Wings Blank Pioneers In Opener 7-0

Mayor B. W. Robinson threw in the first ball last night in Summerside to start the old game going for the season. His worship in his opening remarks offered a new hat to the player making the highest batting average in the league for the season. His generous gesture is greatly appreciated by both players and officials.

With Jim Wilson pitching three hit ball and his mates pounding three Pioneer pitchers for seven, the Wings coasted to an easy 7-0 victory. The game was remarkably free from errors and up until the last half of the fourth was scoreless. Spectacular incidents of the game were Specs Phillips' one hand start of E. Ward's liner with one out and the bases loaded in the third, completing a double play to retire the side, and long hits by Dope Daly and Harold Clow. The veteran of many seasons, Frank Dope Daly turned in also a good game and shows he still has plenty of ball in him yet.

Herman Durant pitched great ball before being pulled in the fifth and looks to be in line for a good season. Schurman who relieved Durant met with little better success and was in turn pulled for Gay after retiring one batsman. Daly and Lidstone crossed the plate in the last of the fourth and the Wings put the game on ice with five big tallies in the big fifth.

The diamond was in better condition than it has been for some time. The majority of the credit for this must go to Wilfred E. Kelly and to Councilors J. M. Nicholson and Dan MacNeill. Considerable assistance was also furnished by the players themselves. A fair crowd was present.

The Red Wings will be unable to make their initial trip to Charlottetown as planned due to injuries received in last night's game.

NEW YORK, June 2—An eighth inning rally netted two runs and a 5-4 victory for Pirates in their engagement with Boston's Bees at Pittsburgh today.

Mace Brown pitched the final inning and a Boston rally was choked off when Al Lopez hit into a double play with two men on and one out.

Tiny Jim Chaplin, Bees hurler, although beaten, was in great form in the pinches. He retired the Bees twice without a run after the bases had been loaded. Chaplin fanned 11 Pirates, and walked six.

St. Louis Cardinals pulled three full games out in front of the National League pack by trouncing Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4 behind Paul Dean's tight pitching, while the second-place New York Giants were idle.

A wild ninth inning, in which the Dodgers rallied and clubbed Dean from the mound after he had held them helpless for the first eight frames, ended with the Brooklyn scoring three runs and just falling to tie the count at St. Louis.

Reds edged out Philadelphia Nationals 9-8 here tonight in the first major league game played under the lights this season.

The Phillies had the crowd of almost 20,000 on pin points in the ninth inning, when they pushed over six runs to knot the score, but the Reds came back in their half of the final to slip over the winning run on home grounds.

Maritime Lad Trains Hard For Big Bout

(Canadian Press)

FREDERICTON, June 2—Known to New England fans as "Irish" Jimmy O'Boyne, the former Fredrickton boxer who fought 147 pounders in New Brunswick is gaining prominence in Massachusetts as a middleweight.

The slugging Maritimer is said to be working toward a middleweight championship bout in the Boston Garden next fall. New England sports writers have referred to him as "one of the best middleweight prospects in the country" and "one of the hardest hitting fighters in the middleweight class seen in the Boston Garden."

The May issue of a national prize fight magazine listed him as the most promising middleweight of the month.

O'Boyne's contract has been bought by the proprietor of Buckley's Gymnasium in Boston. There he makes his headquarters in the same training camp with Jack Sharkey, former world's heavyweight champion, and Johnny Risko, the present United States middleweight title holder. On one occasion O'Boyne worked out in quick succession with Sharkey and Al McCoy, contender for the light heavyweight crown of the world.

New England newspaper comment about the young fighter says in part:

"Young O'Boyne has compiled a remarkable record in the past few years and a glance will tell one that he is quite a fighter in his own right and a puncher to be reckoned with in any company. That win over Jack Ennis of New Jersey in his last start at the Boston Garden stamped him as one of the best middleweight prospects in the country, for the same Ennis has been campaigning among the best in New York and New Jersey rings."

"O'Boyne has had 45 professional fights, and of that number he has won 41, fought two draws, lost one on a foul and another on a split decision to Joe Ricciotti. It is a true indication of his punching prowess when it is realized that he has stiffened no less than 23 of his opponents and has never been on the floor himself. Not bad for a youngster who has only been fighting for a couple of years as a professional. It leaves little wonder for the reason the experts rank him as the leading juvenile middleweight in New England and the logical successor to Lou Brouillard."

