Students Spend Two Weeks In N.Y. Negro Slum Area

By CHRIS HARTE
NEW YORK (AP)—Nineteen of us—mostly summer interns fresh from the clean, well-appointed offices of congressmen in Washington—gathered in an old brownstone house in the heart of Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant district. Eager but apprehensive, we had come to work in the cornerstone project, a privately financed program designed to give college students a close-in look at life and problems in the teeming Negro tenements. The two weeks' mission was to "live beside, work with and learn from the disadvantaged."

We got an abrupt introduction to ghetto life. None of us ever had seen raw meat shovelled from a truck, some pieces falling into boxes and some on to the street. I saw a deliveryman scoop up the scattered hunks of meat from the street and carry it in a shovel directly to a store container. RATES HIGH—STORES POOR—Food prices were higher than any of us had seen, yet the quality and condition of the stores was uniformly poor. Almost every house we saw was unfit to live in by our standards. There were no hospitals in an area of at least 300,000 persons. Residents must wait 15 to 30 minutes for an ambulance. There were no outdoor swimming pools. Parks and ball fields were few and overcrowded. Some of the 15 boys and four girls in our group may have expected to be called "whitey," but we were surprised at widespread acceptance. I spent the mornings in small, adult-led groups trying to organize neighborhood tenants to apply pressure on landlords and city agencies. We conducted surveys, tried to get residents to talk freely about their hardships, and followed up on major grievances. GET SOME RESULTS—Sometimes we could convince landlords to make repairs for which they were legally responsible. But more often official prodding was necessary. Almost half of all Bedford-Stuyvesant families earn less than the $4,392 a year which has been shipped from east and west coast ports. N. Nelpusov, vice-president of Exporikhele, told the Canadians about the Hudson Bay stops. His organization handles Soviet grain shipments. The Canadian farmers leave today for Krasnodar and return Aug. 22.

Tournament Ends Today

By KORKY KOROLUK
CALGARY (CP)—Frank Fowler of Calgary carded a four-under-par 67 Friday to take the second-round lead in the Association championship with Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship with 136, six under par. Fowler was one of four players tied at 69, two under par, after the opening round Thursday.

In second place with one round remaining in the 54-hole tournament is Moe Norman of Gifford, Ont., with 68-69-137. Will Homenuik of Winnipeg, opening round leader with a six-under-par 65, ballooned to a 74 Friday. He held third place with a 36-hole total of 139, three under par.

Four players were deadlocked at 140—Lyle Crawford of Vancouver had 73-67, Jack Bissegger of Beloeil, Que., 72-68, Jack Kay of Toronto 70-70, and Neil Green of Calgary 69-71. Jim Collins of Winnipeg and Bill Wright Jr. of Edmonton each had 141. ### WESTERN FUNERALS

CORBETT-FUNERAL—The funeral of Heber Corbett was held Thursday afternoon from his home to Alberton United Church where service was conducted by Rev. Ronald Pocklington. Hymns were The Lord's My Shepherd and Rock of Ages. Pall bearers were Perley Hardy, Lloyd Oliver, Henry Myers, Wilfred Gaudin, Herbert Leavitt and Don Campbell. Flower bearers were Jimmy Corbett, Leigh Corbett, Roy Campbell and Wesley Hardy. Interment was in Woodlawn cemetery. During the hour of the funeral all places of business were closed out of respect to Mr. Corbett who had been one of the town's merchants for many years.

the par-three 18th hole when his five-iron shot from the tee hit the pin and stopped an inch from the hole.

Of the four birdies on Fowler's card, two came on tap-in putts. The others were six-footers. He used only 29 putts in all.

Fowler hit all greens except the second, where he was only a foot off. He was not over par on any hole Friday.

ENDS TODAY
The tournament ends today after 54 holes of play. The winner will receive $2,000 of the $15,000 purse.

Crawford's card showed five birdies and only one hole over par.

Two of the birdies were scored with long putts—40 feet on the 10th and 18 feet on the 16th. The one-over-par was a six on the 51st-ward 17th. In three rounds Crawford has played here—including the pro-amateur Wednesday—he has been over par on only four holes.

The weather was cold and windy for the second straight day, and about noon rain began to fall. But Crawford said he enjoyed the adverse conditions.

Crawford has never won the CPGA. The closest he has come was a fourth-place finish in Edmonton in 1963 in the tournament won by Al Balding.

Johnson Urges New Planning For Latin America Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has called for the economic integration of Latin America and a united drive to raise living standards.

In what was described by high U.S. government officials as an attempt to apply a "second-state booster" to the U.S.-supported Alliance for Progress aid program for Latin America, Johnson declared "the alliance must set new sights."

Several months ago, in a visit to Mexico, Johnson proposed a meeting of hemisphere chiefs of state. He gave no clue on a possible meeting date in a speech today on the fifth anniversary of the alliance, though the target date is understood to be early December.

Officials described the president's speech as a major one, aimed at helping prepare a possible agenda for the Hemisphere summit. In it Johnson listed some priorities to consider in the years ahead. He said:

"The question is whether progress lies ahead in unity of isolation. Our sister republics in Latin America must decide that question for themselves. For our part, we believe that effective unity is vital to the needs of expanding populations."

Johnson also listed education, agriculture and arms limitaeconomic development had as its goal a 2.5-per-cent increase in the average Latin American income.

Now, the president said, the growth rate is larger than that and in the future "annual per capita growth rates should increase to the range of four to six per cent."

Russians May Buy Cattle From Canada

MOSCOW (CP)—Russia plans to buy breeding cattle from Canada this year, Canadian farmers were told here Thursday.

Members of a 40-member group of Canadian farmers visiting Moscow said government officials assured them of the purchase plans at a long meeting held to discuss Canadian-Soviet trading prospects.

The farmers said they were told Russian officials would fly to Canada within the next few weeks to conclude a deal on cattle purchases. No details or quantities were disclosed.

The Canadians, who arrived here Wednesday night on a seven-day visit, were received by Ivan Volochenko, deputy minister of agriculture, and a large group of Soviet farming and trade specialists. They are on a 33-day tour of 10 European countries.

Members of the group said they were also assured that Russia plans to make use of port facilities at Churchill, Man., to move some grain recently bought from Canada. Canada's prairie provinces have been campaigning for such shipping routes. Up to now all Canadian wheat sold to Russia
