STRICT ATTENTION

to Business, Honesty and Square Dealing, and paying Cash every time, is what has placed
L. E. PROWSE
to the front of all competitors, in CLOTHING, HATS, &c.
He does not advertize to sell goods at cost, but he guarantees to sell from 10 to 25 per cent less than those who do advertize to sell at cost.
He does not try to deceive the people by making a big blow and offering paltry rewards, but tries to do things right and has the goods to back him up in what he advertizes.
He has now about 6,500 HATS and $4,000 worth of CLOTHING, which he guarantees to sell from 10 to 25 per cent less than any house in the trade. A lot of this Clothing was bought less than half price, and will be sold less than half price.
He does not ask the people to believe his advertisement until they see his prices; he knows then they will believe, and knows that the goods and prices back him up every time.
All goods freely shown, or sent to any part of the town.

ABSOLUTE PURITY.

THE following analyses (made by the Dominion Analyst) of three BAKING POWDERS sold in this market should put a stop to the unjust efforts of the Royal to mislead the public as to its being the only pure Powder. These in-partial tests show that other Powders are as pure and wholesome:
W. F. SAUNDERS, Dom. Analyst, St. John, N. B.

An Irish-American on Home Rule.

Alexander Sullivan, ex-president of the Irish National League, referring to the defeat of the Home Rule Bill, says: "I will not be discouraged by this defeat. I have never had much faith in the success of the Bill in the present Parliament. I regard the defeat of the second reading, and an early submission of the question to the people as a greater advantage than the successful vote on the second reading, with a long period of inactivity. Following that vote the present situation compels an active campaign and thorough discussion throughout England, Ireland and Scotland. The more it is discussed, the stronger it will become. It is one of the great progressive questions which will bear discussion.
Some things are settled by the progress already made. First, we have the confession of an English Prime Minister that Ireland was brutally mis-governed, and misgovernment of that character has utterly failed, that England stands before the world confessedly disgraced until her method of misgoverning Ireland has been changed. Second, the offer embodied in Gladstone's bill fixes the minimum of self-government for Ireland. She can never be offered less than Gladstone has offered her. Whenever England finds herself embarrassed by foreign complications she must conciliate Ireland. That conciliation can never be attempted with the offer of anything less than Gladstone has asked England to concede. The Irish in America will stand by the Irish in Ireland. In continuation of this struggle they want it settled peacefully. If England will not consent to a peaceful settlement then upon her must be the responsibility of such other methods as may be resorted to peacefully or otherwise. The Irish race the world over will prosecute this war until it is won. Much of Irish liberty is delayed, "not ended."

Victims of a Mock Marriage.

A divorce case of a most singular character is before the public in Ontario, and is expected to come before parliament at its next session.
It appears that Dr. Layell, of Smith's Falls, who in the Canada Gazette gives notice of application to be separated from his wife, is one of the victims of a mock marriage ceremony. Popular rumor had spread it about that he was to marry Miss Ada Mary Eaton, of Newburg, not many miles distant from his father's home in Kingston. They had been friends from childhood up, but no thought of marriage ever entered their minds. The young couple chanced to meet in September, 1882, in a friend's house in Hamilton, and after a laughing reference to the gossip which connected their names, a young lady friend suggested that it would be a good "jerk" to have a mock marriage, such as at the time was so much carried on as amusement across the border. They got a real marriage license filled in with assumed names, and there happening to be present a young clergyman he was persuaded to perform the ceremony. Nothing more was thought about it until sometime later, when the young people found out that the ceremony was really binding. But in the meantime Miss Eaton, in ignorance, had become engaged to another. Hearing how things stood, Dr. Layell hastened to inform her affianced. But despite this latter, by a ruse, succeeded in being married to her while she was still unaware of the truth.
Now application for separation is made to endeavor to right matters.

Love Tragedy.

Erotic love is not the exclusive sin of either the palatial home or humble cottage.
The unholy passion finds its votaries and its victims in all walks of life. The Milan papers are full of an exhibition of murderous jealousy in the lower stratum of society.
Francesco Carre, a waiter, lately fell in love with Caroline Bresse, an attractive young waitress, and they were betrothed.
After a while her ardour cooled, and he demanded an explanation, but she had none to give. She had changed her mind. That was all. He appeared to accept his fate quietly, and they shook hands and bade each other "farewell forever," but the next instant he placed a revolver at the girl's breast, and fired three times, and then standing by her side he discharged the same number of shots into his own body which took effect in his head, his lungs and groin. When discovered by neighbors lying side by side they were still breathing, but there is no possibility of either surviving.

