

is from the book, "A Texas Looks at Lyndon," by J. Evetts Haley. Haley, a former defeated candidate for the governorship of Texas, depicts Alice, Texas, as the birthplace of Johnson's allegedly sinister power. He adds: "What a strange coincidence that Lee Harvey Oswald, on his return from Mexico shortly before the Kennedy assassination, detoured from Laredo and spent the night in search of a job 'at Alice, in Jim Wells county, before proceeding to Dallas and his world shocking deed!'"

Haley concedes in his book that he uses rumors liberally, but says "rumor is a psychological phenomenon in the public mind, the existence of which is an historical fact." This is his excuse for dishing out the kind of tripe that brought the vermin out of the woodwork, and that will require a major fumigation job on the part of the Republican party if it hopes to survive.

Disappointing

The announcement that the Department of National Defense is eliminating the Naval Reserve in Prince Edward Island and converting HMCS Queen Charlotte into an armory for military training purposes is being received with disappointment here. It is, of course, part of an overall plan involving sweeping changes and reductions in the whole defense setup. A total of 1,675 RCNR personnel will be affected by the changes, with an expected saving of $13 million annually.

Hon. J. Angus MacLean pointed out in an Ottawa dispatch yesterday, the Henry report on the navy, brought in earlier this year, had strongly recommended the retention of the Queen Charlotte for the purposes for which it was built. A later commission report, however, has made a contrary recommendation, to the effect that it is designated for use of army units, thus avoiding the expense of building a new armory which, as Mr. MacLean points out, was high on the priority list of the previous government at Ottawa.

In a recent televised broadcast, Defense Minister Hellyer said the changes under way would mean greater efficiency as well as a saving in defence expenditures. It is questionable whether the abandonment of naval training in an Island province, with an historic maritime tradition, would be a wise move. It is no argument to say that similar establishments are being closed in Regina, London, Edmonton and Kitchener, where the same situation does not apply.

Surely, in our case, a justifiable exception could be made, taking into consideration our geographical position, and the curtailment in other defence activities and under way.

Our Naval Reserve has a fine record in this province, including the enthusiasm it has engendered in the sea cadet movement. It is not at all apparent to our citizens how the public interest can be served by wiping it out.

Burden Of Shame

The expected landslide election victory for President Johnson has disposed of Mr. Goldwater. But it may also have less happy consequences if the Republican party does not do a thorough job of housecleaning, and rid itself of the burden of shame for some of the tactics employed in promoting its presidential candidate's fortunes on this occasion.

The nature of this campaign was the torrent of scurrilous paperback books emanating from Goldwater headquarters, which flooded the country and which consisted mostly of innuendoes, insinuations and double meanings aimed at presenting Mr. Johnson in a shoddy light. It was this campaign that led Walter Lippmann, one of the world's most respected political commentators, to say that the whole ugly business had dragged the election down to the lowest level within memory.

How much of this literature was actually distributed with Mr. Goldwater's knowledge it is hard to say. Some of it was passed out by the John Birch society and other extremist groups. But it was all aimed at the character assassination of Goldwater's opponent.

Several examples of this type of smear are cited by the Milwaukee Journal in a recent editorial. One of them which probably be enough for the stomachs of our readers. It

Fine Island Showing

As indicated by Halifax reports from our provincial farm editor, Mr. Matheson, Prince Edward Island cattle are making a magnificent showing at the Atlantic Winter Fair. On Monday they took every grand championship in the show ring, and captured most of the top prizes on Tuesday. In potatoes, homecraft and other displays as well, Island exhibitors have been in the forefront.

Such successes were not unusual in the old days, when the winter fair was held in Amherst. Indeed, there has scarcely been an occasion when our producers failed to lead laurels to our Island crown as the garden province of Canada. Competition is becoming keener, however, especially in the breeding of high grade cattle. Some of the finest animals in Canada are on display in Halifax this week, and the scores achieved by our Island showmen are being noted across the country.

If supremacy in these lines comes for anything, it is in Charlottetown or Summerside that this big agricultural fair should be held. Perhaps when we get our caucusify will pay to reopen this subject, which arose after the destruction of the Amherst plant some years ago. Whatever the expenditure involved in providing adequate facilities, it would be a good investment. A decision along this line would rest with the fair management and would involve, of course, substantial assistance in the way of grants.

Certainly, as a permanent home for the fair, Prince Edward Island would seem to be the logical choice. Its claims are being strengthened every year by the outstanding achievements of Island exhibitors.

Front Place For Youth

Canada takes pride in being young, and it is fitting that in the preparations for the 1967 World's Fair at Montreal so much emphasis is being placed on youth. Indeed, the organization has a Youth Advisory Committee consisting of representatives from about 25 Canadian organizations. This committee has recommended building a youth pavilion at the fair, a centre of international youth conventions, and an establishment of a hostel in Old Montreal to house young visitors.

Several other proposals for cultural competitions and exhibitions to draw the young people of the world into the fair have been put forward. We don't know whether this objective has been followed before, but certainly it is a splendid one for an exposition whose theme is to be "Man and His World." As the late Howard Johnson says, what happens to that world in the dangerous years ahead rests directly to what youth is doing and thinking right now.

In this connection The Journal notes that 62 per cent of the world's population qualifies as "youth"—under 30 years of age. Even if the figures were much smaller it would hardly be necessary to stress the importance of having the young play a major role in Expo. 67.

EDITORIAL NOTE

According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Canadians living in the Prairie provinces can expect to live longer than those in other parts of the country. The life expectancy for newborn males there is 68.6 years, as compared with 68.9 in Atlantic Canada, 68.6 in the Ontario provinces, 68.3 in Ontario and 67.3 in Quebec.

Disposing Of Trade Factors

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen The cause of cancer remains a mystery. The traditional theories, however, including those implicating viruses, and those implicating the immune system, do not know whether there is a single cause for all cancers of different types. The latter is more logical because certain factors influence the immune system in various parts of the body.

What are the predisposing factors? Excessive exposure to the sun, X-rays, arsenic, radium, and petroleum products are all factors not acceptable. Poor dental hygiene, nutritional deficiencies, and tobacco encourage malignancies in the mouth, throat, larynx, and tongue. Too much X-ray, iodine deficiency, a bad diet, and excessive alcohol intake influence on the thyroid.

Polio, including cigarette and chromate fumes, and dust from metals and asbestos, are high on the list in lung cancer. Bladder tumours occur most often in women with previous mammary disease and a family history of the condition. Women who have not borne children are more likely candidates.

There is a hereditary tendency in carcinoma of the stomach, especially among those with group B blood. Circulation of ammonia and lack of hydrochloric acid play important roles. Factors like chronic (hardening), and nutritional deficiencies often precede a malignancy of the liver, and it is rare to find a victim of gall bladder cancer who does not have gallstones. Polyps (growths) of the colon and family tendency are mentioned frequently when the colon ad rectum are affected.

Cancer of the uterus is another puzzler but many victims are of glandular disorder or are obese, infertile, or diabetic. Involvement of the male genitalia is more common in men who are uncircumcised and the unclean. The excessive use of certain aniline and dye dyes is an element in the bladder cancer.
