Big Upsets In Qualifying Rounds For United States Open Golf Tournament

New Golf Pro Quite Taken With Course

"Happy days are here again!" flags are flying again at the Belvedere Links and crowds of eager and enthusiastic players are swinging their clubs again, limbering up for the formal opening of the season.

The first match of the season is scheduled for Empire Day, May 24th.

Fairways and greens have come through the winter in exceptionally good condition.

Temporary greens are being used at present but it is expected that all permanent greens will be in play in a short time.

Jack Anderson, the new Scottish Pro, is on the job. He is an excellent player and ready and anxious to instruct all old and new players in the fine points of the game. Jack is also an expert club maker and has some really beautiful clubs on hand. He is glad to help players select clubs suitable for their particular requirements.

Mr. Anderson is delighted with the court and considers it compares favorably with many of the famous Scottish courses.

An exceptionally successful season's golf is anticipated and a large number of new applications for membership have already been received.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, May 11.—Robert T. Gray, of Windsor, Ont., earned the right to try for the United States open golf crown next month by shooting two steady rounds at Detroit today that were good enough for a qualifying berth.

Gray, professional at the Essex County Club, had the shot for a 36-hole record that read 71-75-148. He took one of the six qualifying places allotted to the Detroit district, Jake Fasseck of Jackson, Mich., was best for that area with 145.

Jimmy Dante, freckled-faced pro from Bradburn, N.J., beat a brisk wind and a bulky field of 190 starters to lead metropolitan New York's 19 qualifiers for the championship. He had a 36-hole aggregate of 150, five shots over par.

Willie MacFinlane, 1925 open titleholder, Jimmy Hines, third ranking money winner of last winter's gold rush, and George Voigt, Walker Cup player, failed to qualify in the best that saw 18 qualify.

The carriage among "big name" seekers after the crown, to be fought for at Baltusrol, N.J., starting June 4, was heavy as more than 1,200 shotmakers trod 28 courses the country over seeking qualifying places.

The ranking upset was provided by Lawson Little, former British and United States amateur king who turned pro a few weeks ago. The best of the big-formalists could do, at Hartford, Conn., was 73-81-152. That was three strokes more than the total necessary to qualify in that area.

At Newton Square, Pa., "Fidgety Leo" Diegel, many times Canadian Open Champ, and old Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trickshot peer, fell by the bunkers. Diegel's 73-81-154 was one stroke too high. Kirkwood fired an 81 in the morning and didn't bother shooting a second 20 holes.

Scotty Campbell of Seattle, twice winner of the Canadian amateur crown and favored to land a spot in the Pacific Northwest contingent, did not appear for the trials at Portland, Ore. The reason was not immediately explained.

Two front-runners, Johnny Revolta and Tommy Armour, finished one-two at Chicago. Revolta shot 143 while the "silver Scot" needed two strokes more to qualify.

Also qualifying at Chicago was the veteran Chick Evans, one of the country's best known amateurs. His cards were 74-78.

Joe Turnes and Harold McSpaden, well known pros, paced the Hartford field, the former with 70-74 and McSpaden with 73-72. "Sherrin" Munson, a Yale sophomore, was next in this district with 73-72.

Prince Grocery, 3234.
Old Timers lost only the first string in last night's match, dropping 11 pins to their strong opponents. In the two other strings they earned a decisive advantage.

Prince Grocery had taken the two first matches of the finals with little trouble and had been favorite to take the series three straight, but Old Timers won the third match prolonging the series and after another victory tonight, stood even chances of taking the title.

J. Webster, Old Timers, had even three string total with 73; J. Cameron, Prince Grocery, was high single man with 316.

Muzz Patrick Wins Decision Over Gould

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, May 11.—Montreal's belting Patrick, 26-year-old Murray of the great hockey clan, tonight won the Catholic Youth Association's heavyweight boxing championship by easily outpointing Bill Gould of the Bronx in the three-round tournament final.

The Dominion's famous all-around athlete failed to knock his man, after winning his way to the finals by knocking out two opponents in the preliminaries. However, the Canadian heavyweight amateur champ made a punching bag out of the clever and game Gould.

