Political Meeting at Murray Harbor North.

Sir.—The following is a synopsis of the proceedings of a very large and influential meeting of the electors of Murray Harbor which took place in the new and commodious Hall at Murray Harbor South, last evening for the purpose of discussing the public questions of the day and especially that most important question to them, the Belfast and Murray Harbor Railway. A chairman and secretary having been appointed, the meeting was called to order at half past six o'clock, and

Hon. Senator Prowse took the platform. For about an hour he addressed the large assembly in one of the most convincing, straightforward, manly, and telling speeches that we have listened to for a long time. The Senator is known here as a man who "says what he means" and means what he says" and is "considered by all as thoroughly reliable"—that is saying a good deal for a politician. It is true, nevertheless, although not enjoying the most vigorous health at present, the old fire and vim seem to re-animated him whenever he feels placed to speak for the interests of his country. Amid the plaudits of the electors he resumed his seat and was followed by

MR. ALEXANDER MARTIN, of Valleyfield, who delivered a fine address, entering into a general discussion of the political questions of the day—the policy of the present Government, the state of the Dominion as compared with other countries; the "Free Trade" as it is in England; policy of Mr. Laurier, (with its heavy direct taxation on the people and its abnormally high duties on the necessities of life), and the various other policies of various Grit Leaders throughout the Dominion were all fully reviewed and shown to be entirely unsuited to the welfare and prosperity of Canada.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson, who was on the platform, then stepped to the front amid the vociferous cheering of the crowd, and with a few introductory remarks began his speech, which was listened to with rapt attention for some two hours and a quarter. In his most vigorous style he arraigned the "Organized Hypocrisy" before the large public opinion, with their party platforms for the last twenty-two years, showing the deception and the differences of opinion existing among their leaders, their allegations today and their denials tomorrow, their various fads for the so-called good of the country, and in their treachery and inconsistency he convicted them out of their own mouths, "to the law and the testimony." He made no accurate and the perfly and treachery of the men who cheated those districts out of some twenty-five years ago, while today, the very same men are adding insult to injury by attempting to show how much they have saved to the country by their treachery towards their constituents, and their determination if possible to repeat their former tactics. But let them remember that Belfast and Murray Harbor are a unit on this question; they are thoroughly aroused and in dead earnest, and the man or party that undertakes to oppose this right of theirs will be swept away as chaff before a cyclone when the time for action comes.

A number of resolutions were offered by James Clow, Esq., and others, which were adopted by the meeting, and with three rousing cheers for the Railway, three more for the Government and Senator Ferguson, and three cheers for the Queen, the meeting closed.

SPECTATOR. Murray Harbor North, Feb. 23, 1895.

THE SUIT CLUB CASES.

Aired in the Police Court this forenoon.—Both Adjourned.

There was a large attendance at the Police Court this forenoon, at the hearing of the cases against George A. Dixon and James Waddell. Mr. Dixon was charged with operating a lottery in Charlottetown and the charge against Mr. Waddell was having a lot or chance in the scheme alleged to be operated by Mr. Dixon. In the case against Mr. Dixon Mr. Donald A. Bruce was the complainant, and Mr. John McLeod prosecuted in the case against Mr. Waddell. Malcolm McLeod, Q. C., appeared for the prosecution in both cases, and Mr. Stephen Q. C. and H. C. Macdonald for the defendants.

The case against Mr. Dixon was first called, Mr. Waddell being the first witness. He said he knew the defendant Dixon, who conducted a merchant tailoring establishment in Charlottetown. He and Mr. Dixon had some talk about an arrangement for drawing clothes some time between Christmas and New Year's, and he (Waddell) agreed to go into the club, and paid the dollar to Dixon. The arrangement was that six or seven persons would pay a dollar a week into the club for twenty-five weeks. He saw the names of the club members in Dixon's book. He did not speak to them about the scheme before paying his dollar that he remembered of. The names were numbered in the book. His (Waddell's) number was thirty-five. He paid the dollar on account of the suit of clothes he was to get from Dixon. They were to draw for the clothes. Witness was present at the first drawing. It was held in the yard in the rear of Dixon's store. There were three others present. Dixon knew of the drawing but was not in the yard. The box for drawing was provided either by Mr. Dixon or one of his clerks. In the box was a hole which was covered with paper. The paper was broken in the yard and one of the balls was drawn out. Witness got the suit by pure chance there were sixty-five chances against him. He could not swear whether or not he was in the club when he left his measure. Mr. Dixon turned up but was not in the yard. He told witness he was the lucky man. He (Waddell) did not commence the drawing. Dixon gave the clothes and got the box, etc., for the drawing. He had since put his name down in a second club with Mr. Dixon. The sixty-four who remained after the first drawing were to pay a dollar each the next week, and then there would be another drawing and then one would drop out and the next drawing would be between those remaining. One would drop out each week. This would continue for twenty-five weeks, there being one drawing each week. At the end of the twenty-five weeks the forty-one remaining would each get a suit, they each having paid in $25. There have been six drawings up to last Saturday. The second "lucky man, Bourke, got his suit for $25. There were sixty-four chances against him. He got the suit before he got the summons. He understood the game the night of the drawing or the Saturday afterwards, and the coat and vest on the 16th February. They were to be made from measure by Mr. Dixon. He got the $25 good worth for $1.

