

Howe Grabs Hart Trophy For Record Sixth Time

MONTREAL (CP)—It's Gordie Howe's ambition to play 20 seasons in the National Hockey League.

With three years to go, he has already achieved just about any other ambition he might have. The 32-year-old right winger set a record Friday when the NHL announced he had won the Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player in the last season.

Howe has won the award six times in his 17 seasons in the league. His nearest rival in the record is former Boston defenseman Eddie Shore, who won it four times in the 1930s. Howe, who is assistant coach with Detroit Red Wings, was elected by a landslide. He picked up 81 of a possible 90 points in second-half balloting, and his overall total of 111 points of a possible 180 more than doubled runner-up Stan Mikita's 54 points. Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk won third with 44.

Howe was sidelined with a hand injury.

Mikita polled only 19 points in the second half and Sawchuk seven.

Howe's scoring title was his sixth, also a league record. His 86 points boosted him to a league career record of 1,202 points, and his 30 goals left him only four goals behind Maurice Richard's lifetime record of 344.

The sturdy 200-pounder from Mikita, meanwhile, tailed off from a brilliant start and Saw-

Other players to receive votes in the overall Hart voting were: Glenn Hall, Chicago, 42; Frank Mahovlich, Toronto, 23; Dave Keon, Toronto, 15; Gump Worsley, New York, 9; Henri Richard, Montreal, 8; Andy Bathgate, New York, 8; Plante, 8; Pierre Plante, Chicago, 3; Bobby Hull, Chicago, 1; Bob Pulford, Toronto, 1.

Voting is by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six league cities, with ballots weighted to give each city equal representation.

City Bowlers Still Fourth

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Greenwood moved into a solid first-place lead in the Maritime five-pin bowling tour here Friday, dropping only four points in the day's play and staying well ahead of second-place St. John's, which dropped only 42 points since the tournament opened Thursday under dropping only 31. St. John's has 34 and has lost 14 points, 10 of them the first day.

Shearwater, which was leading when action ended Thursday night, dropped to third spot. Although it too has 34 points, the navy crew has lost 22, with one more game under its belt than the other two teams.

Charlottetown is close behind Shearwater in fourth place with a 30-18 record. It too has a game hand over the other two.

The 11 teams entered in the tournament have another round Friday before heading into the final day today.

Grant said he had left a call with the switchboard of the Washington Hotel, asking that he and Burton be awakened at 7 a.m.—three hours before the Indians were to fly here for Friday night's opener of a three-game series with Detroit Tigers.

"I got a late call—about 2:30 this morning," Grant said, "and when I put the phone back on the receiver the cord was tangled up in it and the phone was left off the hook all night. That's why the switchboard couldn't call us and wake us."

Tobbiels asked how much he would fine his delinquent players, replied: "I'm going to give some thought to it." He declined to say whether there would be any additional punishment for the fine for Burton, who missed plane connections once before this week.

Missing Flight Nobody's Fault Says Jim Grant

DETROIT (AP) — PITCHER Jim (Madcat) Grant and rookie outfielder Ellis Burton, listed as missing when they failed to show up for Cleveland Indians scheduled flight from Washington Friday, arrived here several hours late—and full of apologies.

"It wasn't my fault . . . it wasn't Elly's fault . . . it was nobody's fault . . . we just slept through and missed the plane," Grant said from his hotel room here.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Big Daddy Lipscomb, a fan-loved goliath of professional gridiron for a decade, died Friday of unknown causes after a night on the town in his yellow Cadillac convertible.

The examiner said there were at least three medicine marks above veins on both elbows of the 31-year-old Negro

Don't Blame Us

UNDOUBTEDLY there'll be some great ones come out of the canoeing today and tomorrow but if there should be any scarcity for the anglers, we want to assure them we did nothing to spoil their fun.

Yes, that's right, we were at the North River Canoeing Thursday night and the purpose of the jaunt was to fish trout. The place was jammed but we had things much to ourselves once we put the Chandler-MacLaine-Gauthier overboard into the North River water.

