DON'T forget the lecture by Rev. Wm. Hamlyn, Tuesday night, in Euston Street Hall. Subject, "Why we remember the Fifth." Silver collection.

WRIGHT'S HALL.—Rev. W. J. Kirby, W. P., of Victoria Division, will preside at the temperance meeting. Don't forget the place, Wright's Hall, 8 o'clock Monday.

THE COBAN.—The SS. Coban sailing from Montreal Nov. 3 will be due at Charlottetown on Wednesday morning, Nov. 6, and not on Monday morning as advertised.

TEMPERANCE SERMON.—Rev. W. J. Kirby will deliver a temperance sermon in the Second Methodist Church to-morrow evening. All persons interested in temperance are invited.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.—Dr. McLeod will give a paper before the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock. Subject, "Sanitary Surroundings, Ancient and Modern."

GOSPEL MEETING.—Remember the Gospel Meeting in Philharmonic Hall, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by the Railway Men. Strangers always welcome. Lesson Eccl. 12-1, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth.

A VALUABLE PURCHASE.—Mr. J.B. Ham, of St. John, according to the Sun, has imported from P. E. Island, a fine standard bred bay filly four years old, by Preceptor out of Hernando, and a half sister of Promoter. She is a handsome animal.

A FINE MARKET.—A St. John's, Nfld., correspondent of the Halifax Recorder says: Tell your people that there will be a fine market for the sale of all kinds of agricultural products, meats, etc., here this fall, right up to the end of the year.

SCOTT ACT.—Three more summonses have been served, all returnable on Thursday. Annie Curley, Queen Street, and Sarah Jane Higgins, Great George Street, each received a first offence document, and Catherine Collins, Richmond Street, was favored with one for a second offence.

AN ISLANDER INJURED.—We hear with regret that Mr. Fred. B. Armour, son of Mr. Nelson Armour, of the Island Railway, who has been in the employ of the Coffin Valve Co., at Neponset, Mass., for some time past, had the front part of his foot so badly crushed on Tuesday last as to necessitate the amputation of the great toe.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.—Ralph McDonald, son of Dr. McDonald of Antigonish, met with a peculiar accident a few evenings ago. While at supper a needle from a piece of bread lodged in his throat, penetrating one of the tonsils and remaining imbedded there. After an operation lasting one hour a surgeon removed the needle.

HOCKEY.—A most enthusiastic meeting of the Victoria Hockey Club was held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening. There was a large attendance, and hockey was thoroughly discussed. Plans were laid for the coming winter, and a committee was appointed to a meet a committee from the Charlottetown Club with a view to forming a hockey league.

JOURNALISTIC.—Fredericton has a new daily paper—the Herald. It is four pages, seven columns to a page, and announces that it is "in the journalistic field in response to the public demand for a clean, wholesome, interesting and readable local paper." The number before us is very interesting, being well filled with readable news matter. Mr. L. C. McNutt, an experienced journalist, is editor, and "The Herald Publishing Company" are the publishers.

KILLED ABROAD.—Mr. and Mrs. William Howard, of Winsloe, according to a correspondent of the Moncton Times, a few days ago received the very sad intelligence that their son James, 28 years of age, who has been away from home for several years, was accidentally killed by an explosion where he was working in California. His parents had not heard from him for about two years, and were very anxious concerning him when they were shocked with the above sad news.

WAS PROBABLY DROWNED.—The Moncton Transcript says: Fred Troutmann, a Dane, who had been living at Baie Verte for the past year, left that place in a large open boat, loaded with boards, to proceed to Cape Traverse, P. E. Island, on Saturday, the 19th Oct., during the very hard gale that prevailed on that day. Searching enquiries have been made all over the Island and the Nova Scotia mainland, as to any knowledge of him without success. It is supposed that the boat foundered, as it was old and leaky, and that the poor unfortunate foreigner has met a watery grave.

PERSONAL.

Mr. D. W. Finlayson and bride have returned to Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McCarey returned from their wedding trip last evening.

Prof. Robertson and Mr. Dillion are visiting the factories at Cornwall and Winsloe to-day.

Hon. George Forbes, Vernon River Bridge, is in the city. He is registered at the Queen Hotel.

It is said that Rev. J. H. Hector, a colored clergyman of rare merit as an orator, is to lecture in Charlottetown next month.

It is pleasing to hear that the health of Rev. D. Sutherland has improved sufficiently to enable him to preach at both services to-morrow.

