Boys Complete Own Plant At Queen Sq. School

A highly successful reclamation job without a Government grant and not on the familiar "time plus" basis has just been completed by the manual training boys of Queen Square School in the basement of the Annex.

Yesterday afternoon and evening, school trustees, parents and teachers were given an opportunity to examine the miniature wood-working plant which has been transformed from a basement store—all into a worth-while addition to the school structure.

Mr. John Danton, manual training instructor, who served his apprenticeship for seven years with coach pattern makers in England followed by five years of similar work in London, and five years in Charlottetown, was given the "Go Ahead" signal by principal Leo F. MacDonald on permission from the school authorities in January.

Provision was made for a room 26 by 37 and the work undertaken by the manual training classes as part of their instruction. The boys, who range in age from 11 to 15, working 2 hours each every eight days completed the job without outside assistance except for the electric wiring, which had to be done by authorized installers under inspection.

Work benches are provided for 14 pupils at a time, with the necessary standard equipment for instruction. The boys also have a scroll saw, a six inch circular saw and a lathe, all of which they made themselves, which are electrically operated. A beaver scroll saw with a 22-inch swing, a shell saw, vibrator sander and grindstone, all electrically operated, are included in the equipment.

Extreme safety measures are observed in the operation of these machines under the personal supervision of Mr. Danton. The built-in lockers, sheathing, painting, floor filling and other work reflects credit on the students and instructor and indicate a commendable co-operation.

A group of teachers headed by the Misses Mary Duffy, Mary Moran, Stella Welsh and Ann Walsh provided much appreciated refreshments for the visitors.

ADDRESSES SCOUTERS' CLUB

Lt. Col. P. S. Fielding, regional co-ordinator for Civil Defence, outlined the organization for Civil Defence, against A. B. C. - Atomic, Bacteriological and Chemical warfare in an address to the Charlottetown Scouters' Club at their regular monthly meeting at Birch Court.

Col. Fielding pointed out that a direct attack on Prince Edward Island was economically not feasible. Rather, the Island could be considered to be on the perimeter or reception area with like-ly target area being Halifax and the cushion and support areas being the rest of Nova Scotia. The role of the reception area would be to shelter casualties evacuated from the target and cushion areas.

Civil Defense is now directed by the Department of Health and Welfare and in preparing for the support role, has trained instructors in overall defence organization, radioactive monitoring and special teams of nurses for a First Aid role. The Red Cross, doctors, hospitals and communities have plans prepared for the reception of casualties.

SCOUTS TO HELP

In the role of a reception area, Prince Edward Island would face special problems in transportation and feeding of large numbers of refugees with possible overloading and breakdown of regular communications. Scouts thus would be expected to assist as messengers to help relieve this problem.

In concluding, Col. Fielding offered pamphlets for distribution to Leaders which explain how to prepare areas, homes and public places for direct attack.

Dr. George Fisher, District Scout Commissioner, outlined the organization to protect animals during A. B. or C. warfare.

Following these talks, the regular Scouters' Club meeting was held. A demonstration of fire-buff friction was given by Scoutmaster Abe Zakem. This was followed by square dancing, a sing-song and lunch.

I.O.D.E. Flood Relief Funds Collected

The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, through its National Flood Relief Fund, has collected over $30,000 to aid flood victims in England and Holland. This money has been contributed by I. O. D. E. chapters across the Dominion and has been allocated in the following manner:

Payments totalling $20,000.00 have been divided between the Newfoundland Flood Relief Fund (Canada's) the Women's Voluntary Services, the Soldiers, Sailors' and Airmen's Families Association, London, England, and the Save the Children Fund, London, England. These organizations are using the Order's gifts to assist in opening nurseries in the flood areas to buy stove floor coverings and bedding, and to help in the work of rehabilitation generally.

Goods, including shoes, blankets, sheets, sweaters and many other necessities have been purchased.

Increase Shown In U.S. Seed Production Figures

OTTAWA, April 10-(Special) - Production of certified seed potatoes in the United States in 1952 totalled 42,755,620 bushels, according to reports from certified agencies in 30 states. This figure is 17 percent above the 1951 production of 36,530,815 bushels and 16 percent above the 1941-1950 average.

