Fencing: UPEI'S Hidden Sport

James Kyathfield

if there is enough interest, free funds for travel to Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, and overseas. There is no limit to how far you can go in this sport.

Even though fencing is recognized as a European sport, there is a good possibility that a Canadian will win a medal at this year's olympics. As for the Island, there are many regional medal winners, and this year our sabre team is recognized as the best in the Maritimes.

Of course this is not the only aspect of the club; we also have parties, films, and many other social activities. The only cost to you is a trip to the UPEI gym, and if you're interested enough to join, the cost to cover insurance and membership, which is next to nothing.

So I hope that I will see you at the gym any Saturday morning before noon, if not to try, just to watch.

Fencing- ancient art, modern sport. It has been likened to playing chess and running the 100 yard dash at the same time. It is a thinking man's sport. Not that it is only meant for men; some of the women from the Island have made significant contributions to the sport around our region as well as nationally.

The sport consists of three different weapons: the foil, the epee, and the sabre, each with their individual rules. One of these will certainly appeal to the most diverse tastes. Not only is there the appeal of a competitive and recreational club, but there are also added bonuses such as free coaching, free equipment use, and,