Mr. W. Avard, of Shediac, who has been at the Queen Hotel the past day or two, left for Summerside this morning and expects to return to-night. Mr. Avard is here on a horse buying expedition.

Mr. A. H. Holland, formerly traveller for McMaster & Co., Toronto, and who has recently branched out in the dry goods business on his own account, is here on a business trip. He is at the Queen Hotel.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Board of Central Methodist church held last evening at the close of the union prayer meeting, a unanimous call was extended to Rev. W. W Brewer to the pastorate of the Central Methodist church for another year, which was accepted.—Moncton Times.

FOOTBALL.—A football match between the Prince of Wales and St. Dunstan's College teams began this afternoon at half-past three o'clock in Victoria Park. The following players compose the Prince of Wales College team:

AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, cures the colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Is pleasnt to the taste. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.—m. w. f. wkly—1 y

P. E. ISLAND HOSPITAL.—The closing exercises of the graduating class of 1895 of the P. E. Island hospital's training school for nurses, will be held in Philharmonic Hall, Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th, at 8 o'clock. The public are cordially invited. Dr. McLeod will deliver the Valedictory address, and Judge Fitzgerald and others will also speak. The proceedings will be interspersed with music, vocal and instrumental. Admission free. 3in.

MEETING.—Temperance meeting in Wright's Hall, Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The representatives of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the South American colonies held a meeting a few days ago, in Sir Charles Tupper's office in London, to discuss the Pacific cable scheme. The colonies are willing to bear their share of the expense of the cable, and upon the return of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain to London a discussion will be held at the Colonial Office.

Chamber Furniture.

The last response we had from our FACTORY in the CHAMBER SUITE line may be read in lines of finest goods, handsomest finishes and at selling figures that would reasonably make a person believe they were manufactured by a sort of foundry process. We make them quick, but can't melt up lumber, hardware, mirror plates, varnish, etc., and run them in a mold. Perhaps that's the reason there's no cast iron prices about them.

IGNORANCE OF THE SCRIPTURES.

(Christian Guardian.)

In a recent article we pointed to significant indications of the sad ignorance of the Scriptures which existed even among the youth of Protestant families. We do not think that the prevalence of this ignorance has been exaggerated; nor can we claim any exemption for Canadians. It is alarming to find this knowledge so meagre where it ought to be most ample. It ought to be matter for earnest searchings of heart to ascertain why this is so in a Protestant country where the Bible is the corner stone of our religion and of our liberties. Some of these causes have been suggested by the writer in the New York Independent to whom we have already referred and by others. Other causes may present themselves to our readers. All these causes can, we think, be classified under two heads. They lie partly in the changed conditions of life, and partly in the changed relations of the Bible itself to our literature and much of our religious thought.

The latter are, perhaps, the most indicative of danger. Let us look at them first. Viewing the Bible as a portion of literature, and especially of religious literature, it does not hold the unique place it held fifty years ago. Books then were comparatively costly, and proportionately scarce in the majority of homes. The library consisted, perhaps, of a score or two of volumes; a few old histories, a few volumes of poetry and travels, some volumes of sermons and religious literature, and the Bible. Since then the literary activity has been enormous. The cheap multiplication of books and the institution of libraries bring a vast variety of reading within reach of the poorest. The Bible is no longer the one book as it used to be in myriads of families. It has been buried under an avalanche of heterogeneous literature.

Now, if all this literature were religious in its spirit, and, at least, favorable to the claims of the Scriptures, the danger, though real, would not be so great. It would be simply the danger of neglect. But it is not the mere risk of being overlooked which threatens the Divine Word. There is an atmosphere of unbelief which threatens to extinguish genuine reverence of the Scriptures. The novel, the review article, the light essay and the newspaper furnish largely the mental pabulum of thousands. Many books which profess to popularize science are animated by a spirit hostile to revelation. Where overt enmity is not displayed, there is often the sneer, the inuendo, the half expressed doubt, which chills and kills interest in the Scriptures, and they lose their hold upon the life and opinions of the young.

The second source of the evil we deplore lies in the family itself. There is a decline in family life. The interests external to the home have broken up the old-fashioned, simple family life. Parents are not so much with their children, and when with them are full of other interests. Children are attracted by the fascinations and excitements of the life outside the family circle. The Bible is not read as it used to be in the family. It is not memorized as it was. The habit of family prayer is not as common as it used to be; and even where family prayers are offered the reading of Scripture is too often perfunctory. There is no real study of the Bible in the home. In many houses the Bible is not opened except on Sunday, and in many, alas, scarcely then. Even private devotions, in these days of rush and worry, are curtailed. There is little of systematic private Bible reading and study.