However, having things to ourselves didn't help one little bit. "Rabbit" and Roy got one little fellow each and we came through with the same score as Montreal Canadiens against Toronto Maple Leafs in the final game of the Stanley Cup semifinals.

It was our first venture of the 1963 season and we needed to be coaxed at that. We had the idea that it would be plenty cold and we were dead right.

We gradually became perished throughout the two-hour outing and the time arrived when we failed to feel the cold at all. That apparently was the stage where our feelings had left us completely.

We tried desperately to prevent the weather wasn't bothering us one little bit but we were sure we weren't fooling "Rabbit" and Roy for one minute. The other part owner of the boat had a business engagement that kept him in town, so we wasn't there to watch us almost turn to stone.

However, we thought we had done pretty good on the excursion but those thoughts look and trimmer once we reached shore. The moment we saw the car and realized there was a heater inside to warm us up, we began to feel the cold. We proceeded to start shaking. This was a dead giveaway. Our presence was at an end and we were too cold to even worry about the 'Jig being up'.

Quite A Boat Ride

We had visions of having our picture on the sports page with at least a three pounder but as usual we came home with nothing more than the fishing rod to prove we were actually fishing.

However, our companions felt little better. So we console ourselves by saying that they just weren't biting.

But we did have quite a boat ride. "Roy" was chosen by a 5:1 vote to do the oaring. It's a good job he did because "Rabbit" and I were too cold to row. "Roy" was the last hope. Without our sailor friend, Gauthier, Roy was the last hope and we quickly gave him the job.

"Rabbit" and I were too cold to row but did get course quite a few times. We criticized him for his lack of seamanship despite the fact that he was doing a half as good. Apparently Roy figured we wanted to see most of the scenery because he kept going from one side of the river to the other.

There was one incident that we figured we'd be lucky to reach port but the canny Scot finally made a staunch landing as "Rabbit" roared his approval. However, before the landing "Rabbit" had a few remarks to the skipper that we dare not use in this column.

They're Still There

AND so we have had our first fishing expedition of the 1963 season.

It can't be ranked as successful but we must say it will be memorable. As we type these lines, we still have the shakes although nothing stronger than tea was used to help us out.

We are naturally a bit disappointed that we didn't come across some monster of the sea last Thursday evening. Perhaps if we did, and we were so numb, that monster would have tried us instead of catching him.

At any rate, our trout fishing technique leaves a tremendous lot to be desired. But we realize this and that in itself is something to be proud of.

So boys, we can assure you the big ones are still at North River Canoeing. We hope that your catch will far exceed ours. If they can't, then you'll never make the sports page Monday morning with us as a catching him.

By the way, the contest goes all Saturday and Sunday, ending tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Make it a good one.

Kings Co. Baseball League Has Trouble With Meeting

By ED CLINTON
Souris River and the Guardian

Each year, at the start of the season, the King's County Baseball League has trouble with its annual meeting. It's usually about an hour late, and it's usually then teams fail to have representatives. This year was no exception. The meeting which has been Friday night past, but because only four teams were coming up with strong representation last Friday night this week.

The team representatives at the meeting talked among themselves, and here's some of the news. First of all, league president Jerry McCormack, announced that he is resigning because of the fact that he will be taking over Souris' entry in the league. From McCormack we learned that they will have the same team in back again. Last year's team was good enough to finish in first place and to win the league championship.

A couple of strong rumors were in the air. It was a rumor that the French Canadian, who made our debut last season would be back. Another rumor was that Peter and Cardigan were planning to unite and form one team. If both of these rumors are true then this year's league would comprise six teams, namely: Souris, Marston, St. Peter's, and Georgetown. St. Peter's and Georgetown.

SHOULD BE STRONGER
On at least three fronts the teams should be stronger. Mr. Stewart and Morell went for a youth last year. It was a big year's experience under their belts, the players on these two teams should show considerable improvement. Souris is turning to their youth program, and should be much stronger. A
