CANTONESE WITHDRAW FROM HUNAN PROVINCE

45-FOOT MOTOR BOAT AND RUM CARGO SEIZED

The 45-foot Summerside motor vessel, "Art," with its cargo of 97 five-gallon kegs of contraband rum was seized Saturday night as it cruised off Malpeque by the R. C. M. P. patrol boat "Alarm." The "Alarm" and a crew of two were detained and will likely face charges of violating the Customs Act. Constable Foster and Able Seaman "Lean" were aboard the speedy "Alarm" cruising a few miles off the coast at Malpeque when they sighted the rum-running vessel. It carried no lights. The crew of the "Art" became aware of the R. C. M. P. boat when it was a short distance away. The Summerside craft was challenged and boarded with little difficulty. There was no violence. The seized boat was taken to Rustico Harbor and the crew and cargo taken to Charlottetown.

G.K. Chesterton Noted Author & Critic Passes

Had Distinguished Literary Career. Published Own Periodical, "G. K.'s Weekly".

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) BEACONSFIELD, England, June 14.—(C. P. Cable)—G. K. Chesterton, distinguished author and critic, died today of a heart attack at his Buckinghamshire country home, "Top Meadow." He was 62 years old. He became ill after returning from a holiday in France a week ago. His wife was with him when he died. Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Chesterton became a Roman Catholic in 1922 and afterwards was an outstanding champion of his new faith. He was converted partly through the influence of his most intimate friend, Hilaire Belloc. Mr. Chesterton became a Roman Catholic four years later.

One of the weightiest men in literature in a physical as well as a mental sense, Chesterton often joked about his own bulk. His outspoken writings included criticism, poetry, essays, novels and plays. Among his best-known works are the Father Brown stories, the Man who was Thursday, the Napoleon of Notting Hill, the Club of Queer Trades, and the Ball and the Cross. He completed an autobiography in April of this year.

Chesterton was an occasional visitor to Canada and the United States. He was born in the Kensington district of London in 1874. Among Chesterton's dislikes were Bernard Shaw, about whom he wrote a book in 1909; and Hollywood, which he described as having been born "in the last swinish leavings of modern sentimentalism, mixed with scepticism."

For several years during the early part of his career, Gilbert Keith Chesterton was somewhat of a puzzle in the field of English literature, but with his admirers constantly growing in numbers and his work better understood, he eventually came to be known in England as the most lovable and boyish character among British authors.

His own idea of himself was that he was born to attain fame as an artist. He made a determined effort to reach that goal by leaving St. Paul's school, where he studied at a young age, to attend the art classes at the Slade School, London. After filling the role of art critic for "The Bookman" for a time he discovered that his natural bent was toward literature and he again changed his course to devote himself to cultivating that means of expression, both in verse and prose.

Having done occasional reviewing and had some experience in a publisher's office, Chesterton in 1900 produced a volume of clever poems under the title "The Wild Knight." It was about that time he definitely took to journalism as a career and became a regular contributor to the Liberal journals, "The Speaker," and "The Daily News."

From the first Chesterton established himself as a writer with a distinct personality—combative, unconventional and dogmatic—with the result that his writings were Church.

Crew Of Wrecked Banker Beatrice Vivian In Halifax

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, June 14.—Brought in to port by the ship that sank their fishing schooner, Captain James Gosling and the crew of the Banker Beatrice Vivian were in Halifax tonight, anxious to return to Newfoundland and their fishing. The 25 Newfoundlanders comprising the crew of the schooner escaped without injury when the anchor liner California rammed the 100-ton vessel last Thursday 26 miles off Cape Race. Found on the Banks on her second trip, the Beatrice Vivian was proceeding slowly through a dense fog when the 17,000-ton liner loomed up out of the mist and crashed through her. The California struck the bow of the Banker, smashing the foremost

MANITOBIANS PREPARE FOR ELECTION

Errick F. Willis, Conservative Leader, Confident Of Victory At The Poles On July 27.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) WINNIPEG, June 14.—Political fever gripped Manitobans tonight. Citizens and party leaders alike prepared hurriedly for election July 27, called unexpectedly Friday.

The Conservative party platform will be announced before July 1, promised Errick F. Willis, newly-elected leader, at the accused Premier John Bracken of "sharp politics" in announcing the election date without previous warning.

The Communist party was the first political group to put a candidate in the field. It was announced Saturday that James Litterick had been nominated at a special meeting of the party's provincial congress. The district secretary will contest one of the 10 Winnipeg legislative seats.

Campaign plans were discussed at a meeting here Saturday of the nine Conservative members of the legislature. In calling the conference, Mr. Willis predicted victory in the balloting by a substantial majority. Provincial organization was announced as nearly completed.

Prospects tonight were that nearly 200 candidates would contest the 53 seats July 27. Voting will take place Aug. 21 in the Pas and Rupert's Land constituencies to complete the 55-member legislature. Premier Bracken represents the Pas in the House.

The Social Credit group organized here shortly before last October's federal election, will have a candidate in every riding, H. Sanders, its president said. It was not expected Premier Abernethy of Alberta, head of the Social Credit government in the foothills province, would participate in the Manitoba campaign.

Mobilization of the reserve gendarmes, composed of 2,200 men, was ordered by the outgoing minister of the interior.

