Fishermen's Ass'n Brief Re Carapace Measurement

Opposition by the P. E. I. Fishermen's Association to the proposed increase in carapace measurement of lobsters is expressed in a brief forwarded to Ottawa by Mr. Charles F. Richards, secretary of the Association, in which it is urged that the change be postponed until a later date, or failing this, that a compromise be reached and that the size limit be increased this year by one-half what has been proposed. Excerpts from the brief submitted by Mr. Richards follow:

"The sudden announcement of increased carapace measurement precipitated a vigorous and alarmed reaction among the fishermen of Prince Edward Island.

"To review the background it will be recalled that three meetings on this question and on the matter of seasons were held at Moncton, and Summerside, and at Antigonish on the size question. No suggestion, to my knowledge, was made that Prince Edward Island representatives attend the Moncton meeting. The Summerside meeting concerned itself mainly with seasons, at least in the minds of the fishermen. This accounts for the lack of later attention to size increase and for the failure on the part of the fishermen here to follow up this question.

"In no way assisting this situation was the failure to report the feeling of the Antigonish meeting, or in fact to report anything subsequent to the Summerside meeting. The first knowledge of any action or further consideration on the question of size increase came with the Parliamentary Assistant's announcement on the floor of the House of Commons of the "fait accompli."

"The Prince Edward Island Fishermen's Association arranged special meetings at: Murray Harbour, April 13th, 2:00 p.m.; Georgetown, April 13th, 8:00 p.m.; Souris, April 14th, 8:00 p.m.; Wellington, April 15th, 1:30 p.m.; Tignish, April 15th, 8:00 p.m.; North Rustico, April 16th, 1:30 p.m., which meetings were attended by approximately 350 bona fide fishermen, representing the above and neighbouring shores. Dr. Wilder, Atlantic Biological Station, St. Andrew's, N.B., was present at all meetings and explained the scientific aspect of the change of measurement.

Majority Opinion

"Although the fishermen agreed generally with Dr. Wilder's explanation from a scientific point of view, and saw merit in the increase for the future welfare of the industry, nevertheless in the face of storm losses of last year cutting so deeply into the returns of many fishermen in certain areas, and poor enforcement of regulations in other areas, a possible majority felt no change should be made this year, or if some change were considered absolutely essential at the present time by the Government in order to preserve a healthy condition of a future lobster industry, then the change contemplated should be spread over a period of two years. That, is: an increase of 1-16 this year and a similar increase next year.

"After a careful consideration of the facts and judging from the opinions of the fishermen at these meetings there is definite agreement on the part of the fishermen with the views expressed at the Summerside meeting, and with those made by the Development Committee with which you are already familiar. In other words, an increase in size limit is not in favor (even though it has merits) because of lax enforcement of present regulations. There is a definite threat that the undesirable situation — poaching — in some areas may extend to others where the regulations are now adhered to.

"If, however, the Department cannot defer the regulation for a year, the compromise would be acceptable to the fishermen so that all parties concerned might ride out a rather troublesome storm.

"In conclusion we wish to express our thanks to Dr. Wilder and to your Department for so kindly considering and accepting the fishermen's request for this public hearing."

Zion Men's Ass'n Entertains Choir

The Zion Church Choir were the guests of the Men's Association at their April meeting recently.

The function opened with an enjoyable turkey dinner which was prepared and served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Zion Church.

The president called on Mr. Lloyd Balderson to propose a toast to the "choir" which was responded to by Mrs. Joseph Rodd.

Mr. Balderson in proposing the toast to the choir, spoke of the excellent service rendered by the choir and their director, Mr. Frank Johnson. He also extended to them the appeciation of the Men's Association for a job well done.

Mrs. Rodd in replying to the toast stated that the choir appreciated the good will accorded them by the Men's Association and thanked the Men's Association for the grand supper given in honour of the choir.

Rev. Mr. Nicholson and Mr. E. D. Reid also stated that Zion Church has a very excellent choir and choir director who are doing great work which is much appreciated by all the adherents of Zion Church.

A vote of thanks was extended by the president to the Ladies' Auxiliary of Zion Church for the delicious supper which they provided. Mrs. Russel Roper fittingly replied.

