THE NEWS OF THE DAY.

Carefully Collated by "The Examiner's" Reporters.

Australia will send a rifle team to take part in the Wimbledon contests in July.

Three great-grandsons of Charles Wesley are now clergymen of the Church of England.

Hon. Lionel Tenyson, son of the poet, died during the passage from London to Calcutta.

There is rheumatism and pneumonia in store for those who are too hasty in doffing winter flannels.

One hundred persons have recently died in New Hampshire between the ages of 80 and 100 years.

Three thousand boxes of hothouse lettuce have been raised this spring in Auburn and Lewiston, Me.

Rudolph Albrecht's university at Vienna is the largest in Europe. It has 285 professors and 5,221 students.

A child born at Wassawippi, Ont., last week had twelve fingers and as many toes. It only lived a few hours.

The creditors of Mullarky & Co., Montreal, have refused the firm's offer of a compromise, and the firm have assigned.

John Teemer has written to Richard K. Fox that he will row Edward Haulan for the $4,000 which Mr. Fox offers to put up on Haulan.

An order in Council has been passed reducing the toll on wheat and other grain shipped through by canal to Montreal at 2 cents per ton.

George E. Graham, the evangelist and wife murderer, was taken from jail at Springfield, Mo., and hanged Monday night by four hundred men.

The Newfoundland Government has placed boiler plates on the free list, and imposed a tax which will shut out foreign fish from being sold in the colony.

A large hat manufacturer says that the average Pennsylvania's size is 7 1/2, the average New Yorker's 7, and that western heads average from 7 1/4 to 7 3/8.

The labor troubles in Patterson, N. J., have cost $1,000,000, nine-tenths of which would have gone to pay labor wages if the troubles had not occurred.

Mrs. Mary Campbell, who celebrated her 100th birthday on March 20, died on Wednesday at her home in Franklin, Ohio. She had not been out of her room for 12 years.

Professor Felix Adler says that continued heat produces crime. We don't know much about this, but the Scripture teaches that continued crime results eventually in heat.

Six years ago an artist gave a citizen of Auburn, Me., several sheep for an old violin, said to be a Cremona. The Auburn man thinks he made a good bargain, for his sheep have netted him $1,000.

The oldest merchant vessel afloat is said to be the barque True Love, which was built in Philadelphia in 1764, and is, therefore, 122 years old. She is still in active service, and is owned by J. S. Ward, of London.

Cardinal Taschereau has issued a very lengthy mandament, in which the knights of labor are denounced and Catholics are forbidden to join them until their constitution has been so amended as to meet the approval of the Pope.

Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, is planning the erection of an academy of arts, which will be the first of its kind in South America. It is to be regretted that this game of Pedro is not more popular among kings and queens.

A Syracuse despatch says an investigation discloses that more than thirty graves in Wayne county almshouse cemetery have been robbed within the past few years. Barrels containing bodies have been marked "drugs" and shipped mostly to Buffalo and New York.

Nathan E. Harrelson, of Belton, Mo., has been sued for breach of promise by Lucy B. Horine, a Kentucky blue grass belle, who thinks $25,000 will soothe her wounded heart. She is 22 years old, and the Missourian is 86 and wealthy.

It cost the United States government $1,848,000 to care for 2,200 Dakota Indians seven years while they were savages. After they were Christianized it cost for seven years $126,000, a saving of $1,728,000. This is a fact that should tell what the political economise.

A mackerel fleet of forty schooners arrived in New York on Saturday, having on board eight million fish. The entire North Atlantic coast is said to be swarming with mackerel and the market is glutted. Other fish fell fifty per cent. in value in New York on Saturday on account of the big catch.

An action for $5,411 has been entered against the Canadian Pacific Railway by Mr. Hiram Johnson, a dealer in jewellery and furs. He alleges that his goods and himself were damaged to that extent by a collision which occurred between two of defendants' trains on the line between Cartier and White River.

Abbe Casanova, the Corsical archeologist, has discovered archives which show that Christopher Columbus was born in the town of Calvi, in Corsica, and emigrated to Genoa. The inhabitants of Calvi will hold a fete on May 23, when a commemorative inscription will be placed on the house in which Columbus was born.

Norman Smith, a young lad 14 years old, died in Marsden, Ont., last week after a fortnight of great suffering. No one there ever saw the disease before that caused his death. It started first with a small boil on his foot; his flesh commenced to get black and drop off in large pieces; several of his toes dropped off at the joints before he died.

A small boy in Hartford, Mich., teased a steer until the animal became very angry. It started on a dead run, and knocked down a boy, who will die of the injury. Then it tossed a woman, breaking her shoulder and otherwise damaging her. Luckily at this juncture a bull dog grabbed the steer by the nose and held him until the police arrived and killed him.

It is reported that Lord Kingstons fixes the rent to be paid by his Irish tenants not upon the value of the property, but upon the number and prosperity of their relatives of America; so that these same relatives are practically black-mailed by the noble lord under the threat of eviction of the old folks. And when he is short in his receipts from America he evicts.

Thieves broke into the unoccupied house of Assistant Secretary of the Interior Jenks at Brookville, Pa., recently, and carefully packed up all articles of value that they could carry. They then visited the wine cellars and drank so much that they couldn't carry away their plunder, and departed taking only a small sum of money.

During a thunder storm at Freeland, Pa., on Tuesday, lightning struck the chimney of a schoolhouse, and passed down into the room, striking four little girls who were sitting near the stove. Florence Hodgson, nine years old, was fatally injured; her clothes caught fire and she was terribly burned, and her right side was paralyzed. The other three were badly hurt, but will probably recover.

A livery stable keeper in Baltimore has a strange animal, which is said to have been caught by Indians in Dakota three or four years ago. The head, body, and hair are like a cow's, the legs and tail like a horse's. It eats like a cow, and chews the cud. Its hair, which is dark brown, like a buffalo's, is closely matted, and about five inches long. It has been broken to harness and drives well.

The following is told of a well-known London diner-out, whose love of oysters is notorious:—At a dinner party the other evening oysters were duly served to him, but when he got the fourth he sent his plate away. The hostess, by whom he sat, observing this, expressed her concern, adding, "I assure you they are natives." "I don't doubt it," he replied, "but that last one I ate was a settler."

The small waiting room at Prof. Pasteur's laboratory in the Rue d'Ulm presents a curious spectacle during the hours of inoculation. There are present Parsians, Provincials, Russians, Italians, Romanians, Austrians and Spaniards. Some are elegantly dressed, others in rags. In several cases the patients have brought their own doctors with them. The variety of languages spoken make the little room a veritable Babel.

The Globe's London cable says: "The Prince of Wales will inspect the Colonial Exhibition on Saturday. Arrangements for the Canadian court are much delayed owing to the non-arrival of exhibits. Exhibitors are complaining that their goods are still at Halifax, at a time when they should have been at London long ago. The Canadian court will probably be behind the others on the opening day in consequence of this, and great annoyance is expressed. The views of Canadian cities for the entrance of the hall have not yet arrived.

The Marquis de Lorne has written a letter to the Times in which he says: "It is possible that over much weight is attached to the approval expressed by public bodies in America and Canada of Mr. Gladstone's bills. It is always politic for two political parties in America to enlist Irish sympathy. The approval expressed of the bills in general hardly expresses their details. The American system of Government is as far removed from the programme of autonomy for breakfast and much more for dinner expressed by Mr. Davitt as chalk is from cheese."
