Island Odds And Ends

Lobster catches off Gaspereaux were very heavy last week and the Graham - owned factories there worked overtime to pack the rich harvest of the seas. All of the fishermen who are landing fish for Wendell Graham plant, and that of William Graham, were several hundred dollars better off when the week ended.

Along the North Shore, the fishing was not so rewarding. North winds and heavy seas kept the boats in harbor at a number of places. This was particularly true of the French River - New London district, where the boats remained in harbor for a full week. On Tuesday a few ventured out, as the weather moderated, and the wind shifted to a more favorable quarter. Rustico fishermen also lost valuable time because of the boisterous weather. It is encouraging to know however that wherever the fishermen have been able to haul traps, they have had a good paying load to take home.

When Charlottetown's aging town clock needs tinkering, the man who is called on to put the Island's Big Ben back in working order is Mr. C. W. Patterson, veteran jeweller. In his leisure hours Mr. Patterson does a spot of fishing and yesterday evening at Fortune although a north-east wind sent several other anglers scurrying home, he hooked several fine trout. All of them were taken on streamer flys.

According to "Jack" Power the always jovial driver of the C.N.R. express truck, the horses are shaping up well even at this early date, out at the Charlottetown Exhibition Grounds. "Jack" reports that thirty-five horses are stabled there and that more are coming in all the time. "Looks like a great year at the track," beamed Jack as he gossiped briskly and briefly while delivering an express package today. One of the inner circle in the racing game ever since he was a youngster, is a canny man around a horse, and few track followers are better informed.

The army gets things done. Brigadier W. W. Reid did most of the staff work about having floodlights installed at Memorial Field for night baseball, but our Mayor, Colonel Dave Stewart, and the Councillor for Ward Three, Colonel Frank Storey carried the objective. Operation "floodlights" was a major success. Baseball has been given its biggest boost in a quarter of a century.

Our Minister of Public Works has been spending many a busy hour receiving delegations from all parts of the country these past few weeks. Practically all of these have asked Mr. MacKinnon for improved roads, for the districts concerned. It is not known what progress the various delegates made in their negotiations, but Mr. MacKinnon was heard to express the wish that he had a few more millions of dollars to spread over the Province.

The minister seems to be in about the same position as Charlottetown's City Council — so much necessary work to be done, and such very limited finances with which to do it.

The shortage of farm labor has in Prince Edward Island never been more keenly felt than at present. Reports from all over the Province confirm the serious straits in which farmers find themselves, because of their inability to secure help. A few Dutch and European farm workers are coming to the Province through the efforts of the National Employment Offices at Summerside and Charlottetown, but not nearly enough to meet the demand.

It was expected that many German farm laborers would be arriving in Canada in May, but hope has dwindled that the movement will reach any large proportions. It appears that the West German Government is not as enthusiatic about the scheme as it was last autumn. Some Germans are en route to Maritime farms now, but not in significant numbers.

As was the case last year many farm workers are accepting work in the woods, although prices paid for wood-pulp and pit props are not as good as last year, and employers cannot hope to make the profits made last summer and autumn.

Because of the exceptional prices received by potato growers this year, it would be natural to expect that considerable more acreage would be planted this year than in 1951. There will be an increase, say well-informed farmers, but there will be no wild stampede to get on the band-wagon. To get back into production farmers must foot the bill for high-priced seed, and make a heavy outlay for fertilizer. The combined cost of these two items is making many farmers think long and hard before planting tubers. Too many remember the lean years when they received less than the cost of production in return for much hard work and the expenditure of hard-earned money.

Notre Dame Alumnae Observes Mary's Day

On Saturday, May 10, time was turned back for one shining half hour, when former students of Notre Dame Academy once more filed into the beloved chapel of their school days, to assist at mass and receive Holy Communion in honor of "Our Lady" on her special day.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. P. F. MacDonald and Notre Dame choir was heard in a number of beautiful hymns. The altar, lovely with its wealth of spring blossoms and gleaming tapers was the focal point of all eyes, as well as hearts.

After mass coffee and rolls were served in the Sodality Hall, prior to the business meeting which terminated the morning activities.

In the afternoon the Alumnae reassembled in the chapel, where they were addressed by His Excellency, the Most Reverend James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown, who also gave the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Later, in the Sodality Hall, Mary's Day chairman, Miss Anna MacInnis, welcomed both Sisters and Alumnae to the afternoon session. She spoke briefly on the significance of the title under which convent Alumnae groups throughout the world honor "Our Lady" as "Mary, Mother of Mankind."

There followed a program consisting of the hymn "What Shall We Call Thee Oh Beautiful Mother" by members of Notre Dame choir, the reading of their prize winning essays on "Mary, the Greatest Woman Leader" by the Misses Patricia MacInnis and Lorraine Scott, and finally, an inspiring address by Mother St. Margaret of Paray, Superior of the Academy.

An informal tea hour followed. The buffet table was centred by a basket of many coloured "mums", while pink and green candles lighted either end of the table. Student members of the Sodality served and a delightful time was enjoyed.

The singing of the hymn "Mother Dearest, Mother Fairest", followed by "God Save the Queen", with Mrs. Fred Coyle as accompanist, brought another happy observance to a close.
