JOSEPH COOK.

JOSEPH COOK was born in Ticonderoga, N. Y., January 26, 1838. His early training was at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. He entered Yale College in 1858, but his health having become impaired, he left it early in 1861. He entered Harvard College as junior in 1863, and graduated in 1865, receiving high honors and carrying off several of the first prizes. He then entered Andover Theological Seminary, and went through the regular three years' course. He was licensed to preach, and has done so to some extent, but was not ordained. In September, 1871, he went abroad for two years, and studied under the direction of Tholuck, Julius Muller, Dorner, and Kuno Fischer. He then travelled in Egypt, Syria, Turkey and the different countries of Europe. Returning to the United States at the close of 1873, he took up his residence in Boston, and in 1875, under the auspices of the Y. M. C.
A., entered upon his special work as a lecturer on the relations of religion and science.

His lectures have been delivered mostly in Park Street Church and Tremont Temple, Boston, and are widely known as the "Boston Monday Lectures." They appeared in whole or in part in the leading newspapers, and they led to Mr. Cook's being called on to deliver, on other days of the week, courses of lectures in the principal cities of the United States.

Eight volumes of his lectures have been published, each containing "Preludes on Current events," i. e. short addresses discussing topics of urgent practical and religious importance, such as civil service reform, temperance, fraud in elections, Mormonism, the Chinese question, the Bible in schools, etc.

His work on Biology has passed through sixteen editions, that on Transcendentalism through thirteen, and that on Orthodoxy through seven. For the above information we are indebted to Appleton's Encyclopedia.

As some account of Mr. Cook's labors on the platform during the past few years may be of interest to our readers, a brief summary of them may not out of place. During the year ending July 4, 1878, he delivered 150 lectures, 90 being in the East and 60 in the West, of which 30 were given in Boston, and ten in New York city. In the year ending July 4, 1879, he gave 160 lectures, of which 72 were in the East, 70 in the West, 5 in Canada, 2 in Utah, and 11 in California—20 of these being in the city of Boston, 10 in New York and 5 in San Francisco. To deliver these he crossed the continent twice, and travelled 12,500 miles.

In the winter Mr. Cook delivered the Monday-evening lectures and another series in New York on Thursday evenings. At the final lecture of the latter course upwards of 200 people were unable to find admittance.

In Boston alone Mr. Cook has delivered 130 lectures on the most abstruse questions of the day in philosophy, science and politics. These lectures—known as the Boston Monday Lectures—were given in Tremont Temple, to large assemblies, and often when the topic was of more than ordinary interest, the edifice—capable of seating 2,500 people—was filled, to overflowing.

and explained their religious opinions at great length.

As an example of Mr. Cook's labors in India, we may say that in eighty-four consecutive days he made forty-two public appearances in that country and Ceylon.
Every one of the principal towns from the Himalayas to the sea gave him an eager and overflowing audience of educated Hindoo, and the results of his lectures to those people will doubtless be seen in future years.

From India Mr. Cook's tour extended to China, Japan, Australia and the Sandwich Islands. In Japan he gave twelve lectures, seven in English, and five through an interpreter, to audiences chiefly composed of Japanese students, teachers and public men. He gave one address in Canton and three elaborate lectures in Shanghai, China.

As already noticed in our columns, Mr.
Cook will lecture in Charlottetown only, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings next, 4th and 5th November. Never before have our people had the opportunity of hearing a speaker of such world-wide fame.
The Market Hall, in which the lectures will be given, is to be thoroughly cleaned and seated in the most comfortable manner.

Return tickets at one fare will be issued from all stations along the line of railway on the 4th and 5th November, good to return up to and on the 6th November, to parties of five or more, in company, attending the lectures.

The Canadian Club at New York.

It is now six months since William B.
Ellison undertook to bring together Canadians in and about New York, and to encourage a greater intimacy among them.
The enterprise met with immediate approbation at the hands of such Canadians as Mr.
Ellison was able to reach, and steps were at once taken, which resulted in the organization of the Canadian Club. Mr. Erastus Wiman, who represents the apex of the movement of Canadian success in New York became greatly interested in the matter, and gave it his hearty assistance, which did much tending to insure the success the Club has attained. Mr. Wiman was the unanimous choice for the presidency of the Club, which position he accepted and now occupies. The other officers are as follows: Vice-President, Sir Roderick W. Cameron and Hon. L. S. Huntington; Treasurer, William B. Ellison, William Allaire Short, Thomas W. Griffith, Dr. G.
C. Brown, Dr. S. R. Ellison and Hugh M.
Morrow; and the Membership Committee, Dr. R. B. Cummings, Ontario; G. M. Fairchild, Quebec; Henry R. Smith, New Brunswick; Arnold J. Gates, Nova Scotia, and M. W. Meagher, Manitoba. The constitution of the Club provides for two classes of members, viz: Resident and non-resident. The fees are very low, and no one is restrained from the privileges of the Club on the question of the cost, the entrance fee for both classes being $5.00, and the annual dues for Resident members $10.00, and non-resident members $5.00. The Club has been fortunate in securing very pleasant quarters at No. 3 North Washington Square, facing the Park, having large rooms admirably suited to the purpose, in an excellent neighborhood and a central position, within easy reach of the elevated and surface railroads. The rooms have been well furnished, and supply a long felt want in New York, namely, a place where the many Canadians in and about the City can meet each other and be surrounded with associations, to some degree at least Canadian. The Club now offers among its attractions a good restaurant, billiard room, reading room, card room, and a very handsome large reception room. Many of the Canadians' newspapers are on file, and more are wanted, in consequence of which the Club offers to publishers the privileges of non-resident membership in exchange for their publications. Facilities are offered for correspondence, and members may have their mail sent to the rooms, where it will be looked after until called for. There is in attendance a competent man who will give all information relative to Canadians in New York, railroad rates and times, theatres, places of interest, hotels, cabs, etc. Two hundred members have already been elected, and many applications are pending.
Among the non-resident members are notable Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon.
Edward Blake, Sir Alexander Campbell, Hon. Joseph A. Chapeau, Sir Adolph P.
Caron, Hon. Donald A. Smith, Hon. A. S.
Hardy, Hon. George W. Ross, Louis Senecal, Goldwin Smith, Sir William P.
Howlan, James Beatty, M. P.; Edgar C.
Baker, M. P.

Funny Fellows.

These postal clerks are funny fellows.
On the 19th of April, 1884, the clerks in the Marshal, Texas, post office, sent out a half section of a broom handle, with instructions to pass it along. Every post office through which it passed was expected to engrave something on the stick. Last night the stick reached St. John, but as all the space on it had been taken up long ago with the witty expressions of those in whose hands it fell, a number of wooden tags have been attached to it, containing notes, legends, etc. One of these says: "Send to Boston for culture;" another: "No north, no south, we are united; a third, 'Have it stuffed.' 'What are you giving us, 'All aboard for the Rockies.' 'Give her a good send off,' and similar expressions also adorn the tags.
One witty provincialist, under date of Oct.
23, 1885, has added the following very funny sentence—"Send to St. John, N. B., keep it a humming, or give it to the defeated candidate to beat himself with." After the St. John contribution has been added, the stick and its accompanying tags will be sent on their travels. It will probably be forwarded to British Columbia.—St. John Globe.
