was asked by the Mayor to tell the Council the reasons for the request of the Monastery of the Precious Blood that their taxes be reduced to the same level as before the new valuation.

Mr. Trainor explained that the Monastery was a place of divine worship where people might attend Mass and for this reason came under the City Act of Incorporation which exempts church property. He expressed the belief that this was the only city in Canada where the order is subject to civic taxation and pointed out that it receives no financial aid from the episcopal body nor from a Mother House. The former tax was $167 while the new rate brings it to $400. The monastery is perfectly satisfied, he said, to continue paying the other tax.

Councillor J. F. Storey thought it might be dangerous to establish a precedent of inability to pay full taxes as there would be many private citizens in the same position. Recorder Martin told the Council that it could not reduce specific taxes, the only methods open to it were through exemption by grants or statutory legislation. The matter was left for further study.

Poll Tax Collections

Regarding the matter of employers collecting poll tax Councillor Storey feared that the next step would be for a future Council to have employers also collect any property taxes which their employees might owe the city.

Councillor Johnstone brought to the attention of the Council the matter of low assessment and tax on the Charlottetown Hotel and said that in Halifax the one operated by the C.N.R. paid a far higher rate. It was agreed that Mayor Stewart write to Mr. Donald Gordon, president of the C.N.R., asking for re-consideration of agreements regarding taxes on the hotel. Councillor T. Roy Cudmore dissented and stated that any town in the Maritimes would be glad to have such a hotel as we have here. While he favored it paying higher taxes than at present he believed the request should be reasonable in view of the accommodations offered visitors.

Mayor Stewart said that in writing Mr. Gordon he would point out that the tax rate in this city had been increased and ask that the Canadian National Railway take into consideration what is thought to be unfair treatment when compared with that accorded other Maritime cities having the company's hotels.

Tax Appeal Board

Two men were appointed to the Tax Appeal Board of which Mr. R. R. Bell, Q.C., named by the Provincial Government is the chairman. The two members are Messrs. F. W. Curtis and Benjamin Gallant.

The Council passed a resolution supporting the efforts of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind to increase the amounts paid to blind persons and abolish the means test.

Other items discussed included the necessity of obtaining several hundred sandbags in the event of future heavy rainfalls such as occurred Sunday and the purchase of four or five uniforms of rubber trousers, smocks and souwesters for the crews which have to work on the culverts. Councillor Storey said that from the Green Bridge, across the railway tracks at the foot of Grafton street, up to the railway crossing at Kensington Road there were two culverts causing considerable trouble. Neither is owned by the city.

Proposed Flat Rate

Mayor Stewart briefly mentioned his former proposal to have no increase in the general tax rate for a high school, but instead of a flat rate of $20 per person. This would include all the working women of the city whose number was estimated as between 1,600 and 1,800. The accountancy firm of H. R. Doane and Company was named as auditors for the city for the coming year.

Councillor George R. Keefe asked the Council to consider the purchase of four "welcome" signs for the main approaches to the city. It was agreed that first a design of the proposed signs be submitted for approval. Mayor Stewart told the Council that the Secretary of State for Canada had written him that there would be a seat available for him in Westminster Abbey for the Coronation in June. He said he had declined the invitation. At the same time he named Councillors M. A. Farmer and F. J. Storey to represent the City and work with Provincial Government officials on plans for the coronation celebration here.

Mr. Hughes also stressed the importance of the parents cooperating with the teachers. In conclusion Mr. Hughes suggested different ways in which the Home and School Association could help the teachers and children.

Following discussion of several other matters, the meeting adjourned, after which refreshments were served by a committee of several of the ladies.

estimates for the South Saskatchewan project. The CCF sub-amendment says the government's own PFRA engineers have recommended the project.

In a 1½-hour speech, Mr. Gardiner insisted the first non-confidence move could not stand up because there is some money in the estimates this year for the South Saskatchewan project, though it was not necessarily for construction. On the second non-confidence motion, he said PFRA engineers have no power to make "recommendations."

