BRISTOL

The old fox of the sealanes here, John R. O'Brien, has retired from the fishing game. He knew the grounds so well that it is why he was called the "old fox" of the fishermen. He has sold his boat and fishing equipment to make sure he is through. This vicinity mourns the loss of one of its most respected residents, in the sudden passing of Ben Keefer, after a brief illness. A barber here for forty years, Ben was known far and wide. He was a friend to every one and his passing is a severe shock to the school bell tolls here. Mrs. Mary Malone will be in the teacher's office in Bristol. It is understood that the old harbour school will likely stay closed this season, for the first time in history as the attendance is not big enough to operate. Many excellent students passed through that old school over the years.

Miss Norma Sinnott left this week for Alberta, where she will resume her teaching duties, in that western province where the dew never falls.

Mrs. Walter O'Brien returned from a long trip to Louisiana, where she visited her daughter Theresa, who is a nun at the convent there. The trip to the southern states was a long one and took five days driving to make it to the warm south.

John J. Perry, is building a new house for Mr. and Mrs. Walter McAdam, at present, as they sold their large home on Leval Road, for a residence and office. The McAdams are residing at Lakeside for the present.

The village school here was a sold after the new high school was built, and has been converted into five modern heated apartments. Some of them are already occupied.

John McEachern, who has been residing in the village, where he is a driver for McAdams long distant transfer, has purchased the Earl Drake property in the Harbour district. This old home was once the Wallace MacDonald home and store, many years ago. The building is being raised at present, and repaired, and will make a lovely home for the new owner.

The older class here learned with regret last week of the passing of M. Herb Sinnott in Boston. His old home was in Moss Hill Rear, and he was the youngest of the time since his brother Fred died. Another brother, Father A. Sinnott resides in Boston.

Norman Conohan, a long time pressman with the Evening Express is on vacation now. If a home is in Bristol, where he will spend some of his off-time at least.

Mrs. Nora Arnold has returned to Bristol, to reside in the old Alfred McEwen home near the old United Church.
