Will Reduce Wheat Acreage

OTTAWA, (CP)—Canadian farmers report they intend to reduce their 1955 wheat acreage by 675,600 acres to a 10-year low of 23,593,200 acres.

It would be the third consecutive drop in wheat acreage.

Last year farmers planted 24,266,800 acres to wheat but bad weather and rust reduced production to less than 300,000,000 bushels from the near-record 614,000,000 bushels in 1953. In 1952 farmers planted 24,512,600 acres to wheat and 25,995,000 in 1952.

The bureau of statistics said today Saskatchewan, with an indicated 1955 decrease of 840,000 acres, more than offsets increases planned in Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia.

While Canada's wheat acreage may be down this year, coarse grain production may be up.

Farmers report plans to boost oats acreage to 11,177,000 acres from 1954's 10,160,600 and to increase barley acreage to a record 9,814,800 from 7,855,900.
