Dr. E. M. Found Delivers Speech

The association of diabetes and tuberculosis has been recognized for many years, but so far as experience in this province is concerned the results are encouraging to anyone who may be thinking of this combination of ailments.

This was the idea taken from an address delivered by Dr. E. M. Found last evening to the P.E.I. Branch of the Canadian Diabetic Association. The medical superintendent of the Provincial Sanatorium spoke on "diabetes and chest diseases". Tuberculosis was only one of the chest ailments discussed.

last 30 years, Dr. Found said the picture is becoming increasingly brighter for the diabetic who may develop an infection, and this includes chest disease.

Experience in the Nova Scotia Sanatorium—there were 106 diabetics in 30 years—has shown that the largest number of severe diabetics were in the 20 to 29-year old group.

In 40 of those cases the tuberculosis was diagnosed before the diabetes, in 40 cases the diabetes was diagnosed first. In the remaining 18 cases the diagnosis of both conditions took place during the initial investigation.

"All authorities agree," Dr. Found said, "that the two diseases occur together with sufficient frequency so that all diabetics, if their tuberculin test is positive, should have chest X-rays as part of their routine."

There have been only six diabetics who have been tubercular patients in the last quarter century at the Provincial Sanatorium here. All of them survived and all of them are in good health and are living busy, useful lives, Dr. Found assured.

Noting the improvement in the lot of the diabetic in the examination, or once yearly.

"Probably the most important factor in the management of any abnormal physical condition is that the patient accept the diagnosis, having done this, if he follows the rules laid down by scientific research... there is no reason why he cannot live a normal and productive life," Dr. Found emphasized.

Dr. Found was introduced by Sister Frances Loyola, president of the association, who presided. He was thanked by Miss Mary Gillis, RN, of Morell for his talk.

Mrs. W.R. Godfrey, Marshfield received a welcome after being absent since last year. Mrs. Godfrey was in the P.E.I. Hospital some two and one-half months as the result of an accident. She is the chairman of the program committee.

Charles Praught, honorary president of the Island branch and vice-president of the Canadian Diabetic Association said 912 persons were receiving diabetic drugs (they are free) at Dec. 31, 1965. Experience across the country has suggested there are three undiscovered diabetics for every known case.

New cases were being discovered last year at the rate of 14 per month, said Mr. Praught who is the provincial administrator of the program which provides free drugs to diabetics.

Commercial Opportunities Are Stressed By Director

"Expo 67 represents one of the greatest commercial opportunities that have ever been presented to the Canadian business community, and as in the case of all opportunities, the onus is on the business man to make use of it. There can no longer be any doubt whatever of this value."

This was a statement made by William Scully, president of the Steel Company of Canada Limited and related by Major-General E.C. Plow, Expo '67 director for the Atlantic Region, to an audience at the Confederation Centre Lecture Theatre in conclusion of his illustrated address last night. The lecture was hosted by the Women's Committee of the Confederation Centre Gallery and Museum and arranged by the P.E.I. Women's Expo Committee. Mrs. Helen MacDonald, chairman of the P.E.I. Women's Expo Committee, presided at the meeting.

General Plow opened his address with definitions of the terms used in connection with the Centennial celebrations. Some of the terms defined by him were Centennial Commission, Centennial Council and local Centennial Committees. These definitions allowed General Plow to continue through his lecture with appreciated continuity.

Following a brief address he then began the illustrated portion of his address by employing slides which showed the site of Expo and some of the pavilions. The slides included some of the constructions which have already been erected although they were not to date. However he was able through personal knowledge to explain by the use of the slides available the actual present condition of these construction sites.

The site of Expo is an Island in the middle of the St. Lawrence River, called St. Helen's Island which is a park. It has been enlarged and the mud banks surrounding the island were filled and will also be employed for site of Exhibition. General Plow stated that "the exhibition will be staged in four principal sectors in an overall area close to 1,000 acres: MacKay Pier, Le Verte, Be Ronde and Notre Dame. He went on to illustrate the transportation facilities which will be available and give details of the primary and secondary systems.

The theme which the exhibition orbits on was stressed by

Eric Kipping Issues Advice

KENSINGTON — Don't wait for the government, do it yourself, was the advice given by Eric Kipping at a dinner attended by students of the Kensington district community school and their guests yesterday.

Mr. Kipping, assistant manager of the Island Development Company Limited, vice-president of Atlantic Provinces Economic Council and vice-chairman of the rural Development Council, was speaking on the Island Development Company which, he said, was a private company incorporated under Island laws, noting that the company is mostly owned by island shareholders with a Stanley Bridge man, Wendell MacKay, as manager-director.

"Many Islanders have a stake in the company and the company has quite a stake in the Island," Mr. Kipping stated. "Study, plan and participate in the development of P.E.I.," Mr. Kipping quoted as the aims and objectives of the company.

"All our work," he said, "will follow the best conservation principles and the policy of the company is to pass on for the use of others all knowledge gained."

Already owned and operated by the company is the Charlottetown Hotel, Shed Acre Farm at Covehead where 130 head of beef cattle, a basic herd of breeding sows and some 400 hogs are kept. Royal Malpeque Oyster Company, most of Boughton Island and a tuna boat.