Fredek. De C. Davies was next examined. He admitted being a member of the club, the arrangement of which had been correctly described by the previous witness. He was not present at any of the drawings. He had paid for six weeks, paying some direct to Mr. Dixon. He paid the last money on Saturday night. Charles Hermans was another member of the club who had paid up to date. He corroborated the evidence respecting the arrangement for drawing. He paid his dollar to one of the clerks in Dixon's employ. He did not speak to any of the other members before going into the club. He was present at the first drawing, and counted the marbles in the box in Dixon's shop and found the number all right. Someone suggested that the drawing take place where it was dark, and it took place in the yard. The lucky man was not there till after they returned to Dixon's shop and the book was opened. He understood Waddell was to get a suit of clothes as a result of the drawing, and he was to drop out. Witness was not present at any drawing except the first.

Mr. McLeod here announced that this was all the evidence he proposed to put in the case against Dixon, as he thought all the facts were pretty well out. The Attorney-General who was at Georgetown, had expressed a desire to be present at the hearing of the case, and he asked that it be now adjourned to enable him to attend. The Magistrate accordingly adjourned the case until Wednesday next.

The charge against James Waddell was next taken up, the witnesses examined being Charles Hermans, Robert D. Coffin, D. A. Bruce and John McLeod. The evidence did not differ materially from that given in the case against Dixon. This case was also adjourned until Wednesday next.

There were fourteen subpoenas issued, but only those witnesses whose names appear above were examined. The taking of testimony occupied the time of the court for about three hours. The foregoing summary of the evidence is all that we can find space for to-day.

The Monthly Record.—During the month of February the following fines were disposed of at the police court: Canada Temperance Act, convictions 10, dismissals 1; assault 1; drunkenness, convictions 10, dismissals 1; nuisance 1; breach Statute's Act, 1; disturbing religious worship, 2.

THE STEAMER OLIVETTE.

The Canada Atlantic and Plant Line to Place Its Pet Ship on the Route Between Charlottetown and Boston.

The management of the Canada Atlantic and Plant Steamship line has decided upon a schedule of sailings for the coming spring, summer and fall, which will give the best possible service to its patrons and provide more fully for a satisfactory handling of its growing business; and Islanders will no doubt be pleased to learn that the new arrangement includes the running to this part of the "Olivette" of the fleet, which is to be put on the route early in the spring, making weekly trips between this port and Boston, calling at Hawkesbury and Halifax both ways. The "Olivette's" schedule will be as follows: Leave Boston Tuesdays at noon; arrive at Charlottetown Tuesdays, 5 p. m.; leave Charlottetown at 5 p. m.; arrive at Hawkesbury at 9 a. m.; leave Hawkesbury at 10 a. m. Thursday; arrive at Charlottetown at 2 p. m. Thursday; leave Charlottetown at noon Friday; arrive at Hawkesbury at 5 p. m.; leave Hawkesbury at 6 p. m.; arrive at Halifax at 6 a. m. Saturday; leave Halifax at 10 p. m. Saturday and arrive at Boston at 7 a. m. Monday.

This service is to continue until June 28, when the Olivette will join the Halifax on the Boston-Halifax route for the tri-weekly summer service, and the popular steamship of last summer, overhauled and improved, the Florida, with the same obliging and efficient officers, will begin the weekly trips to Charlottetown.

It is thought that this new arrangement will fully meet the requirements of passengers and business men and prove popular with both. The Olivette is a splendid ship, her furnishings and equipments being very complete, and she is so speedy that it is possible to arrange her schedules with the regularity of a railroad train. Her advent upon the Charlottetown-Boston route will no doubt be received with favor, and the company will certainly receive the encouragement and patronage from shippers and travellers which its efforts to meet their requirements deserve.

Talk About Styles.

Some people, talking about Nobby and Stylish Hats, reminds us of a young man not a thousand miles away from this city, on hearing the fire bell one very dark night, jumped out of bed, and without lighting the lamp attempted to get on his clothes in a hurry; but after pulling and tugging for some 10 or 15 minutes to get into what he thought was his pants, decided to light up, and to his astonishment found it was his coat! Now that is the way with ——. They may pull and tug, holler and shout Styles, till no person can have them but themselves; but when they get the light of 15 years' experience turned on them, they find that Hats are made to suit the people and not the people to suit the Hats. Now we claim, after making Hats our specialty for 14 or 15 years, to know what the styles are and what the people want in this line, always taking particular care not to sell a man a Hat that does not suit him. We cordially invite inspection of our new stock, and if the styles, qualities and prices do not suit we will not ask you to buy, but will consider you have done us a favor in looking them over.
