Home Destroyed At Mt. Herbert

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jenkins and their family were left homeless when fire destroyed their two-storey farm home at Mount Herbert yesterday morning.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Jenkins' son when he went down to the basement to look at the furnace shortly after 11.30 a.m. At that time the flames had already made their way to the attic. The alarm was turned in to the Parkdale fire department at 12 noon and firemen were on the scene at 12:12. Charlottetown fire department was also called.

On arrival of the firemen the fire was already beyond control and firemen stood by in an effort to prevent the flames from reaching the barn and outbuildings located nearby.

With the help of neighbors much of the furniture was removed from the lower floor of the building but nothing was reportedly saved from the upstairs. Firemen remained on the scene for a little over two hours.

The fire is believed to have started in the vicinity of a boxed-in chimney. The home was partially covered by insurance.

Declares U.S. Backed British On Munich Issue

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador in London at the outbreak of the Second World War, said in an article published here Saturday that the United States, whose London envoy was Joseph Kennedy, supported Britain and France in the "betrayal" of Czechoslovakia at Munich.

Extracts from his recent memoirs published in the journal "Questions of History" described Neville Chamberlain, then British prime minister, as the "most malicious figure on the British political horizon" and a man of "limited views and limited capacity."

The article, which observers here said was apparently designed to show that Hitler would have been stopped without war by a mutual assistance pact between Britain, France and Russia, blamed the Western powers for the fact such a pact was not signed.

The memoirs depict Joseph Kennedy, father of President Kennedy, as a bulwark of Chamberlain in his appeasement policy.

REJECTS REFERENDUM

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan rejected a Conservative proposal Monday that Britain should hold a national referendum before Parliament finally decides whether or not it joins the European Common Market. He told the House of Commons that when negotiations for entry end it would be the government's duty to recommend what course should be pursued.

Year's Suspended Sentence Is Given In Forgery Charge

Electing trial by magistrate, and pleading guilty to a charge of forgery, Lorraine Georgie Matthews, Lower Freetown, was given a one-year suspended sentence by Magistrate A.J. Haslam in city police court Saturday.

Mrs. Matthews was charged with forging a cheque on the Bank of Nova Scotia in the amount of $57, payable to Betty Goodie.

In addition to the suspended term, the accused was ordered to enter into a recognizance, in the amount of $500 and two sureties of $250 each. The magistrate then remanded the accused for one week in order to give her time to arrange for bondsmen and to have the bond drawn up.

Failure to stop for a red traffic light resulted in another accused being fined $10 and costs or five days while another for failing to stop at a "stop" sign was fined $5 and costs or two days.

A lone drunk and incapable was sentenced to 30 days in the Queens County jail.

Motorists Must Stop For Flashing Red Light

"It appears to me that a good many drivers are not fully aware of what action they should take when confronted, during the day, by a flashing red traffic light," said Magistrate A.J. Haslam in city police court Saturday.

This remark was occasioned by the appearance in court of two motorists charged with failing to stop at the flashing red light at the intersection of Longworth Avenue and Euston Street. Due to what he attributed as insufficient knowledge as to what should be done in such a situation, the magistrate imposed a fine upon each of the accused of $1 or one day in jail.

Continuing his remarks on the subject, Magistrate Haslam said that in his efforts to obtain information he had received several telephone calls from car owners asking for clarification as to what they should do or not do when confronted by such a flashing red light during daylight hours.

After the remarks by the magistrate, Chief of Police C.W. MacArthur pointed out that the local press has on a number of occasions co-operated with his department in publishing items in which the proper procedure was made known.

The chief stated that any motorist confronted by such a flashing red light must bring his vehicle to a "complete stop". After making absolutely certain that no pedestrians are in the crosswalk, and no other vehicles are entering the intersection from one of the other streets, the driver is at liberty to proceed through the intersection.