Mr. Kipping commended the community school students saying, "it seems to me the kind of spirit you have shown is the kind which will guarantee that our Island will be out on the main stream of 20th century progress. Keep up the good work and encourage others to follow your good example. You have enhanced the stature of your community."

The speaker was introduced by Archie Johnstone and was thanked by Mrs. George Brookins.

Leigh Paynter, a member of the public speaking class was master of ceremonies and other members were heard during the evening.

Mrs. Leigh Paynter who spoke on the class was introduced by Edward MacGowan and thanked by Eric Heaney.

Mrs. Aubrey Brokins thanked the Board of Trade and Kensington Regional High School Board for promoting the course and the chairman of the school board, Austin Pendergast responded and expressed satisfaction in the success of the school.

Construction Men Attend Meetings

SUMMERSIDE — Construction workers who attended meetings here yesterday conducted by Rejean Charlebois, representative of the Laborers International Union, will meet again this morning after eliminating yesterday's activities with a protest parade through town.

Over 100 workers walked off various projects yesterday morning in a drive for a better wage scale. On one project, the new high school being constructed by Williams, Murphy and MacLeod, it was unofficially reported that over half of the workers had walked off the job.

Prior to leaving for Moncton yesterday afternoon Mr. Charlebois stated "we're not on strike; we're just holding meetings from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 5."

Yesterday's meetings were held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on First Street and yesterday afternoon over 40 cars bearing slogans on their vehicles paraded around town and up to the major construction projects. The parade was headed by an ancient hearse from Charlottetown bearing a banner which read "the died of starvation".

Mr. Charlebois said the subcontractors were ready to accept the proposal of the workers but had to wait for the next move by the main contractors "who hire them".

He added however, "I've never seen workers get beaten yet in their demands if they stick together" and continued "it takes five years to train most tradesmen. They (the contractors) just can't take men off the street to work on jobs as tradesmen".

The union representative's reason for his trip to Moncton yesterday where his office is situated, is to take a strike vote with various construction companies in that city.

"We went through the procedure of Law in Moncton," he said. "If the construction companies don't accept our proposal we go on strike and start picketing."

Commenting on the different law in this province compared to the one in New Brunswick regarding strikes, he said "we can't do that here."

Construction Is Underway

MONTAGUE — Construction on the Cardigan Consolidated Elementary School at the junction of the Cardigan Road and the Lower Georgetown Road was begun on Monday of this week.

The school when completed will consist of twelve classrooms, a library, a teachers room and auditorium. Twelve teachers and a principal will be engaged to handle the school. Four buses of 48 passenger seats and one of 60 seat capacity have been tendered for to cover the districts of Cardigan North, Cardross, Corville, Glen Fanning, Des Gros Marsh, St. Georges, Rosemeath and possibly more in the near future.

The contract was let to Williams, Murphy, MacLeod of Summerside for $268,000 approximately. The construction is expected to be completed in September and ready for the fall session. The school is on a lot of approximately five acres and for the present will be under the direction of 10 trustees with Rev. Dr. MacKenzie as chairman.

Western Building Destroyed

SUMMERSIDE — Fire last night destroyed a familiar landmark here, the former Queen Hotel which is situated on the water front off Queen Street.

The fire was first discovered at approximately 9:35 p.m. and at press time fire department vehicles were still at the scene where all that remained was a gutted shell.

The building was sold to the Summerside Co-op some six years ago for a warehouse. Up to the time of its sale the building had been operated as a hotel for a number of years by Mrs. Ernest MacQuarrie.

Housed in the building was a quantity of flour, feed, and groceries. No loss estimate was available at a late hour last night, due to the unavailability of Coop Manager John MacDonald.

Shortly before press time the fire department answered a call to a building at the intersection of Duke and Notre Dame street which proved to be a false alarm.

FEDERAL AID

average salaries of teachers were the lowest in Canada.

"We are, as partners in this confederation entitled to enjoy national standards and since, through no fault of our own, we are not able to raise the money to pay for them, we must receive Federal assistance," Mr. McQuaid argued.

The Kings-MP pointed out that simply because taxes were paid in one province did not mean that the revenue was necessarily produced in that province. Corporations and individuals in central provinces who paid taxes to Ottawa earned their income from businesses carried on in all provinces.

OTHERS GROW RICH
"We in P.E.I. have seen other provinces grow rich at our expense. We see every day the best of our youth attracted to other provinces just when they are becoming an asset to us. We are more than happy we have been able to make this contribution to the economy of other parts of Canada but we cannot really afford it," he said.

He said any attempt to meet this need based on a formula of universal application was doomed to failure. In asking for special treatment the Island province must not be looked on as a poor relation or a beggar. "Ahead of us lie great and challenging opportunities but if we are to make the most of them in P.E.I. it is essential that we achieve more equitable and satisfactory fiscal arrangements based on the fundamental principle of fiscal need. This is a situation which demands immediate action so that the people of P.E.I. may enjoy the same standards of public service as are being enjoyed in other parts of Canada," Mr. McQuaid concluded.
