

Forecasts Fewer Men And Material In Atomic War

MONTREAL (CP) — Lt. Gen. D. Graham, Canadian army chief of staff, said Thursday atomic weapons may mean a drop in the number and amount of men and materials in warfare.

Gen. Graham, addressing a meeting of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association, said weapons with atomic warheads would be used in a tactical way in any future war.

It is possible that one such weapon would have the destructive power of 100 types used in the Second World War, he said. "This might mean that 'instead of 100 shells, we'd just need one, and this line of reasoning leads to a chain reaction of reasoning."

Only one gun might be needed instead of 100, one truck instead of 100 trucks, one man instead of 100 men.

"The whole supply organization would be affected," he added.

Gen. Graham said such a revolutionary change would be no more surprising than changes that have occurred during the last 100 years in warfare and he mentioned the close formation tactics of the Battle of Waterloo as an example.

Gen. Graham said in any future war any concentration of men or material "will be much more liable to heavy casualties by hits or near misses."

Ground forces, therefore, had to be able to disperse or concentrate quickly and for these movements aircraft might well be the answer.

Future ground forces may have "air components in somewhat the same sense as air forces now have ground components," he said.

Earlier, the association president warned against believing that world peace "is just around the corner."

WHEATLEY RIVER UNITED CHURCH

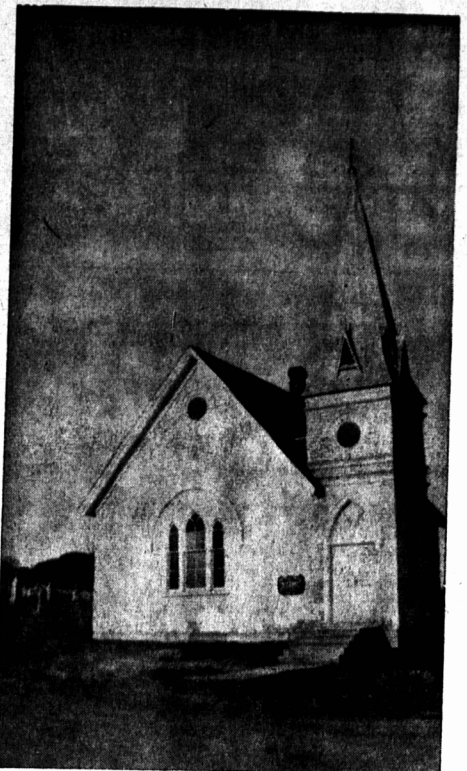

Communion Table Being Dedicated At Wheatley R.

Special services at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. are planned for tomorrow in the Wheatley River United Church to commemorate the 117th anniversary of the first church in Wheatley River, and the 95th anniversary of the present church building. It will also be the occasion of the reopening of the church building which has been closed for repairs for the past two months.

Both services tomorrow will be conducted by the minister, Rev. C. R. Moase, Mr. Moase will also preach at the morning service. In the evening Rev. L. M. Murray of Kensington will preach. The Glasgow Road-Wheatley River choir will be in charge of the music for both services, and in the evening Margaret and Jean Murray of Kensington will be heard in special numbers.

Services were first held in Wheatley River somewhere about 1832 under the auspices of a group known as Bible Christians, a group closely related to the Methodists, and a group which later joined with the Methodists.

Under the leadership of Rev. Phillip James the first church was erected in 1838. This was a log church, and lasted until 1850 when because of a very much enlarged congregation brought about by intensive evangelical work the old church was found to be too small. Thus a frame church was built in 1850. Ten years later, again because of a growing congregation brought about by intensive evangelical work, the third church was erected. This is the church which is at present in use.

In 1912 the church was moved to the opposite corner of the cemetery to its present site at the corner of the roads leading to New Glasgow and Hunter River, and at that time the building underwent very extensive repairs.

Early in the present year it was noted that the foundations and part of the sills were in a bad state of repair. A contract was let in the late summer for this work and the church has since been raised and placed on a solid cement foundation. Some minor changes have also been made to the interior, particularly in the arrangement of the choir space.