Agricultural authorities in Ottawa were chary of expressing any opinion as to whether the upswing in U. S. production of certified seed potatoes would have any marked effect on the sales of Canadian certified seed to the United States. They intimated that U. S. growers, particularly those who have obtained satisfactory results in the past from Canadian seed potatoes would probably continue to purchase from the seed-growing areas of the Maritime Provinces.

Increase in the United States production of certified seed potatoes is entirely due to the planting of larger acreage. The total of 133,140 acres harvested in 1952 was 21 percent higher than the 109,995 acres in 1951.

Newlyweds To Reside In Honolulu

The following item from the Oakland, (California), Tribune will be of interest to many Islanders. The bride's father, Mr. Mallett, is well known here where he spent his boyhood, and later several years as an employee of the Bank of Montreal, before moving to California.

Flying back to the Hawaiian Islands recently were Lt. (jg) William Reynolds Larmer, USN, and his bride, who is Nancy Sue Mallett of Piedmont before her marriage in Piedmont Community Church. Both Nancy and the young officer arrived by plane from Honolulu to spend a holiday with their respective families and friends.

Lieutenant Larmer is with a destroyer escort in the islands, and Nancy has been teaching at Punahou School. She will resume her duties on her return.

John Archibald Mallett escorted his daughter up the candle-lit aisle to the chancel. The bride had but one attendant, her sister, Suzanne. Peter Larmer stood with his brother at the altar as his best man. Dr. Holland P. Burr conducted the marriage service. White stock and evergreen decorated the church.

Friends of both families attended a wedding reception later at the College Women's Club in Berkeley.

"Nancy was dressed in a floor-length bridal gown of white tulle and satin, panels of Chantilly lace inserted in the outer skirt of tulle. The shoulder-length tulle veil was attached to a tiny cap, and the bride carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and phalaenopsis orchids.

Suzanne's dress was a bouffant model of aqua silk net. In contrast was her arm bouquet of red roses. A circlet of the rosebuds was worn in her hair.

Mrs. Mallett, Nancy's mother, was dressed in green net over satin, the bodice fashioned of the heavier material. A cluster of orchids was attached to her evening purse.

Mrs. Edward Morris Larmer, mother of the bridegroom, had on a blue-gray taffeta ankle-length dress and close-fitting hat of the matching silk. Her orchids were also attached to her purse.

Both Lieutenant and Mrs. Larmer are graduates of Stanford University, where the former was affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

Future address of the newlyweds will be Honolulu. They have taken an apartment on Ala Wai Boulevard, Waikiki.

Mr. and Mrs. Larmer, Lieutenant Larmer's parents, reside at Friendship Farm, Lafayette.

and 350 cases of supplies valued at $70,000.00 have been shipped to distressed areas.

The many letters of thanks received by the Order from organizations and individuals testify to the deep gratitude felt by recipients.

Judgment Under Registry Act

Land law in this Province was interpreted in a judgment yesterday of the Court of Appeal in Equity. The Registry Act protection to purchasers and encumbrancers of land is limited to those who become such in good faith - those who bona fide acquire title on the strength of the register.

The ruling came in the appeal on behalf of Harry Winchester against the liquidator of N. R. Robertson Ltd. and others. The judgment of Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, in which Mr. Justice M. R. MacGuigan concurred, upheld the judgment delivered by Vice-Chancellor George J. Tweedy on

Paediatric Nursing Course Concluded

The last day of the Paediatric Nursing Institute opened with a morning session on care of children on discharge from the hospital and the follow up on their condition. Dr. Maureen Roberts, Paediatrician, Halifax, was the speaker. She divided the children to be discharged into four groups - the cured, the convalescent, the incurable and the dying; but dealt principally with the convalescent and the incurable child. There should be a link between the hospital and the home. This link may be the school nurse, the social worker or the visiting nurse. Parents should be prepared for the discharge of the child and complete instruction should be given on the care of the child in the home.

Miss Madeline Flander spoke at both the afternoon and evening sessions. There was further discussion on eating habits and food problem of children. The value of play for children in hospital was stressed; play which helps the child to fit in and to feel accepted. It is a form of communication and makes the whole experience more natural. Materials that are at hand can be used in improving and the traditional games that do not need equipment can easily be adapted and used with children in bed.

Some time was devoted to discussing the teaching of student nurses and the importance of teaching on the ward with the child and his needs as the centre of nursing interest, rather than classroom theory that deals principally with disease conditions.