Since that writing O'Boyne won a 10-round decision over Eddie "Kid" Sullivan, of Walpole, in a bout at Quincy, Mass. Previously he took a decision over Sullivan at Lynn, Mass., in eight rounds. Those succumbing to his knockout punch included Al Trainer in the fifth round of a bout at Toronto.

In 1929 Jimmy started boxing as an amateur in New Brunswick. At Saint John in April, 1933, he won the amateur welterweight championship of the province by defeating "Bud" Harper of Springfield, N. S. His first professional bout, fought at Saint John, was a six-round affair with Billy Yerra, of McAdam, N. B., and O'Boyne won the decision.

Drop Ryba

ST. LOUIS, June 2—St. Louis Cardinals today dropped M'ke Ryba, pitcher, from the staff to get down to the 23 player limit. The club to which Ryba will be sent will be announced later.

American League

NEW YORK, June 2—(A. P.)—Detroit Tigers opened their second tour of the East by taking a 5-4 decision from Athletics at Philadelphia today. Harry Kelley issued a pass to manager Mickey Cochrane with three on in the sixth inning to force in the winning run.

The Mackmen wiped out an early Tiger lead of four runs to tie the score on Tommy Bridges by scoring a run in the fourth inning and three in the fifth.

Chicago White Sox came from behind a seven-run disadvantage to snap Nationals five game winning streak and their own four-game losing streak with an 11-9 victory in the series opener at Yankee Stadium, New York.

Rip Radcliffe's bat proved too much for a trio of Yankee hurlers. He batted in seven of the winners' runs with his third and fourth homers and a single.

Walter Brown was charged with the loss.

Red Sox ended Cleveland Indians' five game winning streak with a heavy-hitting 14-6 triumph at Boston in the first clash of their battle for second place.

Third baseman Johnny Kroner led the attack by his triple and home run as the Sox collected 15 hits off Oral Hildebrand, Thornton Lee and Dennis Galehouse.

The Washington jinx still held sway over St. Louis today as the Browns, although outitting Senators, lost 15-11. It was the Browns' fifth straight loss against Washington this year.

The Nationals' and Lehigh's first four games for all of their

The Browns' season is ending with the fifth to threaten seriously what had once been a comfortable Washington lead.

Giants Win From Bees In Opener

NEW YORK, June 2—Vernon Wilshire, left-hand pitcher released yesterday by Philadelphia Athletics, will be given a trial with New York Yankees, the latter announced today.

Red Wings Lose To Royals 8-3

MONTREAL, June 2—Rochester Red Wings made their first 1936 appearance in a decision to Montreal Royals in an International Baseball League game.

Henry Johnson, Royal right hander, held the Red Wings to six hits but one of these was a home run by Al Cucinello with Maurice Sturdy on base in the second inning. He struck out six Red Wings but gave out five passes.

United States Tennis Hopes Fail Dismally

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, June 2—As a consequence of the setback of the United States Davis Cup team at the hands of the Australians, America for the second time in its international tennis history, is about to finish off a full decade in unsuccessful quest of the trophy.

The shock of this knowledge may be no greater than the reverberations at Germantown, Pa., which were by no means unexpected. If it hasn't been questionable management, it has been bad luck or bad playing that multiplied America's losing streak in cup competition since the trophy passed from the United States in 1927. The country lost its best chance to regain it in 1932 at Paris. Then, as during the past few days, the luckless Wilmer Allison was the victim of costly defeat. The Texan, unquestionably a courageous shot-maker, nevertheless has not produced in the pinches. This year marks the fourth time he has lost both singles chances in a crucial series.

The chance for further parallel between the current span of depression and that of 1903-1913 rests upon Donald Budge, the red-headed young Californian. Without question Budge is the country's best singles player and no one Davis Cup hope for 1937. Whereas Allison is on the way out, Budge is in another year to duplicate the achievements of that other great redden, Maurice McLaughlin. "Red Mac" swung a trenchant racket against the British in the victorious campaign in 1913, ending the first decade of Davis Cup gloom for the United States.

There's a full year now to plan for it, without raising false hopes, but Budge, with blond Gene Mako in another year to duplicate the achievements of that other great redden, Maurice McLaughlin. "Red Mac" swung a trenchant racket against the British in the victorious campaign in 1913, ending the first decade of Davis Cup gloom for the United States.

British Tennis Team For Wightman Cup Play Named

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, June 2—Great Britain called on five veterans and a 22-year-old newcomer today to halt America's string of five successive victories when the Wightman Cup tennis matches are played at Wimbledon June 12-13.