Attended Fisheries Council Meetings

Methods of increasing the consumption of fish and of expanding present markets were prime subjects for debate when the Fisheries Council of Canada held its annual meeting in Ottawa last week. Attending from this Province were Hon. Eugene Cullen, Minister of Industry and Natural Resources, and Mr. E. M. Gorman, Director of Fisheries in that Department. They returned over the week-end.

They said it was a very quiet conference with no matters of extreme importance under discussion. However, they spoke enthusiastically of the many displays and particularly the models executed in ice by the hotel chefs.

During the reception held on the final day of the conference one of the guests attending was Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. Present at the sessions were members of the fishing industry and representatives of the Provincial Government.

Retiring As Chief Scout Commissioner

OTTAWA, (CP) —Maj.-Gen. D. C. Spry, CBE, DSO, 40, is leaving the post of chief executive commissioner of the Canadian Boy Scouts Association which he has held for the last seven years to become director of the International Scout Bureau in London.

This was made known Friday at the quarterly meeting of the association's executive council, attended by Governor-General Vincent Massey in his capacity as Chief Scout for Canada.

Maj.-Gen. Spry, who served with Canadian forces in the Sicilian campaign during the Second World War, has for some time been deputy director of the international bureau. He will take over as director about Nov. 1 this year.

A committee was set up to find a successor for the Canadian post.

Interest Rises In Britain's Industrial Fair

By JOHN DUDMAN

BIRMNGHAM, (Reuters) — A tractor that takes the work out of gardening will be one of the top show pieces in the British Industries Fair opening here Monday.

The jack-of-all-jobs machine can cut undergrowth, mow lawns, trim hedges, sweep hay, plant seeds and pump water. It can be turned into a snowplow, water plants, dig potatoes or be used as a circular saw.

The shutters of Britain's £10,000,000 store window which will be opened for 11 days, during which time about 16,000 overseas buyers from many countries are expected to drop in on the displays here and in London.

They will see exhibits ranging from a 230-ton steel forging press to midget items such as half-inch padlocks for handbags and brief cases.

Kitchen equipment includes an electric kettle that cannot boil dry, food canisters that flip open their lids when taken off the shelf, and a can opener that can be used by right-handed or left-handed persons.

As an incentive for buyers to take advantage of Britain's industrial achievement, exhibitors are promising two things—lower prices and faster deliveries. They are out to expand overseas markets.

A big increase in Canadian buyers is expected—at least if requests for catalogues are anything to go on. In past years Canadian advance applications for catalogues have averaged about 150; this year there have been 3,000 requests.

Body of Iran's Missing Police Chief Found

By MARC PURDUE

TEHRAN, (AP)—The body of Iran's missing national police chief, Brig.-Gen. Mahmood Afshartus, was found Sunday in a shallow grave beside a roadside several miles northeast of Tehran. A rope was around his neck, his hands and feet were bound and his mouth was stuffed with a handkerchief.

Medical examiners said Afshartus, a relative of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, had been dead at least four days and probably was strangled April 20, the night he vanished in the heart of this uneasy capital.

Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi told a press conference Saturday that the missing police chief, a target of Mossadegh's enemies in the premier's struggle for complete power over Iran, had been kidnapped. He strongly implied that the identity of the kidnappers was known.

Afshartus directed the arrest of many army officers, newspaper editors and political figures after Mossadegh's narrow escape in the Feb. 28 riots, exploded by the premier's strife with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi over government powers.

The police chief's secretary said Afshartus came to his office later than usual last Monday. In the mail awaiting him was one letter which obviously disturbed him. Afshartus ordered a car about 9 p.m. and drove to a neighborhood near the Parliament buildings. He dismissed the driver there and instructed him to wait at the nearby district police station. The driver waited until early hours of Tuesday morning and then reported the chief's disappearance.

The Week at S.D.U.

One of the most certain of the signs heralding the close of another term, is the notice of the final exams. For some this will be the last time they will write examinations at St. Dunstan's, while for others returning, the same task looms ahead for many years. To the former, this time has a very special significance as they look upon another completed phase of their lives. When in high school or lower college years, one sometimes has the rather naive thought that although he hasn't studied nearly as much as he should have, he has one or more years in which to make up for the injustice he has done to himself and to those destined by God to profit by his talents and study. However, such is usually not the case, for which is gone is gone for eternity—the moments and hours wasted, will always stand as barren and unproductive gifts of God which we failed to appreciate and return to Him measure for measure.

