459 Blood Donors At Charlottetown

When the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic at Charlottetown finished the two days of clinics last evening 459 donors had been registered. This was just 41 short of the 500 objective and was considered a creditable showing.

The total collected to date on the three days of clinics is 983, 177 short of the objective of 1,160. This can still be made up at today's clinics which are to be held at the R. C. A. F. Station this morning and afternoon and at St. Mary's Hall in Summerside this evening.

The province's quota for the four days of clinics is 1,000 and it is most urgent that this number be secured if there is to be enough blood to supply the needs of patients in N.S. local hospitals for the next six months and also provide the proportion required for the armed services overseas.

Direct TV Coverage Of Coronation Seen Possible

LONDON, Nov. 5 (Reuters)—Televiewers in Britain may see the actual crowning of Queen Elizabeth in Westminster Abbey next June 2 after all.

The coronation joint executive committee, responsible for coronation planning, today issued a statement that it had "reviewed proposals" for filming and televising the ritual.

Chairman of the committee is the earl marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, whose statement last month banning TV cameras from the two-hour crowning ceremony caused a public outcry. An estimated 12,000,000 Britons would have watched the ceremony on TV.

Prime Minister Churchill, whose cabinet approved the ban, later told parliament the decision might be modified.

It is expected television cameras will be allowed to record everything but the more sacred moments of the service—such as the anointing—and close-up shots will be forbidden.

Workmen's hammers sounded today along the Mall—the stately tree-lined avenue leading to Buckingham Palace—as construction began on the first of 23 grandstands on the coronation route.

When completed, they will give more than 30,000 persons a close-up view of the panorama.

Early next year work will begin on more stands along other parts of the six-mile professional route which the Queen will take on her way back to the Palace from Westminster Abbey.

The seats—expected to total more than 90,000—will be allocated to official organizations and Commonwealth visitors.

With a little less than seven months to go before the big day, London hotels are already booked solid. Prices being charged by private owners for seats and hotel rooms along the route has become a major issue.

Lord Jowitt, Lord Chancellor in the late Labor Government, said today it was a "gross libel" to say that hotels are charging excessive prices for accommodation during the coronation season.

Socialist Elaine Burton told the House of Commons last week that travel agents have complained that London hotels are demanding £1,000 a week for a single room overlooking the route.

Wool from Canadian sheep amounted to 6,378,000 pounds in 1952, compared with 5,700,000 pounds the previous year.

St. Paul's Church Laymen's Ass'n Meets

The monthly meeting of the St. Paul's Church Laymen's Association was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening at 6.15 P.M. when all present sat down to a tasty supper provided by the Ladies Guild of the church. A sing song was then held with Mr. Thomas DeBolis in charge and Mr. Paul Cudmore presiding at the piano.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the presentation of a prayer book from the officers and teachers of the Sunday School to Miss Ann Worthy who has been a valued member of St. Paul's Church and Sunday School for a number of years. The presentation was made by Mr. Arthur Duvar in the absence of Mr. J. E. H. Worth, the Superintendent of the Sunday School, who was unable to be present. The president of the Association, Mr. Gerald E. Procter also thanked Miss Worthy for the many times she had helped the Association.

Prime Minister Churchill cabled Eisenhower congratulations. He foresaw a renewal of their work together for the causes of peace and freedom.

The regular business of the meeting was then dealt with after which the President closed the meeting with the benediction.

Varied Reaction To U.S. Election Results Reported

(By The Associated Press) Many officials and newspapers of the free world expressed pleasure Wednesday that Gen. Eisenhower had won the United States election, but some misgivings were obvious.

The Republican standard bearer's landslide jarred political seismographs adjusted for 20 years to the doings of Democratic administrations. Socialists particularly, in power and out, viewed the election results coolly.

Western Europe, which has known Eisenhower as both conquerer and liberator, received the news that he is becoming chief of state of its powerful ally with polite utterances and an undercurrent of uneasiness.

Areas where Governor Stevenson feeling had run high were at least hopeful the Republican victory would not mean a U.S. withdrawal into isolationism—a scare word to governments receiving American aid.

Prime Minister Churchill cabled Eisenhower congratulations. He foresaw a renewal of their work together for the causes of peace and freedom.

The Republicans' victory brought hope to the opposition in Canada, the Progressive Conservative Party, that it can end the 17-year rule of the Liberal Party in an expected general election next year.

In keeping with custom, there was no public comment by Prime Minister St. Laurent, of Canada or any other minister. However, it was understood to be the Prime Minister's opinion that the Eisenhower election would not affect the good relations existing between Ottawa and Washington.

While U.S. troops in Korea received the election news with cheers and boos, South Korean president Syngman Rhee said "The American people have chosen the best man as their president."

A forecast that U.S. policy will center more on Asia—"where the fate of the western world will be decided"—came from the Liberal Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet. In the Middle East, rich in oil but poor in many other ways, hope was expressed of closer ties between Arab nations and the United States under a Republican administration.

PARIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—The job of picking out a uniform for the proposed European Army was begun here today by a six country committee of supply experts. West Germans were among the 60 members of the military supplies committee of the European Defence Conference who studied a United States army quartermaster show of clothing. They will see similar displays by nations in the E. D. C.—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg.