CORPUS CHRISTI PROCESSION YESTERDAY

St. Dunstan's Basilica's annual Corpus Christi procession was held yesterday and was one of the largest ever held in Charlottetown. The procession took place following the parish High Mass at 10 o'clock yesterday morning celebrated by Rev. R. V. McKenzie, of St. Dunstan's University. Rev. F. Cass was deacon of the Mass and Rev. E. Dalton was Coadjutor. His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan assisted at the throne vested in cope and mitre. He was assisted by Rev. J. A. Murphy, D.D., Rector of St. Dunstan's University, as assistant priest and Rev. Father Dougan and Rev. Father McCardle as deacons of honour. The sermon was preached by Rev. P. McMahon, D.D., Rector of St. Dunstan's Basilica.

At the conclusion of the Mass the congregation and societies of St. Dunstan's parish formed up and, joined by the congregation and societies of the Holy Redeemer parish, proceeded to the Notre Dame Academy, where Pontifical Benediction was given from an altar erected at the entrance, by His Excellency Bishop J. A. O'Sullivan.

The procession then re-formed and proceeded back to the Basilica, where Pontifical Benediction was again given by His Excellency.

Music for the Mass and the Benediction was furnished by the Corpus Christi Choir under the direction of Mr. W. J. Brown. Mrs. Joseph Dougan was organist. The League of the Cross Band, under the direction of Mr. W. J. Bradward, played music for the procession.

DANGER OF CIVIL WAR LESSENS

Southerners, However, Renew Appeal For Adoption of Stronger Attitude Against Japan.

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) SHANGHAI, June 14.—The Canton (South China) government telegraphed the National Government at Nanking an appeal today urging that the nation as a whole take a stronger attitude toward Japanese activities in China.

This message, sent by Chen Chitang, Governor of Canton and military leader of Kwangtung province, said, however, that the Cantonese forces were withdrawing from Hunan province "for the present."

(Human, attached to the Nanking government, borders upon Kwangtung province of the Canton regime.) National government leaders interpreted the development as a strong indication Kwangtung province is unwilling to continue its threat against Hunan province, which Nanking is answering with ever-increasing military concentrations in Fukien, Kiangsi, and Hunan provinces.

The National government believes Canton's latest action left Kwangtung province alone to prosecute any anti-Nanking campaign. War lords of Kwangsi are believed to realize they are incapable of waging war alone.

Thus Nanking was optimistic that the southern threat is rapidly disintegrating, thereby removing the danger of civil war.

It is expected the central executive committee of the Kuomintang party, meeting July 10 will adopt resolutions superficially in conformity with Canton's wishes but care is expected to be taken not to bring down Japanese disapproval.

Although rulers of Kwangsi province have not yet declared an intention of following Canton's lead for negotiation with Nanking, the fact Kwangsi troops are being held on the border is taken here to indicate Kwangsi's anti-Nanking drive has been halted, at least temporarily.

ADrift FIVE DAYS, SAFE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) GLACE BAY, N. S., June 14.—Picked up by a fishing smack while the Gloucester fisherman Lavar Goulart and Government cutters were searching for him Saturday Joseph Mulse was recovering tonight.

The 52-year old seaman from Redding, Mass., was lost last Tuesday 15 miles off Point Island when he left the Goulart in a dory to fish. A heavy fog set in and he could not locate the mother ship.

Hungry and without water for five days, Mulse was picked up two miles from Glace Bay harbor by Captain Samuel Fougere of River Bourgeois, N. S., in the Mary C. Bourgeois, a bill to change the auditors of the Canadian National Railway, a bill to authorize establishment of national parks in clearance papers and the crew left an unpaid bill of $1175 behind. Reports that Captain George Osborne had desires to live the life of Robinson Crusoe and the crew had gone in search of gold supposedly buried by Captain Kidd in the Salvage Islands were followed by news that the Girl Pat had been sighted off the Salvages, South of Madeira. Later the trawler was said to have headed out across the South Atlantic and was expected to follow up the American Coast.

Commons Speeds Up Legislation In Final Drive

Early Prorogation Seen In View Of Pending Provincial Elections And Anticipated Visits Of Ministers Abroad.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, June 14.—A sudden speeding up in the House of Commons last week, coupled with the unexpected development of two provincial general elections coming in the next eight weeks, revived the expectation that Parliament may prorogue by Saturday. Less than half a dozen controversial measures remain on the Commons order paper and gossip in the lobbies indicates a general desire on all sides to dispose of them with the least possible debate.

In the Senate there remains consideration of several important measures and others still before the House of Commons will have to receive the attention of the Upper House but that body probably would co-operate in any concerted move toward early prorogation.

Reasons for early ending of the session are many. Prime Minister Mackenzie King is sending several of his ministers abroad almost at once on various missions, although he has not announced any immediate plans for himself. Conservative leader Bennett desires to leave Ottawa in time to fulfil engagements in Vancouver July 1, and at least the Manitoba and Quebec members of his group will be needed in the general election campaigns opening in those provinces.

Ministers to Go Abroad

Aid Requested

Social Credit members have been requested to lend their assistance to candidates who will fight probably in every constituency in the Manitoba general elections set for July 27, and the time is so short those who answer the call will need to get away without delay.

James S. Woodsworth, C. C. F. leader, will leave Ottawa soon whether the House prorogues or not, to keep engagements in the West, and he has also offered his assistance to the Manitoba branch of the C. C. F. who will have candidates in most of the ridings.

Quebec and Manitoba members of the rank and file, with sudden and unexpected demands placed upon them by dissolution of the provincial legislatures, will lose no time in getting back into their ridings.
