38 Militia Trainees Inspected At Armories

An official inspection of a group of high school student militia trainees, marking the end of a five week's course, was carried out Friday afternoon at the Charlottetown Armouries.

Inspecting officer was Col. K. M. Johnston, ED, commander of No. 2 Militia Group, accompanied by Maj. L. W. Ramsay, commanding officer of student militia training.

A total of 38 trainees were in the group inspected, and the inspection marked the end of the first phase of a three-year training program. For the first time this year three third-year trainees acted as student trainee instructors.

Purpose of the training program is to provide future officers and NCOs for the Canadian Militia. This year's five week course started July 13.

The inspection involved a salute, taken by Col. Johnston; general inspection, march past, and remarks by the inspecting officer. Awards were also presented to three trainees.

CONGRATULATED

Col. Johnston congratulated the trainees on their fine turnout, and welcomed the parents and friends present.

"It was a very fine demonstration of military training," said Col. Johnston. He said the manner in which the drill was carried out, was particularly good, in view of the small floor area of the armories.

"The marching, dressing, steadiness and turnout were the finest," said Col. Johnston. He added that the performance was one of the best, if not the best to date.

Col. Johnston said the second phase of the student militia training would be carried out at Camp Aldershot, N.S. next year, and he hoped that the trainees would continue the program.

Trainees could be employed as thaine instructors during the third year phase of training. Also, trainees on completion of three years training, could enroll in the militia.

Awards were presented by Col. Johnston to three trainees.

Tpr. W. S. Richard received the award for the highest overall standing in discipline, drill and training; Tpr. J. D. Daley, was presented the award for showing the greatest improvement in drill, discipline and training; Tpr. F. J. Temporary Bridge Built At St. Peter's SOURIS — Businessmen "raising a ruckus" in St. Peter's forced the re-opening of the St. Peter's bridge yesterday evening shortly after it had been closed off for repairs during the morning.

The bridge, jury-rigged some time ago after a storm had all but swept it away, is slated for complete rebuilding, and to that end was closed off to traffic as the workmen could proceed with their task.

However, the business section of St. Peter's spans the bridge, and the detour set up to take vehicles around it stretches for three miles over dirt roads.

Businessmen were unhappy with the arrangement as Square K Construction Limited started yesterday driving nine piles to support a temporary bridge which will stand for the three-month period necessary to complete the new bridge. The temporary crossing is expected to be finished in about four days time.

Until it is ready the old bridge will be left open to traffic.

Volunteer Search Scheduled Sun.

SOURIS — A volunteer search is being organized for Sunday to look for the body of Thomas Gilbert, a Souris fisherman lost and presumed drowned since last Saturday.

People from the Naufrage area are being recruited to search up and down the beaches Sunday in case the body has not turned up by that time.

Several matters pertaining to the building, dances and fall projects were discussed with the matter of winter dances on Friday and Saturday nights. This would pose quite a problem due to the method of heating, it was stated. This problem is expected to be solved by this fall. At present the Y's Men are not sure of the plans of the owner for the future of the building. It is rumored that the new hospital would be built on the present site of the Y Centre and a committee has been appointed to contact the Beaver Club and ascertain its future plans.

The play runs from August 17 through 22, with performances at 2 and 4 each afternoon.

In the evenings at 8:30 next week the theatre is presenting the premier engagement of First Offence, only the second feature-length Canadian film produced by the National Film Board. First Offence is the working title of the film, but it will be called Nobody Waves Goodbye in release.

It tells the story of one adolescent's difficulties in conforming with the restrictions of modern society, and his downfall coming from a rebellious search for personal identity.

Metropolitan Toronto serves as the background for filming and plot, and the acting is done exclusively by Canadians.

Home on Thursday afternoon, August 20.

Cardigan's minimum objective is 120 donors for the two hour period between 2 and 4, during which the clinic will be in operation. This is the quota set for all afternoon clinics held in this province and is based on an attendance of 60 donors per hour.

Last year's clinic in Cardigan produced a total of 81 donors in the two hour session. This was a considerable improvement over the previous year's result, but was still far below the much-needed objective.

Gold Cup & Saucer Girls, Parade Again Highlight Old Home Week

By RALPH CAMERON

For one thing there will be at least half as many again of the great number of splendid floats which drew enthusiastic applause last year. There will be more than a dozen bands. There will be clowns and antique cars, horses and ponies, color, life and excitement all wrapped up in one grand and glorious burst of a kaleidoscopic extravaganza designed to send the blood pressure soaring to happiness level.

And when the parade is finally over that is still only the beginning folks, of a day filled with traditional Old Home Week excitement with an added flip of a variety of entertainment for the Gorgeous Gold Cup and Saucer Girls before the evening to which it all leads even starts.

It is Friday night the creme de la creme, the piece de resistance, that is the night the greatest harness race ever staged in Charlottetown race track — no stranger to top quality racing — will be seen by a screaming crowd of thousands of speed-hungry track followers gathered from all over the continent in hopes of seeing the track record go by the boards.

And this year the great Evening Parrot Gold Cup and Saucer Pace might just give the fans exactly what they want.

GREAT THRILL

But whether it does or not, it will give them a tremendous thrill of seeing a brand new Miss Gold Cup and Saucer reign over Maritime harness racing for the coming year. Prior to the race each of the girls will draw a number and that number will correspond with the number of one of the horses encered in the big race. The pacer crossing the wire first has the added honor of bringing a different crown to a lovely lady.

The girls will be arriving at the track before the race and will be driven in their special convertibles with lucky chauffeurs at the wheels. They will be on stage in front of the grandstand where all may enjoy the sight of eight beautiful girls clad in racing silks and carrying the traditional whip.

This tremendously exciting day sees Old Home Week celebration reach a crescendo of frenetic activity, and who ever said Friday was an unlucky day? Old Home Week is what its name implies, a full week of cattle shows, vaudeville, midway and harness racing running from August 17 to August 22 with Friday the 21st being the truly big night.

Charlottetown, and the whole of Prince Edward Island, is in the midst of a fabulous Centennial Year celebration to commemorate the first meeting of delegates here in 1864 to talk about a union of the colonies.

1964 has seen a never-ending never - tiring, never - lessening round of meetings, luncheons, dinners, plays, revues, orchestras; comedy and drama, farce and pathos.

But now it runs headlong into The Gold Cup and Saucer day and this could just prove to be the highlight of a whole year's entertainment. So, let's go, Joe, the curtain is rising and here they come.
