This striking photo shows HMCS Labrador, the Navy's new Arctic patrol ship, when she was in Smith Sound near Alexandra Fiord on the east coast of Ellesmere Island. Her dramatic backdrop is a 285-foot iceberg. The Labrador, commanded by Capt. O. C. S. Robertson, of Montreal and Halifax, went on to become the world's first warship to navigate the Northwest Passage. Her maiden voyage started at Halifax on July 23 and ends at Esquimaut, B.C., on September 27 after an historic voyage of more than 7,500 miles. (National Defence Photo.)

Br. Model Aircraft Rally Was Organized by Canadian

RADLETT, Eng. (CP) — Saskatoon-born Jim Greening becomes an aerial traffic cop when more than 1,000 tiny aircraft zoom from a field near this Hertfordshire village.

Greening is organizer of the all-Britain model aircraft rally which is expected to attract some 17,000 flight fans to Radlett on Sunday, Sept. 26.

"This year we have three new competitions but as organizer I'm not allowed to enter a paper dart," said Greening, 33-year-old aircraft designer for one of Britain's top airplane manufacturers, de Havilland. He produces miniature planes in his spare time.

He's a member of the St. Albans Model Aircraft Club which stages the rally at Radlett.

MANY COMPETITORS

The Radlett rally has grown from a local country affair to the international proportions of an all-Britain show in nine years. Last year was the first national show. This year modellers from Canada and Sweden hoped to make a personal appearance. Also Canada usually is represented by a party from the R.C.A.F. station at North Luffenham, Rutland.

Three new-to-Britain events which have proved popular in the United States are on the agenda this year. "Clipper cargo"—a sort of flying weight-lifting contest—is to be one of them. A load endurance test is another.

"Combat" is perhaps the most exciting of the innovations. Two planes, guided by land lines from the ground, attempt to cut streamers from one another's tails with their propeller blades. The operator who cuts off his opponent's streamers first wins the "dog fight."

For the last 18 months, Greening has been a Labor alderman on nearby St. Albans municipal council. Greening, whose English wife, Kathleen, has presented him with five daughters and a son in the last seven years, came to Britain in 1938.

Donahue-Gorman Nuptials

St. Joseph's Church, Kelly's Cross, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Aug. 4, when Rev. Fr. Elliott McGulgan, Rector of the Jesuit Seminary, Toronto, united in marriage Marjorie Therese, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gorman, South Melville and John William, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Donahue of Cornwall, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the Bridal Chorus played by Mr. Elmer Power of Charlottetown.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of nylon net and lace over slipper satin with fitted lace bolero. Her shoulder length veil fell in folds and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Frances Gorman, who was bridesmaid for her sister, wore a gown of green net over taffeta with matching head dress and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. James Donahue was groomsmen for his brother.

The ushers were Mr. Arthur Sullivan, brother-in-law of the groom, and Mr. Basil Gorman, brother of the bride. Mr. Jimmie Trainor of Halifax served the nuptial mass.

During the ceremony appropriate hymns were rendered by Mr. Eugene Donahue, nephew of the groom and by Elmer Power who also played the recessional hymn.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at Sandy's Restaurant. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Fr. Elliott McGulgan and responded to by the groom. The couple left by motor for a honeymoon trip to Halifax and other points.

Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered a shower at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coady, North West-shire. A post nuptial shower was also held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLean, Cornwall, where many gifts were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Donahue will reside in Cornwall.

USE A PROGRAMME

- Every time a little pig doesn't do well and every time a little pig is lost at birth or shortly after it represents a loss to the owner which, in a great many cases, could be prevented. A sound hog raising program is necessary to overcome many of the problems confronting our breeders today. It is the little things, the routine things in hog management which, in a great many cases, spell the difference between profit and loss.
- The following are ten points of a successful hog raising program.
- (1) Start with good foundation stock.
  - (2) Provide management facilities that allow the maximum number of pigs per sow to be born and raised.
  - (3) Set up a sound feeding program that will produce pork as efficiently as possible.
  - (4) Avoid disease, parasite or nutritional losses.
  - (5) Have definite goals to shoot at such as raising eight pigs or more per litter, weaning pigs averaging 40 lbs. or more, marketing pigs at five months, producing 100 lbs. of pork on 400 lbs. of feed or less.
  - (6) Keep accurate records of litter weights, weaning weights, daily gains, feed consumption, etc.
  - (7) Take steps to increase labor efficiency.
  - (8) Keep herd flexible so that it may be expanded or reduced easily, depending upon market conditions and feed supplies.
  - (9) Strive for breed improvement through record keeping and severe culling.
  - (10) Study marketing trends and select markets carefully.

McLEAN COUNTY SYSTEM:
The McLean County System was devised some years ago and in practicing such a system it controls Round Worms and Internal Parasites that abound in hog pens and yards on which hogs are raised. Tests have shown that as much as 50 lbs. less feed were required to produce 100 lbs. of pork when Round Worms were not present.

The essentials of the McLean system are as follows:

- (1) Farrowing pens are thoroughly scrubbed with Lye and hot water and sprayed with a good disinfectant.
- (2) The sow is washed before entering the farrowing pen so that all dirt which may contain Round Worm eggs is removed.
- (3) The sow and baby pigs are confined to the farrowing pen until moved to pasture, at which time they are hauled (not driven) to the pasture in which there have been no pigs for at least a year. Under such a plan a system of rotation of pastures is essential, with one year of cultivated crop between hog pastures is preferred.
- (4) Of course during the winter month: the same system should be used and when the baby pigs are about ten days old remove the sow and litter from the pen and give it a good scrubbing, follow the same procedure of washing the sow and baby pigs before returning to the clean pen.
- (5) The young pigs are kept on this clean pasture until they are four months old at which time they are less susceptible to the ravages of the Round Worms.

The above system not only controls the Round Worm problem but also prevents other internal parasites and filth born diseases from taking their toll.

Any of the common disinfectants will be of value in keeping bacteria down but are of little or no avail in the destruction of Round Worm eggs. The most effective agent in the destruction of Round Worm eggs is hot water, the hotter the better! The program as outlined above will pay dividends and will be found to be very practical if put into use.

Saving money... and writing cheques

A bank offers you two types of deposit account, Savings and Current.

If your main purpose is to save, to accumulate funds, it's good to have a Savings account.

If you write cheques frequently, you will like the many advantages of a Current account.

The money you leave in a Savings account earns interest, and your bank book gives you an up-to-date, continuing record of your financial progress. If your funds are active, with frequent deposits and withdrawals, a Current account provides a special service; a monthly statement, together with your cancelled cheques—useful as receipts and a ready reference for budgeting bookkeeping and other purposes.

IMPORTANT TO

DOG OWNERS

-re LEAN RED MEAT

A dog's craving for lean red meat is a natural craving for the rich protein he needs for normal health and development.

Dogs on a high protein diet show it in their glossy coats, their bright eyes and alertness, their general good health and happy disposition.

It is not how much but what you feed your dog which is really important.

If your dog is showing an unthrifty coat, lacks normal health and pep, consult your Veterinarian immediately. On the other hand such unfavorable symptoms may be due to lack of proper proteins, vitamins and minerals.

Lean red meat is most important, and this may be supplied economically by Ken-L-Ration, the complete and properly balanced food for dogs of all breeds.

Recommended by leading Veterinarians, Ken-L-Ration contains all known "dog health" proteins, vitamins and minerals.

For economy, Ken-L-Ration may be mixed with Ken-L-Meat, also a complete dog food, and which is rich in meat meal, meat flavor and nourishment.