OBSERVED TRAFFIC
Const. Robert Downe of the traffic squad stated that on one occasion he had observed the action of traffic from inside a store at the intersection, and out of some 40 vehicles, a dozen had stopped at the light; of the others most of them had only slowed their speed slightly, and then continued through, while the remainder had gone through the intersection without any attempt at slowing or stopping.

Later Const. Downe said that he had posted himself near the light, and on taking a count of approximately 30 vehicles, he found that while he was in view, about 90 per cent had stopped for the light while the others made a slight reduction in speed.

Referring to those that had stopped, the constable said that in several instances he had noticed indecision on the part of the driver, as they appeared not to know how to proceed after having made the stop, and it was necessary for him to inform them that they could go through the intersection after ascertaining that it was clear of pedestrians and traffic.

Jules Gaudet Dies Suddenly

Charlottetown businessman, Jules L. Gaudet, 80 Spring Park Road, died suddenly at his home yesterday morning. He was 59.

Mr. Gaudet had attended the 9 a.m. mass at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer and passed away shortly afterwards.

Born in Miscouche, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gaudet, he had been in the grocery business for approximately 27 years and had been the operator of the Highland Groceries on Highland Avenue for many years. Prior to operating the Highland Groceries, Mr. Gaudet ran a grocery store on the corner of Prince and Grafton streets.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ann Paquet of Souris; one daughter, Elizabeth, at home; four brothers, Benoni, Miscouche; Eugene and Euclid, Montreal; Aloysius, Charlottetown and one sister Uldene, also in Charlottetown.

Two sisters, Bernice and Wilhemina, predeceased him.

The remains are resting at the Hennessy Funeral Home from Tuesday morning at 9:15 to the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer for Requiem High Mass at 9:30. Interment will be in the Catholic cemetery.

He was lucky he wasn't blinded," said garden manager Henry Bolton.

Toronto defenceman Bob Baun said, "and both Pavelich and I had trouble seeing for a minute or so. It exploded at the top of the gate."

Detectives could find no trace of a wrapper or casing but gathered up ice scrapings from the scene and sent them to the crime laboratory along with Pavelich's sweater, Baun's glove and the towel the linesman used to wipe his face after the blast.

Yank Official Makes Impression In Tokyo Visit

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy got his Japanese goodwill visit off to a good start Sunday with something the Japanese love—a brave attempt to speak their language.

Moments after his plane landed, Kennedy stepped before a microphone and plowed through a short speech in Japanese that contained best wishes from his brother, the president. Kennedy then drew his wife, Ethel, forward and she, too, took a stab at the difficult language.

But despite stage-whisper coaching from U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer, who is fluent in the language, Mrs. Kennedy gave it up with, "oh, dear"—in English.

Hundreds of Japanese crowded into Haneda airport terminal applauded loudly.

During his six days in Japan, Kennedy is scheduled to meet leading officials of Japan's labor movement.

Albania Blasted By Soviet Union

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Union Saturday accused Albanian leaders Saturday night of establishing political and economic contacts with some NATO countries.

Coexistence Is Impossible, Russian Official Declares

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Leading Soviet party theoretician Mikhail Suslov lashed out at all manner of sins within the Communist world in a speech published Sunday but said peaceful coexistence with western ideology is "impossible and unthinkable."

The speech, made to a conference of professors five days ago and published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda criticized Stalin, "revisionism" by Yugoslav President Tito and Albanian "dogmatism," adding that dogmatism was "the most dangerous form of the isolation of theory from practice."

He complained that "remnants of capitalism" still existed in Russia, reflected in "idlers, thieves, bribers, hoodlums and in bureaucracy, religious ideology, manifestations of bourgeois nationalism and general bourgeois ideology."

He described bourgeois ideology as "vicious anti-communism, propaganda of hatred toward communism, shameless slanders of socialism, propaganda of military aggression and an ideological system of hired slavery and colonial enslavement."

Peaceful coexistence with such a philosophy is impossible and betrays the ideals of communism and would do great harm to the international workers movement, he said.