A Far-seeing Husband.

A well known business man of Providence, R. I., answered the following advertisement which appeared in a Boston paper, the other day: "A lady, young and refined, who is very unhappy in her home, would like to meet an honorable gentleman who would assist her in establishing herself in some profitable business." The address was also given, and a note arranged for a meeting at the Providence depot restaurant in that city. At the hour appointed the gentleman was on hand, but he was paralyzed upon entering the restaurant to discover that the only one present, except of course, the attendants, was his own wife. The husband put on a bold front and said:
"Come, Ida, let's go home, and when you get there, engage in prayer, and thank Heaven that you've got a good husband who can look out for you when you are trying to make a blasted fool of yourself."

Scott's Emulsion of Pure

Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites Is more reliable as an agent in the cure of Consumption, Chronic Coughs and Emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

A Bold Thief.

A daring attempt to rob Scott's Bank, at Palmerston, Ont., was made on the morning of the 9th inst. The manager had been summoned by a bogus telegram to meet Scott, the proprietor. About eleven o'clock a person closely veiled and dressed in woman's clothes came into the office and said she wished to deposit $2,000. The teller invited her to take a seat in the private office until he got through with the customers, several of whom were in the office. As soon as the door was clear, the visitor asked that the office be locked until she made the deposit, and as she appeared very nervous, the teller complied with her request. On returning to the private office she opened a satchel and took out a large knife, and ordered the teller into the wash room. He refused to go, and a struggle ensued, the teller getting badly cut and otherwise injured, but finally overpowered the robber and took the knife from him, and on stripping the veil from his face, found himself confronted by one Ben Rigg, a resident of the town. Rigg is now under arrest, and will be tried by the mayor. It is thought he had accomplices. The teller, for his pluck, got his salary doubled.

Hanlan Defeated.

The final heat in the single scull race was rowed at Toronto, on the afternoon of the 8th, the water being in first-class condition. The contestants were Conley, Han-lan, Hosmer and Lee. The race was three miles. After half the distance was covered it was seen that Conley and Hosmer were out of the race. Lee and Hanlan kept well together, the former slightly ahead, and to the surprise of every one, kept in that position to the finish, Lee being about half a length ahead. Conley was a good third, Hosmer being far in the rear. The time was 17m. 31s. The prizes were: $500 to first, $200 to second, $100 to third, $50 to fourth.

The Way of Transgressors.

He hadn't attended divine services for a long time, and when they reached the church he attempted to enter by the side door.
"What are you doing, John?" inquired his wife; "that is the side door."
"Certainly," he replied, "it's Sunday, isn't it? The front door is locked and—oh—!" suddenly interrupting himself, "— of course, certainly, what an I thinking about? I was under the impression that—that—"
"Sh! that's enough," said his wife, and then she led him into the church.

Significant.

The following is part of a late telegram to the New York Herald from Portland: A fishing vessel went out this morning.
The Captain said just before he stepped on board:
"We shall be obliged to keep well out. I believe that pirate Scott would take an American vessel wherever found, and I also believe that in no case would the Government of the United States come to her aid."
"Would you resist if Scott would try to take you on the high seas?"
"Resist! No. I don't want to give Bayard a chance to hang me."
A fisherman said to-day that a Canadian Captain said in his hearing: "D—n that man of a flag you've got. Why, even Bayard is ashamed of it.
We've got a Government, and that's more than you've got."
"And I guess he's right about that," added the fisherman as he told the story.

What it Was.

A well-known gentleman about town, who is something of a stranger to Adam's ale, was lately handed a glass of water and asked to say what it was. He took it, turned it round, looked through it, smelt it, tasted it. At last he said, "Well, it looks like gin, but there's no taste to it."

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

INVALUABLE AS A TONIC.
DR. J. L. PRATT, Greenfield, Ill., says:
"It is all that it claims to be—invaluable as a tonic in any case where an acid tone is indicated."
A gentleman walking through a railroad station the other day was accosted by a fair maiden thus:—She—"Excuse me, but is not this Mr. Grey?" He—"Oh, no; that is not my name." She (with an expression of the greatest surprise)—"Why, are you sure?"

Advice to Mothers.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little shrub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.
