County Hospital. These consist of an Air-Shields - croupette and an Air-Shields Hydrojetta Humidifier, both of which are valuable in the treatment of pneumonia, asthma and similar respiratory cases. Also included is an infants' chair (baby-tenda) which is of as-istance to the nursing staff in the care and feeding of young children. The cost of these three items was just under $400.00 and this is indicative of the contributions which these hospital auxiliaries make to the hospital from time to time.

Number Of Bills Considered In The Legislature Yesterday

When Alex W. Matheson introduced a bill which would enable the people of the province to sue the crown without the permission of the attorney general, Hon. Alban Farmer, attorney general, objected claiming the bill was out of order.

The bill was introduced in the yesterday afternoon session of the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Farmer claimed the bill was out of order on the grounds that a private member could not introduce legislation which involved the expenditure of money by the government.

Mr. Matheson and members of the opposition claimed the bill involved no new expenditures by the government but rather the bill afforded the right of the people to collect monies already owed them by the Crown.

The matter came up when Mr. Matheson moved the bill go in a committee of the House as a whole for second reading to consider the bill. It was at this time that Mr. Farmer asked the Speaker to declare the bill out of order.

The Speaker ruled the bill was in order and it could come before a committee of the House as a whole, but the motion as to whether the bill should come before committee was defeated in a straight party vote, the government voting that it shouldn't and the opposition voting for it coming into committee.

The vote killed the bill. This was one of the pieces of legislation that was dealt with when the Legislative Assembly met yesterday afternoon.

Second reading was given to an act to amend the Town of Summerside Incorporation Act. The amendments make certain changes in the election regulations for the town council and also give the town permission to level certain taxes and license fees against companies operating in the town.

Second reading was also given to a bill to amend the Milk Protection Act. One of the amendments makes it possible for remuneration to be paid to the members of the Milk Board.

Amendments were made to the School Act through a bill which received second reading yesterday. The dog tax as form of school revenue was eliminated. New teachers may be hired as of January instead of February as it was under the former act, an increase in the borrowing power of the Summerside School Board was granted and the month for the annual meeting of school districts was advanced to September.

A contemplated change in the dual tax rate, was thrown out until it is reviewed during the coming year.

Third reading was given to a number of bills which received their second reading in the Assembly on Wednesday.

completely honest, I don't think they will.

BIG INCREASE

Since 1959, this government has accumulated more debt in this period than all other governments from the time of Confederation to 1959 while receiving many more millions of dollars in revenue.

"Is it any wonder that the premier is asking for further assistance from Ottawa? I'm wondering if Ottawa realizes the seriousness of the financial picture in this province. What does the premier tell the federal people when he goes to Ottawa looking for further financial assistance?"

"It seems to me that he must admit the seriousness of the financial picture to the people of the province, tell the same story when he gets to Ottawa and he might get some place."

Verwoerd Is Returned

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Premier Hendrik Verwoerd has been returned to power for another five years with the biggest parliamentary majority in South African history.

Final election results declared Thursday gave the National party, which has held power for 18 years, 126 seats and an 82-seat over-all margin in the 170-seat House of Assembly.

Observers saw the 16 per cent swing in the National party's favor as a personal vote for Verwoerd, who has vowed to safeguard South Africa for the white minority.

New Method Is Employed

Fishing Courses Are Scheduled

It was announced by Father Allan F. MacDonald, director of the Extension Department, St. Dunstan's University, that short fishing courses will be held at Abram's Village, O'Leary and Tignish, April 4th and 5th. The lecturers will include Dr. D.G. Wilder, director of the Biological Station, St. Andrew's, N.B.; Dr. R.E. Drinnan; Director of the Biological Station, Ellerslie, P.E.I.; Al Engand, officer in charge of the Oyster Culture Station, Ellerslie.

Dr. Wilder will be on the afternoon program scheduled for the Regional High School, Abram's Village on Monday at 2 o'clock and at the Milo Hall, Milo, in the evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. Drinnan and Mr. England will discuss oyster culture on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Milo Hall and in the evening at 8 o'clock at the Regional High School, Abram's Village.