Short, snappy punches to the body and head had Gould backpedalling and covering up from the opening bell. Twice the youngest son of Lester Patrick, New York Ranger mentor, staggered his opponent with short smashes to the head, but Gould managed to roll away from finishing punches.

The second round was a duplication of the first, with the crowd cheering the best of his courage. Gould came to life for a few seconds in the third and final frame and tried to exchange belts with Patrick, who revelled in that sort of going and soon had the Bronx heavyweight reeling against the ropes. Gould barely managed to last the final seconds.

James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, presented Patrick with the titular belt as a crowd of 7,000 roared its acclaim.

"Muzz," who was a defence star with the New York Rovers of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League last season, was undecided tonight whether or not he would turn professional and become Manhattan's "white hope" or return to Canada and compete in the Olympic trials at Montreal. However, he is much sought after by professional managers here and may jump into the monied ranks this week.

Albany Senators Break 15 Game Losing Streak

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, May 11.—The Albany Senators shattered their 15-game losing streak here today when they slugged the offerings of southpaw Jimmy Pattison for six innings to gain a 7-3 decision over the Maple Leafs in the opening game of the series. Pattison was nicked for 12 hits including homers over the right field fence by Pierson and Jolley, each coming with a man on base.

Leon Pettit went the route for the Senators, allowing seven hits, five of which were made in the first three innings. George Murray pitched effectively after he relieved Pattison starting the seventh.

Harvard Retains Track Title As Fire Menaced

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 10.—A raging fire forced 40 sports writers and telegraphers to flee from the old stadium press box a few seconds after the Harvard track forces retained their heptagonal meet title with a total of 64 1-5 points here Saturday.

The announcer was calling the final team scores, the rest of which were Cornell 45 1-5, Dartmouth 36 11-15, Yale 31 1-5, Princeton 31, Pennsylvania 20 and Columbia 11 2-3, when flames broke out in a maze of wires under the wooden flooring of the 180-foot stand.

Although the fire was discovered almost immediately, the flames, fanned by a strong wind, were spreading when the last person escaped from the box.

The press structure, which cost $10,000, was a total loss. Three firemen were almost trapped when the steel uprights twisted and the metal roof collapsed.

Milton Green, the Harvard captain, was the outstanding competitor in the meet with three record-breaking victories, one of which was disallowed because of the favoring wind.

Green won the 110-metres high and the 200-metres low hurdles events as well as the broad jump. His winning leap of 24 feet 7 inches was accepted as a new record, as was his 23.5 seconds performance in his successful low hurdles trial during the morning.

He opened the afternoon program with a 14.0 seconds victory in the 110-metres high hurdles. This was a 2.5ths second under his own record for that event but the officials ruled he was aided by the wind.

Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania broke the tape in the 1500-metres race about 50 yards ahead of Alex Northrop of Harvard, in 3:52.6.

Birthday Greetings

(By The Canadian Press) REMEMBER WHEN "miracle man" of baseball and head of the Montreal International League club, died at Haddock, Ga. That was seven years ago tomorrow. He retired twice after 1920 but each time yielded to the call of the game.

The lead changed five times. The Giants used five pitchers, the Phillies three, and there were 31 hits in all, the home club outbitting the winners, 16-15.

Hockey League Scouts Seek Young Players

CALGARY, May 11.—(C.P.)—Young players, not men from the senior amateur ranks, are the ones that National Hockey League scouts have their eyes peeled for these days. That was the advice contained in a speech by Cecil "Tiny" Thompson, goalkeeper of the Boston Bruins and picked by sports writers in N. H. L. cities as netminder for the Canadian Press 1-star team this year.

Speaking at a junior hockey club banquet here Thompson called on the boys to make their first year in that grade a good one.

Pursuing the "big time" line of thought, Rosie Heimer, bench manager of the New York Americans, told a few of the things to expect in major league games.

"You will be hit hard and often—but you are going to be hit clean. There is no room for a "dirty" hockey player in the N. H. L. Though some of the players may be hot-headed, they are not dirty."