• • •

At Graduation then, when standing at the close of one era and stepping into another, this self-examination as to our stewardship is very natural. Whatever be our chosen field, it must be pursued on the basis of what has gone before and with all the energy and vitality at one's disposal. Hence, besides not having the adequate footing because of what we neglected in the past, we are faced with the realization that what is gone is gone beyond our reach. If justice is to be done in our new field of endeavour, we have not the time, nor the incentive or occasion, to do the problems in mathematics we neglected or the Latin translations or English essays we so foolishly thought could be replaced by harder work later on in another field. Courses of study are drawn up only after much research and thought and they are drawn for a definite reason. It is a sad discovery for one to learn that education is more than learning facts at the last crucial moment, and it is a discovery that may cause despair and a feeling that one's college has let him down when he finds himself confronted by situations with which his period of formal training should have enabled him to cope. Education is a process occupying every moment and procrastination will lead to nothing but frustration.

By the way we almost forgot to tell you that the exams begin on the 11th and that the graduation exercises are on the 25th of May.

Recently the graduating class selected from its members its Life Officers who will enjoy for all time, the honor and destinction bestowed upon them. These are: President, John Mullally, vice-president, Peter Dunphy, secretary, Mary Johnston, Valedictorian, Cyril McIsaac, committee, Conrad Kennedy and Jean-Marc Bourassa. John Mullally (as are the other officers,) is most deserving of the honor of president. Probably no other member of his class has done so much for St. Dunstan's and his associates; he possesses a tremendous capacity for work and an equally great desire for the advancement of every thing worth while. Combing these qualities it is not strange why John has been associated actively in practically every phase of endeavours on the campus.

The Misses Mariedeth MacDonald and Ellen Mullally were elected recently as President and Secretary of the Sigma Delta Society for the coming year. Out-going officers are: Miss Mary Creighan and Miss Bernadette Burge, who conducted well the business of the group in the past year. This society was founded on Dec. 9, 1948, at a meeting convoked by Rev. J. P. E. O'Hanley, "for the religious, social and cultural development of its members."

Congratulations are extended to Louis McGinn on his appointment as Canteen Manager to succeed Cy MacDonald. This is the first appointment of the new administration under president-elect Murphy, and if all others are as suitable and worthy, the Union is off to a good start.

Between rain showers, Charlie Roche is having a few softball games. In the three-league competition, Grade XII leads the intramural, seniors lead the college juveniles and Giants hold command of the situation in the High School Juvenile League.

Don't let the weather get you down Charlie, for April showers bring May flowers and we'll be needing some in a month or so!

The second basketball team carried home another victory for St. Dunstan's last week by storming the Abegweit House League and taking the title in two straight victories over P. W. C. in a best-of-three series. The first game was won by a score of 52-51, with Danny Shea high-scorer, followed by Frank Slowey and Bud Lawlor. The second game was taken by 67-45, this time with Slowey in the lead over Lawlor and Shea. To the players, F. Slowey, B. Lawlor, D. Shea, T. Kane, C. Roche, J. Kelly, W. Farmer, and G. McGuigan, and coach Bob Mooney, congratulations on winning the City Intermediate championship.

Until this Saturday we wish you the best from St. Dunstan's.

Concluding Features Of Canada Packers Meeting

Well pleasing entertaining features brought the 26th annual sales convention of Canada Packers to a close at the Charlottetown Hotel on Saturday night when a variety of local talent, augmented by a singing and musical unit from St. John's, Newfoundland, presented a well balanced programme.

During the morning and afternoon sessions of the assembly, General Sales Manager C. C. Polkinghorn spoke on matters dealing with his department and was followed by Mr. F. W. Condlin, Toronto Sales Manager, and other officials.

