

Great influx of bands coming for Cup day

This year's Gold Cup and Saucer Parade, which promises to be the most splendid so far in the event's five-year history, will see a total of 11 and possibly 12 bands participating or eight more than last year when four bands took part in the string parade.

So everyone who enjoys a parade and stirring martial music of the brass band and hitting strains of Highland pipers, is in for a delightful show.

In addition to the 12 bands, there will be six smart, stepping groups of majorettes, five more than last year, to ensure this year's parade is the biggest and best in its five-year history.

With this mammoth performance in the offing, parade and band enthusiasts Friday morning should behold a spectacle which will be remembered for a long time to come.

Bands that will take part are: Balmoral Girls Pipe Band, of Stellarton, N.S.; Fredericton, N.B. Air Cadet Band; Stellarton Air Cadet Pipe and Drum Band; Kathadin Maine, Rangers Brass Band; Dr. Maude Burbank Brass Band, of Moncton; Summerside RCAF Band; Royal Canadian Dragoons Band Halifax; Lovat Scots Charlottetown Pipe Band; Queen Charlotte King's School Band and the Prince Edward Island Regimental Band.

Adjudicator for the bands will be Christopher Gieshill. Judging will be in three classes, junior, pipe and military with three cash prizes.

The possible 12th band to take part in the parade will be the HMCS Queen Charlotte Sea Cadets Band.

ELECTIONS PLANNED
TUNIS (Reuters)—Tunisians will vote to elect a new president Nov. 8 under a law just signed by present Habib Bourguiba, the Tunisian news agency reported Sunday. Bourguiba, 61, was elected president in 1957, a year after the country regained independence following three-quarters of a century of French rule.

Groups of majorettes, which will be seen, are: Yarmouth, N.S. Majorettes; Silver Rockets of Charlottetown; Summerside Majorettes; Charlottetown Centennial Majorettes; Scenicbury Charlottetown Majorettes; and the Ruth Ross Majorettes.

Last year the Balmoral Girls Pipe Band, from Stellarton, N.S., took top prize in the pipe band class with a mark of 85, followed by the Lovat Scots, with 80, and the Burk's Lads and Lassies 77.

All three of these bands will be certain to be vying for top honors again this year.

JUNIOR BANDS
In the junior band classification last year, the Queen Charlotte High School band took top honors with a score of 82, followed by Birchwood High with 76 points for second place, and the Fredericton Air Cadet Band third, with 72 points.

All these bands will be certain to be vying for top honors again this year.

The band of the Royal Canadian Dragoons from Halifax, is directed by Capt. Edwin Spooner.

The band of the Dragoons has made a number of concert appearances throughout the island after it arrived here earlier in the month.

Prince Edward Island's own P.E.I. Regimental Band has won a great measure of fame throughout the island by its appearances, and was judged the top band in its class the Gold Cup and Saucer Parade in both 1962 and 1963.

Resplendent in sparkling crimson uniforms, it is sure to please.

Another visiting brass band which has won wide acclaim, is the Maude Burbank Brass Band of Moncton. It is under the direction of Mrs. Burbank, who has been teaching Moncton children a variety of instruments for 26 years.

Many band parade watchers will be looking forward to again seeing the Summerside RCAF Band. The aimers have made limited appearances in the eastern section of the island, but on all occasions they have played, here they have been well received.

Two youthful island Scottish pipe bands, are the Lovat Scots Charlottetown Pipe Band and the Burk's Lads and Lassies Charlottetown Pipe Band. Neither of these needs an introduction to Islanders, as each has been seen and heard with pleasure many times at fairs, festivals, Highland games and parades throughout the island.

Another youthful band is the Queen Charlotte High School Band which has appeared locally on many occasions at cadet and militia inspections, and a host of church parades.

A NEWCOMER
A newcomer in this year's parade is the Kathadin, Maine, Rangers Brass Band, and the band will naturally be in top form wishing to impress local spectators.

Making its third appearance in the Gold Cup and Saucer Parade, will be the Fredericton, N.B. Air Cadet Band. It is claimed to be one of Canada's leading youthful bands. For the past two years the band has won a prize in the parade.

and Drum Band will be making its second appearance in the parade. The Balmoral Girls Pipe Band, also from Stellarton, which placed third last year in the pipe band class, will once more strive to be in top form in the hope of a repeat of last year's performance. Following the Gold Cup and Saucer luncheon, which is slated for 12.30 noon, band concerts will follow during the afternoon in various downtown park areas.
