

GRAND Tea Party.

ON THE NEW CHURCH GROUNDS
—AT—
TRACADIE,
—ON—
WEDNESDAY, JULY 5th.

Only a few minutes walk, through a beautiful grove, from Tracadie Station, an ideal place for a day's outing.

All the amusements, games and attractions usual at the very best tea parties, together with many new and rare scenes and attractions are guaranteed all visitors.

Suffice it to say that all concerned are fully determined to do and provide everything that will entertain pleasure and delight in a royal manner. Every person who will be so fortunate as to come should the fifth prove unfavorable the tea will be held on Saturday 8th July. Besides the regular trains running at reduced rates, a special will leave Ch'town at 8.30 o'clock, will leave Summerside at 6.40 o'clock standard.

Specials for the west returning will leave Tracadie at 4.30 standard. Exceptionally low fares from the east by regular trains.

I Am So Glad

You Didn't Forget a Bar of ROYAL OAK SOAP.

We're sure to want it in our house. It improves the clothes so much, besides it is very pure and one bar will do as much as 2 bars of filled imported soap.

For sale everywhere. Beware of imitations

Well Built Houses

are the kind of houses I put up. I have built a number, and can show you them.

The owners of the houses like them.

Call and see me, or write me and I will call and see you.

You will find my figures surprisingly low.

THE DAILY EXAMINER

JUNE 27, 1899.

A BRILLIANT SCHOLAR.

The advancement of Mr. William S. Ferguson M. A. to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy (Cornell) at the age of twenty-three years is an event which marks Mr. Ferguson as one of the most distinguished young scholars of his age. We heartily congratulate him, and also his parents, Senator Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson, upon the success that he has so early achieved in the world of learning and philosophy and we trust that he will continue in the career of usefulness to his fellow men which he has so well and so happily begun.

"THE EXAMINER" AND THE FARQUHARSON LIQUOR LAW.

In view of what THE EXAMINER has repeatedly said concerning the Farquharson License Law, the Guardian's inference that we approve of it and are at one with The Patriot and The Guardian in respect to it, is, to say the least, remarkable. THE EXAMINER is utterly opposed to the Farquharson License Law which is by no means so restrictive a measure as that of last year, supported by THE EXAMINER and rejected by the Liberal majority on the ground that the "blood-money" principle would be compromised. We condemn unequivocally the scandalous desertion of that principle by Premier Farquharson and those of his party who pretended to be devoted to it. But we desire it to be distinctly understood that, though they have been false to their "principle," THE EXAMINER has not changed its position, but is ready, as it has been all along, to maintain and support such reasonable liquor laws as can be enforced. In the country, drunkenness has been reduced to the minimum as a result of the operation of the Scott Act; and consequently we support the Scott Act for the country. In the larger towns the Scott Act has been comparatively inoperative and comparatively a failure; therefore we are willing to try something else in respect to them—anything else that is fair and right and will have the effect of reducing the evil of drunkenness. But we are not in favor of the makeshift Farquharson law which, besides being crude and inefficient, is unfair and wrong in that it imposes a special tax upon citizens only for the special benefit of the Province, apart from the city.

—It is not necessary to direct attention to the letter of "A Witness," published in another column. The statements made are so definite and direct that they must compel attention.

—Liberal corruption has received another severe rebuke in West Elgin. It is to be hoped that the people will utterly reject the politicians who have brought disgrace upon Canada.

—As you go forward in life never expect too much, never hope for too little.

Ben. Parrot, who suffered death at Hamilton, Ontario, for the slaying of his mother, was the seventh murderer to be executed since 1899 opened, the others being Cordelia Viau and Sam Parslow, at Ste. Scholastique; Casimir, at Kamloops; Czuby and Guszek, at Winnipeg; and Marion Brown at London. There are at least three others under sentence also. The murderer has been very busy of late.

Don't Forget This.—The public are asked to send all illustrated magazines, newspapers and reading matter for the use of the men in Camp to the Rev. T. F. Fullerton's, at the manse, Pownal street.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES

Montreal Star: Full and frank criticism of the "estimate" is possibly, the kind of Parliamentary oratory that pays the country best. It makes experienced Ministers cautious about inserting doubtful items in their programme of expenses; and—what is possibly better—it renders them doubly careful how they expend the money they do get voted into their power. Parliamentary talk is always expensive; but in this case, at all events, it pays for itself many times over.