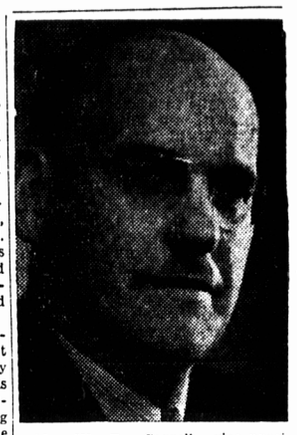
Mr. W. R. Carroll, Vice President and General Manager brought the official sessions to a close by summarizing business conditions throughout the country and expressing his pleasure at meeting so many of the Atlantic Province employees together and under such favourable circumstances.

During the afternoon guest flights were made over Charlottetown by the Canada Packers plane, which a number of citizens enjoyed.

The convention dinner held in the Charlottetown Hotel at 6.30 p.m. was followed by the entertaining features which included numbers by the Lads and Lassies Band, Don Messer and his Islanders with specialties by Charlie Chamberlain and Margaret Osborne. The Junior Y.M.C.A. square dancing performers added color and action to the picture as did also the ever-popular Dalziel-Roberts duet of tap dancers.

Mr. Harold Earle of St. John's, Newfoundland, added lustre to a name that has been identified with musical attainment in Charlottetown for more than 50 years when he contributed several accordon-piano selections with a professional touch. The programme concluded with several numbers by the Old Colony Singers from St. John's, some of which have been identified with the musical life of Newfoundland for many years. These were also heard with great pleasure.

The Atlantic Province delegates were ferried to New Glasgow by Canada Packers plane yesterday morning, after which the Toronto officials left by the same plane for Toronto.



Mr. W. R. Carroll, vice-president and General Manager, Canada Packers Ltd., who addressed the company's annual sales convention here last week.

Basilica Youth Club Hold Communion Breakfast

The annual Communion Breakfast of the Basilica Youth Club was held yesterday morning in Parkdale Hall with Mr. Charles Cheverie, Chairman of the B. Y. C. Religious Committee presiding over the well attended function.

Right Reverend Patrick McMahon, D.D., was the guest speaker. Monsignor McMahon gave an inspiring address on the ideals of Christian manhood in young men and women.

Father McMahon told the B. Y. C. members that they must be young men and women of strong Christian character controlled by conscience, principle, patriotism, and a high sense of Christian duty in order to take their proper place in the church and in the world.

He warned his appreciative audience that this would demand heroic virtue on their part and that it was most easily obtained through keeping their souls in the state of sanctifying grace.

Monsignor McMahon also congratulated the members on the success of the Club's operations during the past few years. He urged them to continue their work and encouraged them on towards greater achievements.

Miss Alice Hennessey, vice-president of the Liguorian Youth Club and Mr. Lorne Arsenault, president of the B.Y.C., also spoke. Miss Hennessey brought the best wishes of the L. Y. C. and expressed the hope that the two clubs would continue to work in harmonious unity as they have in the past.

Mr. Arsenault, a member of St. Dunstan's Basilica Parish during the years that Father McMahon has been pastor here, paid high tribute to the guest speaker as he very briefly reviewed certain aspects of Father Pat's work among and interest in the youth of the parish.

A vote of thanks to Monsignor McMahon was moved by Mr. William Ledwell and seconded by Mr. John Walsh. The chairman, Mr. Cheverie also extended a vote of thanks to the ladies of the Parkdale Women's Institute for serving such a fine breakfast. The response was made by Mrs. Ernest MacKay.

Prior to the breakfast the members attended eight o'clock Mass at St. Dunstan's Basilica and received Holy Communion.

Suggests Scout Beacon Fires For Coronation

OTTAWA, (CP)—Governor-General Vincent Massey has called on Canadian Boy Scouts and Cubs to take part in the lighting of a chain of beacon fires to mark the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth June 2.

Mr. Massey, in his capacity of chief scout for Canada, made the request Friday in a brief luncheon address to the executive council of the Boy Scouts Association.

Mr. Massey said ceremonies will be co-ordinated with those of cities and towns across the country and will centre around council fires according to traditional custom. He said this was the practice followed at the Coronation of the late King George VI in 1937.

In addition to these council fires, Mr. Massey said a great chain of beacons will stretch across Canada, built and tended by Scouts and Cubs. He said there would be thousands of these beacon fires, lit in each time zone at the same moment.