On Tuesday the lecturers move to the Dalton School, Tignish, where the afternoon program will feature Dr. Drinnan and Mr. England discussing oysters and in the evening Dr. Wilder will bring the fishermen up to date on research and conservation measures concerning the valuable crustacean, the Lobster.

With lobsters contributing such a large percentage of our total fishery production and dollar volume and with an increasing number of fishermen engaged in the oyster fishery, it is important that fishermen familiarize themselves with the life cycle of both of these species as well as with the conservation measures practiced so as to make reasonably certain that these rich resources are properly exploited, stated Father MacDonald.

Because of the heavy workload and itinerary of the experts in these fields, it was not possible to put the courses on earlier in the year, it is hoped, however, that as many fishermen as possible will take time off to participate in the courses. In conjunction with the lectures, films and slides will be shown.

MARGIN

(Continued from page one) cialist policies. "People overseas are very well aware that we are determined to make Britain's economy strong."

Wilson's men swept back into the Socialist fold the grimy industrial riding of Smethwick, a Birmingham suburb, and to the west they captured Exeter, the stately cathedral city in the brooding, sleepy Lorna - Doone country.

Labor lost Smethwick in 1964, but never held Exeter before. Wilson was re-elected in the Liverpool constituency of Hoyton with a margin of 20,950—an increase of 1,676 over his 1964 election margin.

Conservative Leader Edward Heath also held his outer London seat of Bexley, but with a reduced majority.

HAS BIG LEAD

The prime minister got 51,132 votes to 20,182 for Conservative Thomas Hobbay and 585 for pop singer Screaming Lord Sutch, who campaigned as the teen-agers' candidate.

The Labor party's first major gain came in the West England constituency of Exeter where Mrs. G. P. Dunwoody, daughter of a former Labor party executive, defeated Conservative Sir Rolf Dudley-Williams by 22,196 votes to 18,613. This represented a 3.5-per-cent swing to Labor compared with the 1964 vote.

When the result was announced, Len Williams, Labor party secretary, told reporters:

"If this swing is uniform throughout the country it will mean a big Labor margin in the Commons."

And a Conservative spokesman said: "Exeter is a good Labor gain. This is a serious point against us."

Heath's margin was cut by half over 1964, with the party leader getting 26,077 votes, compared with 24,044 for Labor's Richard Butler and 4,405 for Liberal Reginald Lloyd. WIN IN SMETHWICK

One spectacular Labor gain was at Smethwick, near Birmingham, where Conservative Peter Griffiths was ousted. Griffiths, who defeated former foreign secretary Patrick Gordon Walker in 1964, went down to Labor's Andrew Faulds by 3,490 votes.

When Griffiths won in 1964 he was accused by Wilson and others of exploiting race prejudice. Smethwick has a big immigrant community.

"This is surprising," a Conservative party official said on hearing the Smethwick result. Labor built up a massive lead in the first phase of vote counting. This is because most of their support is in the big urban centres.

Gordon Walker returned to the national political scene with a victory over his Conservative rival in the London suburban constituency of Leyton.

Gordon Walker, forced out of the Wilson cabinet when he lost in a Leyton byelection following his general election defeat in Smethwick, edged Conservative Ronald Buxton by more than 8,000 votes.

ISLAND'S

(Continued from page one) 618,102. This wouldn't be good with an election staring the government in the face so we go into the real estate business."

Mr. Ferguson said it is time "we had someone who is concerned over the financial mess we are in at the present time."

Apparently no one in the government seems to be concerned, according to statements made in the past. We need a leader who will have control over the various ministers of the respective departments to see that they keep within their spending estimates.

NO ONE IN CONTROL

"There isn't any question whatsoever that we haven't anyone in control at the present time."

Mr. Ferguson said "our only hope, as I see it, is to get additional revenue from Ottawa. To get this additional revenue it is up to the government to show that it has carried out its administration of financial affairs of the province in a business like and efficient manner. The budget speech delivered by the provincial treasurer Thursday night does not prove this."

Mr. Ferguson said the story of Conservative government financing is "additional revenues each and every year, larger deficits and larger debt charges."

"Is there anyone in this chamber who will say that this province is not in a serious financial condition? If they are
