 Favorite Movie: "The Last Emperor"
 Favorite Song: "Moments in Love"
 Favorite Performer: "Prince"
 Q: Person you most admire?
 A: "My mom, because you can get no better advice or have no deeper feelings towards anyone else."
 Q: Why did you come to UPEI?

A: "A weary traveller finds the bleak dunes and barren expanses of PEI refreshingly tranquil. It was a chance to escape the troubles plaguing oneself. This is a hideaway where a man can sort out the tangled weavings of life."

Q: Do you have any regrets about coming to UPEI?
 A: "To have regrets is to have weaknesses and that must not be for I am a mere man, but more man than any other man."
 Q: Are you currently dating anyone?
 A: "Even though women were created second, they are foremost in my thoughts."
 Q: So are you dating anyone?
 A: "Relationships are very complex and they involve the intertwining of man and woman in seemingly endless displays of gratification, which eventually backfires on one or both parties in the end."
 Q: Does this mean yes?
 A: "Move on to the next question."
 Q: Are you or have you ever been in love?

A: "Love is the most powerful emotion in the world, to me it is a weakness and I am not a weak man... yes I was in love, but now my strength has returned."
 Q: What do you think of the social life on campus?
 A: "To be socially active is to dig ones own grave."

Q: What is your idea of sexy?
 A: "She-hulk"
 Q: What is your beef with life on campus?
 A: "I'm not into beef just pork."
 Q: Do you find alot of racism in PEI?
 A: "North America has a very serious problem, that problem is racism. If North America has a problem Canada has a problem, and therefore PEI has a problem. Though it may not be evident."
 Q: What is one thing you would like to change about the world?
 A: "I want everyone to find a person within themselves that they can like, and likewise everyone around them."
 Q: Why do you always seem mad at the world?

A: "Because I am."
 Q: What is one thing you would like everyone to know about you?
 A: "I survived the destruction of my first life, I am the was, the is and the yet to be."
 Q: What are your future goals.
 A: "To obtain my BA and go to teachers college."
 Quotable Quote: "I am the man that you think you are. If you want to know what I will do conspire an achievement of great magnitude and I will do the same only twice as good. Dare to try me?"
 Q: So are you dating anyone?
 A: "People believe that having lots of money is the ticket to happiness, but little do they know what happiness just having one "Penni" can bring."

Literary Awards 1990

Submissions are being accepted for the annual PEI Literary Awards. This annual competition awards prizes for Poetry, Short Adult Fiction and Children's Literature. This year, there are new categories for the best historical novel or book-length historical work and the Cavendish tourist association's prizes for the best essays submitted by elementary and junior high school students to be included in the competition.

First, second, and third prizes will be awarded in three categories, poetry, adult short fiction, and children's literature. The heirs to the Lucy Maude Montgomery Estate have donated the first prize for the children's literature category. This donation comprises royalties received from the play "Strike at Putney Church". This play, written by Jane Wilson of Charlottetown, was based on a short story by L.M. Montgomery. The Bennett Carr Award will be given in the novel/book-length historical category. Additional Prizes are sponsored by the Province's Business Community.

The Island Literary Awards are open to writers who are either Canadian citizens or landed immigrants and who have been residents of PEI for at least six of the last twelve months.

For a set of writer's guidelines, further details of prizes and other information, contact the PEI Council of the Arts, 94 Great George Street, Charlottetown or Phone 368-4410.

Island Literary Awards Regulations

Opening Date - September 27, 1989.
Deadline for Submissions - February 15, 1990.
Awards Evening - April 21, 1990.

The third annual Prince Edward Island Literary Awards invites submissions to competitions for poetry, short adult fiction, children's literature, novel or book-length historical work and essay writing for Island school children. During National Book Festival Week in April 1990, awards will be presented at an evening celebration of Island literary talent.

The Milton Acorn Poetry Award, Carl Setner Short Story Award and the L.M. Montgomery Children's Literature Award will be joined this year by the Bennett Carr Novel or Historical Book Award and the Cavendish Tourist's Association Creative Writing Award for Children.

The Island Literary Awards, sponsored by the Prince Edward Island Council of the Arts, provides Island writers with the opportunity to enter work in one or more of these competitions. Island writers and their audience will be able to meet and honour award-winning writers during a National Book Festival event in Charlottetown.

The competitions are open to individuals who have been resident on Prince Edward Island at least six of the last twelve months.

Three adjudicators will assess the entries.