The newcomer is Ruth Mary Hardwick, rising young London-born star who came within two points of beating Helen Wills Moody in the St. George's Hill tournament a year ago. The veterans are Dorothy Round, Katherine Stammers, Freda James, Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman.

Miss Hardwick replaced Mrs. Phyllis Mudford King, who played in the cup matches of 1930-31-32-35.

It was regarded as likely that Miss Round, a British cup mainstay for the past five years, and Miss Stammers would be designated the No. one and No. two singles players, each playing two matches. "The No. three post, calling for only one singles appearance, probably will go to Miss Hardwick.

The most likely assignments for the two doubles matches would team Miss Stammers with Miss James, and Miss Dearman with Miss Lyle.

The United States team, headed by Helen Jacobs, includes Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry, Mrs. John Van Ryn and Carolin Babcock.

Shamrocks Turn Back Battery 10-9

Pushing over two runs in the last half of the ninth via the "free pass" the Shamrocks last evening upset the 8th Battery 10-9 to win their first game in the league.

Four runs down in the opening half of the 7th Gen Phillips came through with a circuit blow with three men on the paths to even the score at eight all. The Battery, however, again pulled ahead on Whalen's homer which looked sufficient to cop the verdict, but the Shamrocks not to be denied staged a big ninth inning rally to decide the issue.

Doc MacKenzie, first sacker for the Shamrocks, drove out what is reputed to be one of the longest homers ever made on a local diamond when he connected with one of Ernie Stull's "loss ups" in the fifth. Two double plays were pulled off by each team.

Stull playing his first game in the City League issued a number of free passes which the Shamrocks were not slow to capitalize on. Goss for nine, declared (Larwood five for 6); at Nottingham.

Yorkshire 134 for two wickets (Butcliffe 83 not out); vs Lancashire; at Leeds.

Another Stratosphere Failure

NEW YORK, June 2—A hot air balloon, carrying a basket and a pilot, was launched from the roof of the New York Times building today, but it failed to rise and was forced to land on the ground.

The balloon, which was part of a series of experiments conducted by the National Geographic Society, was launched at 10:30 a.m. and was supposed to rise to a height of 10,000 feet. However, it failed to rise and was forced to land on the ground at 11:30 a.m.

The pilot, who was not injured, was rescued by a fire truck. The balloon was damaged and was not used again.

Baseball's Big Six

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

Rip Radcliffe, the Chicago White Sox pitcher, poked out two homers and a single against the Yankees yesterday to move into the "big six" in major league batting. His efforts gave him third place in the American League behind Billy Sullivan of Cleveland, who failed to hit yesterday, and Joe Dimaggio of the Yankees, who had two safeties in five times up Stuart Martin and Ducky Medwick of the Cardinals both boosted their averages in the National League, the former with one hit in two trips to the plate, and the latter with three out of five.

The standings (leading three batters in each league):

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 2.—It will take a total of 288 or better to win the United States open golf championship over the Baltusrol golf course starting here Thursday, a poll of entrants in the tournament indicated today.

The contestants also agreed the course puts the premium on the extremes of the game, the drive and the putt, and today's practice round fortified this theory as three of the finest drivers and putters in the game—Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; John Revolta, Chicago, and Willie Klein, East Williston, L.I.—led the field in practice with scores of 68-69-69, respectively.

Two players reported 70's, Billy Burke, Cleveland, 1931 winner, and Jim Fogarty, Boston, while four others managed to break par. Vic Ghelard, Deal, N.J., Alvin Krueger, Belmont, Wis., who led the open field at the end of the first 18 holes last year at Oakmount, Ralph Guidahl, Los Angeles, runner-up in the 1933 open, and Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Winchester, Mass., who recently won his state open championship.

The only Canadian who will go out with the star-studded field, Bob Gray of Windsor, carded a highly respectable 74 in practice today.

Named For U.S. Marathon Olympic Team

BOSTON, June 2.—Bill McMahon of Worcester, and Johnny Kelley of Arlington, winner and runner-up in last week's American Athletic Union marathon at Washington, were named for the United States Olympic marathon team today by George V. Brown of Boston, chairman of the Olympic Marathon Committee.

Ellison (Tarzan) Brown of Providence, qualified when he won the Boston Marathon April 20. Mel Porter of Newark, N.J., was named alternate.

Chairman Brown's recommendations were passed along to William J. Bingham, chairman of the Olympic track and field committee, for approval.