A highlight of the morning service tomorrow will be the dedication of a new Communion Table which is to be presented by the Women's Missionary Society.

In the earlier days there was sometimes two ministers serving the circuit in which Wheatley River was included. Prior to 1871 ministers were Revs. Phillip James (1834-40), Richard Cotton (1840-41), Absolom Pickings (1841-43), John Watson Butcher (1843-47), Richard Cotton (1847-50), Jacob Gale (1850-53), Francis Metherall (1853-56), Cephus Barker (1856-65), John Chapple (1865-70), and George Webber (1870-74).

Several other names also appear in the records up to this date, but all apparently were what today would be called assistants.

From 1874 to the present the following ministers have served the Wheatley River congregation: Revs. John Holmes (1874-76), G. Yelland (1876-79), G. Smith (1879-80), J. A. Defoe (1880-82), W. E. Reynolds (1882-83), J. A. Defoe (1883-84), W. H. Spargo (1884-86), E. Slackford (1886-89), W. J. Kirby (1889-92), Thomas Stebbings (1892-93), A. D. MacLeod (1893-95), H. B. Balderston (1895-96), Henry Pierce (1896-99), J. Dystant (1899-1902), G. A. Sellar (1902-06), Henry Pierce (1906-10), John B. Gough (1910-14), L. J. Leard (1914-18), George Ayers (1918-22), O. N. Peters, (1922-25), R. M. Baxter (1925-28), A. E. Chapman (1928-31), F. E. Boothroyd (1931-36), L. M. Murray (1936-40), L. M. Murray (1940-44), John I. Morrison (1944-48), G. Howard Christie (1948-54), C. R. Moase (1954-).

THE WEEK AT S. D. U.

A gloomy veil of inclement weather seems to have been suspended over the campus for the greater part of this past week, but then, isn't it always this way just before the mail-clad list of Mid-term examinations is due to pronounce its irrevocable verdict over the general student body?

But even under this somewhat deceptive shroud, life goes on much the same as usual here at Saint Dunstan's, even though the regular activities, both those personal and those collective in nature, have been somewhat modified to include the arrival of that awesome specter that is to pay one of its regular visits here very shortly.

Turning to the sports world, the men of the red and white romped over the engineers from Nova Scotia Tech in their second start of the season in the Maritime Intercollegiate Rugby League here on the campus field last Saturday, leaving them in the lurch by a cool 21-3. The Saint Dunstan's squad really proved their strength and stamina and the value of hot porridge for breakfast as they toiled under an overcast sky to bring their first victory to the feet of their patron, Jack R. MacDonald, Rodney MacInnis, and Joe Revell displayed exceptionally fine form in the contest, as they paced the rest of the hard-working team right to the final blast of the whistle.

The engineers will have their opportunity to even the score today as the Saints answer their challenge on the Tech gridiron. In the Island Intercollegiate League, the Saints second squad took the first game of a three game series from the Welchmen of P.W.C. with a score of 25-2 as they stormed their way across the field at Queen Charlotte High last Wednesday in the heated competition for the Zaken trophy.

Johnny Whelan distinguished himself especially by making three successful tries in the first half, and Pete Green, George McGuigan, Donnie LeClaire and Ed Morrison followed this lead to further bolster the score sheet.

On the high school level, the younger men from the Saints ranks handed a 30-0 defeat to the embattled warriors from Summerside to round off the schedule. The consistent wide margin of these victories should betoken a prosperous season for the college, moreover, it should insure top-notch teams in succeeding years as the younger men, skilled in the art of winning, move up to fill the vacancies left by the graduates.

Currently of interest here on the campus and of considerable importance to the students at large, is the question as to whether or not the Saints should enter into a round-robin series in hockey with the other Maritime colleges.

It seems that Mount Allison, Saint Thomas, and U.N.B. have all voted to enter just such a series, and it remains for S.D.U. to decide whether to enter this series or to play a home and home series. The question, which is to be submitted to the Executive of the Students' Union for arbitration, is of the utmost importance because if the Saints should decide to drop out of the round-robin series this year, they will have to stay out of it for a period of three years; and most of the powers feel that we could turn out some highly competitive teams during those three years.