Halifax Herald: Hon. Sydney Fisher, who swallowed his professed prohibition principles, in order to defend the government in its plebiscite fraud, has recommended an extension of the Scott Act to provinces, instead of municipalities, as the best possible solution of the problem of the liquor traffic. An interesting commentary on Mr. Fisher's position is afforded by the overwhelming defeat of the Scott Act a few days ago, in Mr. Fisher's own county of Brom. Among the strongest of temperance constituencies Broms must be counted; but it seems Broms would rather vote for free rum than approve of a man who could swallow his professed principles as Mr. Fisher did on the plebiscite.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Appropriately Remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Henderson and family, of North River, accompanied by Miss Cummings, left this morning for Calgary, N. W. T., near where Mr. Henderson will be associated with Mr. Benj. Hearst in an extensive ranching business. A few days ago, the members of Loyal Division, Sons of Temperance, as a token of esteem, presented Mr. and Mrs. Henderson with a valuable writing desk accompanied by the following address:—

DEAR BROTHER AND SISTER HENDERSON: It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we the members of North River Loyal Division assemble here tonight to bid you farewell and wish you God speed. It is impossible for us to express the sorrow we feel at the loss of two so faithful, honorable, and deeply interested members of our order. Your departure from our midst will be keenly felt, not only by the members of the Division, but by all with whom you are acquainted, for you have by your geniality, kindness and public spiritedness endeared yourselves to all. We heartily appreciate the interest you have taken in and the valuable and cheerful assistance rendered not only to the temperance cause but every cause that tended to the welfare of the community. Nevertheless, we hope that our loss may be your gain, and that your highest ambitions and anticipations may be more than fully realized in the "Golden West." You have the best wishes of the members of this Division for a happy, prosperous and useful life in your future home.

We have much pleasure in presenting you with this writing desk as a token of our highest esteem and our appreciation of your interest and labors on behalf of our noble order, and as a loving remembrance of your brothers and sisters of North River Loyal Division. On behalf of the Division,
J. B. SCOTT,
M. A. ROBERTSON,
R. B. MCKINLEY.

The gift and address were fittingly acknowledged by Mr. Henderson, who takes with him to his new home the best wishes of a host of friends.

The Latest Fad.—Gentlemen's silk front shirts—three dozen to select from at Paton & Co's.

A little while ago a Missouri judge decided that a man, under severe provocation, might physically chastise his wife, and suffer no legal penalty. Now comes a New York Daniel, who holds that a woman who humiliated as well as hurt her husband by spanking him over her knee was guilty of no offence that called for punishment. The equality of the sexes is being maintained in some things at any rate.

THE PROBS—Light winds, fine and warm.

HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

Sir,—It is about time that the manner in which the patients in the Asylum are treated be made known to the public. The food is not fit to be eaten. The porridge is in a filthy condition from mice being in the meal. The milk is full of dirty grounds, and very often the meat is so bad that some of the patients refuse to eat it. The food is often served about half cooked, boiled turnips often so raw that they are hard to cut when served; porridge often raw and with lumps of oatmeal appearing through it. The patients in many ways are neglected, some patients who are sick or not able to eat the common food that is served are very often neglected. When they have an attendant who takes an interest in their welfare and provides them with proper food and good care they get it,— otherwise they would in many cases want and suffer great misery. There is nothing allowed to be sold out of the building. The usage given to both attendants and patients is supposed to be quashed down and kept a secret. But that kind of treatment has gone far enough. It is time now to have justice done. It is a disgrace to the country to have people treated in such a manner. The cold some of the patients suffer in winter is inhuman and cruel. There are cold guarded rooms where patients are confined sometimes for days at a time. Those rooms in cold weather are extremely cold. There are heaters in each room, but on the coldest day in winter the heat does not reach the rooms. It is a common occurrence when attendants are washing up those guarded room floors to see the water freeze on them instead of drying as they would if the place was not extremely cold. The heaters seem to be out of order as the heat does not reach the rooms, and it has been so for many years. There are some patients who have been confined in those cold rooms and whose tears and cries for heat was heartrending to see and listen to. But the same state of affairs exists, and that is not all. A large number of the other bedrooms are cold, as the windows seem to be out of repair. There is such open space about the sashes as to allow wind and storm to blow on the patients at night; often causing them to take severe colds and colds in their heads as their beds are near those windows and cannot be avoided. It is a common occurrence for the attendants to take a dust-pan and a pail and to go through the rooms and gather up large quantities of snow even off of the patients' beds after a severe snow storm in winter, and at any part of the season it is a common occurrence for the patients to complain if not being able to sleep at night with rain blowing in their faces. The building seems to be greatly out of repair as there is a large quantity of plaster broken and it is not repaired and has been so for years. There exists no rule of changing wet or soiled beds at night, as is done in other hospitals, and when a patient happens to have wet or soiled a bed at an early hour after retiring for the night they are compelled to lie in that wet, cold and even filthy condition the entire night. In regard to cleanliness the basement was in a most filthy and sickening condition for months, there being a swarm of useless and dirty cats which serve to collect filth and offensive smell. Such is the condition of the asylum. Anyone visiting or passing through the building would observe cleanliness in the wards as the attendants take pride in keeping that part looking well. Much more can be said. But it is time to have this matter attended to and have some one at the asylum who is capable of observing the rules and of doing justice.