Dealing with the general question of enlarging the Prairie farm assistance measure, he said:

"When rehabilitation is fully planned and finally under way, an act generally applicable to all provinces based upon benefits to agriculture should replace the present PFRA legislation.

"I think we have discussed the possibilities of that every year now for the last three years, and I would say that, in view of the change in attitude towards expenditures, provincially and federally, there will be good reason when we draw toward the end of real rehabilitation work to have an act based upon our experience in that area which can be applied to different parts of Canada to take care of soil surveys and other activities in connection with the improvement of farm lands across Canada."

All long distance telephone lines were out of order with linemen effecting repairs to one line to Summerside yesterday afternoon. Damage in most cases was caused by icing and trees falling across the lines.

There was no interruption of electric power service except for one hour yesterday afternoon while a pole at Northam was being replaced.

It is expected that it will be several days before services will be restored to normal.—FW.

"JUST THIS ONCE" AT THE CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

—The attractioon at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside, is unadulteratedly labeled Escapist Entertainment. It is M-G-M's "Just This Once", starring Janet Leigh and Peter Lawford, with Lewis Stone, Marilyn Erskine and Richard Anderson heading the supporting cast.

"Just This Once" tells the story of a millionaire spendthrift and an attractive but penny-pinching young lady lawyer. Appointed his financial guardian, she puts him on a $50 weekply allowance, attempts to lure him to the beauties of lunch at the Automat and the pleasure of a boat trip on the Staten Island Ferry, strips him of his expensive home and then finds that, through a loophole in the law, he is able to move into her apartment! From then on, its a battle of wits, and also of love, between playboy Lawford and legally-minded Miss Leigh.

The new comedy marks a reunion for the stars who previously appeared together in "Little Women" and "The Red Danube". Miss Leigh recently scored in "Strictly Dishonorable" and "Angels in the Outfield". Lawford's last pictures were "Easter Parade" and "Royal Wedding", after which he took time out for a twenty-city personal appearance tour.

"Just This Once" was produced by Henry Berman and was directed by Don Weis. Berman rose to producer status under Frank Capra in the Armed Forces Motion Picture Studios. Weis, prominent in the executive staff behind "The Champion" and "Home of the Brave", is one of the film industry's outstanding directorial newcomers.

Between 1930 and 1950 the construction industry increased from six per cent of Canada's commodity production to 12 per cent.

channel 9, Montreal channel 2. To the people of Toronto and Southwestern Ontario generally, it would make no difference if the CBC didn't operate at all.

"Of the 150 thousand odd television receivers now stated to be in use in Canada, at least 80 percent of them were purchased in Toronto and Southwestern Ontario by people who wish to look at the transmissions from Buffalo, Cleveland, Rochester, Erie, and other American television stations. There were over 50,000 television receivers in use in the City of Toronto before the CBC transmitter was even started. Across Lake Ontario, the signals of the powerful Buffalo station have always been received with steadiness and clarity.

Prospects For Charlottetown

"Enough of that! Let us examine the possibility of television in our own Charlottetown.

"First of all, if you had television, what would you see? What local events would you want to have televised? How often would such events be available for program purposes. After thirty years of operating CFCY broadcasting station in Charlottetown, I can assure you that we have had little or no demand for the broadcasting of events in Charlottetown other than church services, so you will expect national and international events on your local television station.

"The pictures of such events can only come to us in two ways: (1) by very expensive micro-wave relay, or (2) coaxial cable, linking us with the nearest American or Canadian network junction point. To bring American network television programs to Toronto, a micro-wave link had to be established from Buffalo to Toronto and for this the CBC paid out of the taxpayers' money something in excess of three hundred thousand dollars to the Bell Telephone Company for the establishment of such a micro-wave.

