Exports from Canada.

The Monetary Times refers to the number and variety of products which Canada exports. Most persons know that we ship lumber to the States, timber and deals, cattle and cheese to Britain. Many are aware that our phosphates and our potash go to the Continent, that our coal and forest products go abroad, that we ship furs and fish to various countries.
But the number of our products and the widely scattered localities to which they go are not dreamed of by the average reader. Even the person who studies the Trade and Navigation Returns for the fiscal year 1884-5, is not prepared for all that he may there find. Here, for example, is a list of mineral products shipped abroad during the year named, their total value being between two and three millions of dollars.

MINERAL PRODUCTS.
Coal	473,706 tons $1,468,160
Gold, quartz & nuggets	990,000
Gypsum	116,415 " 120,046
Iron ore	351,996 gals. 47,302
Antimony ore	1,232 tons 246,230
Iron ore	54,367 " 132,074

Silver	31 " 7,539
Phosphates	18,984 " 362,288
Salt	107,553 bush. 12,233
Stead and gravel	49,015 tons 25,500
Stone and marble	15,736 " 52,206
Other articles	165,972

Total value, produce of the mine.....$3,635,537 Three-fourths of the coal went to the United States; the remainder to Newfoundland, the West Indies, &c. The apatite, or lime phosphate, went to Britain and Germany, gypsum to the States, antimony and manganese to Great Britain and U. S.; slate to the Argentine Republic.

PRODUCTS OF THE FOREST.
Ashes, pot and pearl	5,550 bbls $156,322

Ash	8,409 tons $111,770
Birch	31,803 " 246,034
Maple	18,025 " 237,165
Oak	233 " 3,001
Red pine	29,356 " 475,573
White pine	124,477 " 1,012,210
Other woods	173,223 " 2,019,310
Other articles	6,482 " 100,221
Total value products of the forest	$3,989,708

The tan-bark, fire wood, telegraph poles and railway ties in the above list go to the United States, as do most of the logs, consisting of hemlock, spruce, pine, and other woods. Planks and boards are shipped to a great number of countries.
Deals find market mostly in Great Britain, and she is also the largest customer for our square timber.

SAVED FROM THE SEA.
The ship Southern Cross, which arrived at New York last week from Iloilo, rescued a portion of the crew of the British ship Hudson Bay, on January 11, 90 miles south-east of Cape Agulhas, and afterwards landed the shipwrecked men at Capetown.
The Hudson Bay, which was an iron vessel, left Samarang November 21 for Falmouth under W. Vyay, with a cargo of sugar. On January 6, when the ship was 210 miles off Pietonburg Bay, a heavy north-westerly gale set in. She was thrown on her beam ends and lay in the trough of the sea with her lee rail under water until the next day, despite all efforts to right her. The iron spars, which had been cut away and were hanging over the sides, pounded holes through the iron plates below the water mark, and the vessel began to fill rapidly and soon sank.
Those who were below were drowned in their berths, while those on deck were thrown into the water. Capt. Vyay was among the latter, but he seized a piece of wreckage, by means of which he managed to keep afloat. Nine of the men succeeded in reaching a boat, and they soon picked up the captain. Several times during the following night the boat narrowly escaped being swamped. The following day, when the occupants of the boat were nearly exhausted, the Southern Cross came up and rescued the men.

Names of Steamships.
To those who understand the nomenclature of ocean steamships it is unnecessary to say that the Oregon was not a born Caucasian. Her name shows that. A writer in the Rochester Democrat gives some interesting information as to the rules observed by the different lines in naming their vessels:—

"The Guion ships for instance are named after states and territories in the Northwest, including Wisconsin, Nevada, Arizona, Alaska and Oregon.
The last named vessel, whose sad fate awakens so much notice, was purchased by the Cunard Company from the Guion. The White Star line prefers names ending in 'ic' as the Germanic, the Celtic, the Britannic. The Cunard Company selects names ending in 'ia,' such as the Seydlitz, the Persia, the Reliance, and the Aurania; and the Anchor pushes the same practice. The National line very properly uses the names of nations, such as Greece, Spain, Egypt, while the Inman line honors various distinguished cities, such as Chicago and Berlin.
The State line goes for States, and names its ships Pennsylvania, Nebraska, etc.; but the Hamburg line dips into literature and calls its ships the Wieland, the Gellert, and the Lessing, with other distinguished names. The French on the other hand love wines more than books, and hence the Bordeaux line names its vessels after the best brands, such as Chateau Leon Ville and Chateau Lafite. The Brunen and Hull vessels are named after birds, and the United States and the Brazil line selects names ending in 'ance,' such as the Finance, the Advance, the Reliance.
The Monarch line, on the other hand, deals in monarchs, and its list comprises the Assyrian Monarch, the Lydian Monarch, the Grecian Monarch, etc. In this manner a remarkable degree of uniformity is preserved in the midst of a wide variety of taste.

Horrible Butchery.
A series of terrible murders has been committed at Arboladas, in the State of Santander, Panama, an entire family having been assassinated. The names of the victims are:—Carbelion Marcales; his wife, Faconda Ortega; Camilla, a girl of 12 years of age; Valera, aged 10; Ricardo, aged 8; Cayetano, aged 5; Virginia, aged 2, and an infant which the mother had given birth to in the excitement which preceded the slaughter. The crime caused a profound sensation, and the populace if not prevented would undoubtedly have summarily disposed of the assassins by lynching them. They are six in number and their names are:—Antonio Esteban, Francisco Marcales, Miguel Flores, Pantaleon Rose, and a deaf and dumb man. The President of the Republic has directed the assassins to be tried by military court-martial. The apprehension of the assassins has brought light on other crimes of a revolting character committed eleven years ago.