Very little has been done to meet the change in family life. The day school, even when the Bible is read, does not do so. The Sunday-school is an invaluable helper, but at the best it supplies only one half hour of Bible study in the week; while the teachers are often incompetent and the methods most superficial. The pulpit does not do the work it should do in relation to Bible study. The majority of sermons are built upon the slenderest Bibical foundation. They are often hortatory or rhetorical. Few are expository. The pulpit is thus robbed of its chief strength and attraction, while it fails to utilize its grandest opportunity for the furtherance of the divine truths, and the building up of the people in a sound and accurate knowledge of the Scriptures. These are among the chief causes of the prevailing ignorance of the Scriptures, and to a large extent they indicate the nature and source of the remedies which must be applied.

CHEERFULNESS IN RELATION TO HEALTH.

An Article Written by Wm. D. H. Brown, M. D., of Chicago, Formerly of Charlottetown, Clipped from American Youth.

Cheerfulness is a potent factor in the cure of all diseases, more especially those of the stomach and liver, as those large organs are dependent on healthful circulation of the blood for their large supply of secretions in order to insure good digestions. The quality and quantity of the secretions are materially influenced by a happy mental state, whilst the opposite as occasioned by fear, anxiety or anger is destructive in disordering the digestion, increasing or stopping the flow of bile, irritating the heart and brain, and rapidly exhausting the nervous system. These emotions more than anything else tend to a disordered state of circulation.

I have in mind a family under my care who adopted the plan of being merry at meals, conjoined with good healthy living for the sake of one very delicate member, with astonishing results to all. In many cases considered hopeless hope and a cheerful state has been the starting point. We begin to see that those of olden times had some good use for the merry-making clown at the dinner table. A merry, hearty-looking man stated to me that he was never sick, and he supposed the reason was that he was very moderate, and took everything easy, never worrying or anxious about anything. This "seemingly" would not suit most of us, who look at life in a carefully practical way, but, no doubt, many of us would be much benefitted by adopting more of this cheerful, happy-go-lucky state. Who does not enjoy the company of the man or woman who is continually taking nature's sweet ish movements. Some may say this is all very well, but our temperament is not of the cheerful kind. True, but we can cultivate the habit of body and mind most conducive to the growth of this state. Let the mind take in cheerful impressions, and close to what is gloomy. Of course, it is not a cure-all. One may be happy and cheerful, and yet a constant sufferer, as in severe cases of organic trouble; while, if agreeable emotions can be started, they set in motion nervous currents which stimulate, if ever so feeble, the blood, brain and nervous system into healthful activity, making a good starting point for the careful physician to use treatment which should be as nearly allied to nature's methods as possible.

GET RID OF RHEUMATISM

To effectually drive rheumatism out of the system, take a course of Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic.

To instantly relieve rheumatic pains, apply Dr. Manning's german remedy, the most successful of all pain relievers.

In these two suggestions lie the hope of even the most helpless victim of this disease. Present relief and speedy and permanent cure are involved in the use of the two great remedies mentioned. Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic is most effective flesh and blood builder, blood purifier and nerve and brain invigorator. It restores health. No household should be without the tonic and the german remedy. Especially should the person afflicted with rheumatism turn to them at this season. They are sold by all druggists and dealers, each costing fifty cents per bottle, or six bottles for $2.50, and are both manufactured only by the Hawker Medicine Co. (Ltd.) St John, N. B., and New York City. Oct. 26 & wky

For forty-two positions as male teachers in government primary schools there were 1,850 applications in Paris last year, and for forty-three places as women teachers 7,139. One place as janitor brought 134 candidates; eight as keepers of tobacco shops brought 2,679, and one for a newspaper stand 3,150.

It Acted Like a Charm!

MR. H. F. COHOON, of Cohoon & Bent, Hardware Merchants of New Glasgow, N. CURED BY SCOTT'S SARSAPARILLA

You may relieve a cold in the head by local applications, but all the snuffs, powders, sprays, salves and balms on earth won't cure catarrh. Scott's Sarsaparilla will, because it acts constitutionally with pure blood, reaching every part of the system, searching out the fount of mucous accumulations, removing the cause of their being. The reason it cures catarrh is on account of the newly discovered properties it contains.