"They also contracted to pay a rental for the use of the micro-wave for each and every program transmitted over it during the years to come. To link Toronto and Montreal which is some five or six times greater distance, the cost of the micro-wave link will be enormous. The electrical nature of ordinary telephone and telegraph wires is such that they will not respond to the wide variations in frequency necessary for the transmission of a picture, and from the basic knowledge already in our possession, it seems very unlikely that this can be changed.

"Where possible in the United States, a special coaxial cable has been laid on poles or buried in the ground. This cable is specially built to carry the broad range of frequencies of television. Its cost is approximately fifty thousand dollars per mile. Lacking micro-wave or coaxial cable links with national and international networks, a television station in Charlottetown would have to fall back upon film, rented or purchased from international news services which were filming important world events. Even 16 millimeter film which is generally used, can be quite costly and is not thought to be the ultimate answer in television programming.

"The United States film cost for one hours program is said to be about $160.00 for film only .... no talent costs! Bing Crosby and his associates are, at the present time, working on the well-known magnetic tape which it is said will take picture recordings magnetically, and it is said that if successful, this method will give us recorded pictures at some $70.00 or —Four places of business in Alberton were broken into over the week-end, all four breaks being made through windows which were broken.

Burglars Enter Four Business Places At Alberton

Barbour's Service Station and Foley's Store each reported the loss of sums of money, and in the case of Foley's store possibly some goods removed from the shelves. White's store and Mac's Taxi were broken into but no definite losses were reported in either case. The owner of the taxi stand is presently in Halifax.

Investigation is being carried out by the Alberton detachment of the R.C.M.P.—FW.

$80.00 an hour for recording costs only.

Same Program Difficulty

"Many Charlottetonians have the idea that a television transmitter placed in the City of Halifax would give an acceptable picture in Charlottetown. This I doubt very much. In the first place, any Halifax station would be subject to exactly the same program difficulty as we have in Charlottetown. Lacking coaxial cable or micro-wave links, they would have to resort to local shows or film.

"Halifax is approximately 100 miles airline from Charlottetown, and the signal received from a 5kw television transmitter there would be subject, at 100 miles, to distortion resulting from fading and to all sorts of flashes and bars across the screen due to local interference from fluorescent lights, electric shavers, vacuum cleaners, defective transformers and from other means of radio communication.

"The Buffalo station which is received so well in Toronto, 60 miles distant, is rated at about one hundred thousand watts power, and its antennae tower reaches into the sky to a height of at least 1,100 feet. The tower alone is reported to have cost more than one-quarter million dollars. One can hardly anticipate such a powerful and efficient installation to be erected in Halifax.

Cites Own Experience

"Personally, I have had a television receiver for over one year at my home. Under abnormal atmospheric conditions, mostly in the months of April, May and June, I have at times been able to receive some very good pictures. These pictures have come to me from as far south as Florida, and as far west as Chicago. Most reception has been on channels 2, 3, 4, with occasional pictures on channels 5 and 6. Absolutely nothing has ever been received by me on high frequency channels 7-13. When the atmospheric conditions are very abnormal, channels 2, 3 and 4 invariably present me with two and sometimes three stations, all battling for my television screen.

"The result is sometimes amazing, producing an effect of Bishop Sheen in New York on channel 2 competing on my screen with perhaps a murder mystery from Chicago or a newscaster from Montreal. Needless to say there is nothing but annoyance and no entertainment value from this kind of reception."

The speaker concluded by saying that radio station CFCY and its technical staff are fully aware of every television possibility and are keeping progessively in touch with all possible developments.

Col. Rogers was introduced by Chairman Ernie Coffin and thanked on behalf of the Rotary Club by co-chairman Wallie Scantlebury.

The Rotary Charge was read by Darrell McGuire to three recently admitted members, Stan McInnis, Jerome O'Brien and Ken Parker. They were thereupon given the right hand of fellowship, followed by an official welcome into membership by President Gordon Avard.

Frank Daley of the Summerside Rotary Club was in attendance and as a guest Mr. James O. MacLean, Charlottetown.
