P.E.I. Department of Agriculture

YELLOW ROCKET

Yellow Rocket, Winter-Cross, Barbara vulgaris may be a biennial or short-lived perennial. It is from one to two feet high with smooth, simple or branching stems giving a clustered appearance. The lower leaves have long leaf stalks, a few pairs of small lateral lobes, and a large, terminal lobe. Toward the top of the stem, the leaf-stalks become shorter, and the leaves may eventually clasp the stem. The terminal lobes of the upper leaves are coarsely toothed. The leaves have a dark, glossy-green colour. The numerous flowers are small, bright yellow and quite showy. The seed-pods are somewhat four-angled and are about one inch in length.

DEHORNING

Dehorning is an annual chore which cattle men should have worked into their routine along with their other activities on the farm. There are the people who realize the wisdom of doing the job when it is most easily accomplished with the least risk. Some use a knife and caustic pencil, lifting the horn button out with the knife and cauterizing with the pencil. Still others use a dehorning tube or calf size dehorner. The practice coming into more common use is the utilization of the electric dehorner. Irrespective of which method is used they all have one thing in common, that is, the calf is not over four months of age before it is dehorned and, therefore, it is safer for the operator and easier on the calf.

HEREDITARY CONDITIONS

A condition of nearly complete hairlessness (Alopecia) at birth is seen in some calves, but very rarely. It is not a symptom of iodine deficiency in cattle as it was once assumed to be. These calves that are born hairless usually live, but remain hairless, in contrast to other calves in which the calves lose their hair from some other cause. When sick calves lose their hair, the use of vitamins, antibiotics and good nursing, as well as improved nutrition, may result in complete recovery with the complete regrowth of the hair within a few weeks. Injections of various vitamins have been used in such cases, plus the feeding of anti-biotics and B complex vitamins.

OPPORTUNITY

As this is written the salvage value of a fair size Holstein cow is interestingly between $200.00 and $300.00. TAKE TWO AGRIC NEWS WC Reports from the field indicate that thinking Holstein breeders and others the country over, are taking advantage of these higher beef prices and culling more heavily than ever before.

Feed trays and watering devices should be placed very close to the entrance of the next box to get the young to eat by themselves sooner. An abundance of fresh, clean water available to the nursing mother at all times is of supreme importance particularly during warm weather.

This routine of feeding and watering is very tedious and time consuming, but successful ranchers are convinced that the time to stretch the milk pelt is on the feed boards of June and July.

Bridgetown and Districts Calf Club meeting for the month of May was held at the home of Mr. Lloyd MacLeod on Friday evening, May 23rd. Mr. Dave MacLean attended the meeting

ANNUAL CONVENTIONS The Annual Convention of the Prince Edward Island Women's Institutes will be held on July 3rd and 4th at Prince of Wales College. An interesting program is being prepared, and the Executive are looking forward to a successful convention. Guest speakers are, Mrs. Keith Rand, President, Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, and Dr. J. A. MacMillan, Charlottetown who will speak on the "National Health Plan."

A representative from Maritime Electric will present an illustrated talk on "Electricity in the Home" - this, we recommend as being both interesting and informative.

Then, of course everyone has been so interested in the Apron Contest, the company are sponsoring an afternoon tea on July 4th at 3.00 p.m., and at this time the winners for the contest will be announced, and the prizes will be awarded. This is one of the social events at the convention, and one of the times when you will have an opportunity to "chat" with each other.

The Southport Women's Institute are preparing noon meal for those who will be in attendance on July 3rd. It is hoped that you will support this Institute and join us for dinner at the Vocational School.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT DAYS All the 4-H Garment Club members and leaders are talking about their Achievement Days - some are speaking about what took place and others on what will take place. They have been most interesting and successful up to the present, and interesting meetings are ahead for June and July. Have you ever wondered what takes place at these Achievement days? Is it just judge the work and go home? Why certainly not - this may happen, but it wouldn't be a successful 4-H event. First of all we like to see the parents in attendance - this is not only encourages the 4-H Club members, but also the leaders and supervisors, and wherever parents are interested you know immediately that the club is successful. Then of course the projects are on display for judging, and following the judging the people in the community are given an opportunity to see the work. Sometimes they are displayed again for school closing or the district convention.

Any Achievement Day is not complete without a program, and here are a few examples of the type programs we have attempted. First of all the 4-H Pledge is either sung or recited. Sometimes the girls present demonstrations as the Fredrickton group did, while others fashion some of the wearing apparel they made, as the Souris girls did. Group singing, piano selections, and folk dancing are also included in the program. June Achievement Days have been arranged in the following districts:

June 6th - Coleman. June 7th - Cornwall. June 9th - Winsloe - Launching - North Wiltshire. June 10th - Carleton Siding. June 16th - Hunter River - Cape Egmont. June 26th - Summerville - Alberton Plains. June 28th - Tryon. June 30th - Cape Wolfe.

Have you arranged for your Achievement Day yet? On Friday, May 30 the Highfield 4-H Garment Club entertained at a tea at the home of Mrs. Bruce MacPherson the local leader.

Members of the club acted as hostesses and waitresses. The guests were served tea, small sandwiches and cakes which were prepared by the girls.

The Highfield 4-H Club is one of the newer clubs - organized in January of 1958. As yet their yearly projects are not completed but we feel the time spent on the afternoon tea is of great benefit to these hard working girls.
