DR. HUNT'S STOMACHIC MIXTURE
The Proprietor of this Medicine, offers his services to the afflicted, particularly in affections of the stomach, as Dyspepsia, Cardialgia commonly called heart-burn, Pyrosis or Water-brash, &c. and in Asthmatic affections, Incipient Phthisis, Fevers, &c.

The result of long observation has led him to this conclusion, viz. that those persons whose powers of assimilation are enfeebled (no matter from what cause,) must by rapid strides advance towards a diseased state in some of its varieties. Premising this, he begs leave to observe after repeated trials, he is convinced, that, (if there be a specific medicine for any disease) the chemical Stomachic Mixture approaches it nearest to one of any he is at present acquainted with.

It is not necessary here to point out the importance of keeping the stomach in good order, by applying a remedy at once safe and efficacious, (those suffering under Dyspepsia, Heart-burn, or any similar affection the complaint disappears.)

It is not necessary to say, why the morning sickness (if present to that degree requiring the aid of medicine) caused by sympathy with other parts of the system, is relieved by the Chemical Stomachic Draught. Nor why it removes indigestion and of course sweetens the breath; or the fact of its giving relief in nineteen cases out of twenty, is a sufficient testimony to its merits.

Neither is it necessary to periterate, why that sort of collapse, so often experienced by the varieties of Bacchus, (known by certain tremulous motions, head-ache, want of appetite, and Debility,) is relieved, and disappears after taking a dose of the Chemical Stomachic Mixture; but it may be necessary to say, as a Febrile Medicine it bears a palm.

In cases of Fever, where hot and dry skin, white tongue, and thirst are present, by adding a single grain of the powder of Ipecacuanha to three fluid drams (about three tea spoonfuls) to the Chemical Stomachic Mixture and diluted with tepid water, and taken at intervals from three to six hours the most beneficial effects may be expected from it, while too tender, thin gruel, or any simple diluent drink will accelerate its medicinal effects.

To this Medicine are added 12 Pills, 4 of which may be taken occasionally going to bed, but not only have a gentle aperient effect, but have actually removed severe pains in the stomach, in a short time, and in those Fevers where active purges are improper, these Pills are very valuable.

The Dose of the Chemical Stomachic mixture is, for an Adult, one large table-spoonful, diluted with water, or syrup and water, to be taken in the morning.

If to the dose of the Chemical Stomachic Mixture, diluted as before, a table-spoonful of wine be added, it converts the draught into one of the most valuable sudorifics that can be used in fevers, for this potent reason, it causes diaphoresis without inducing exhalation.

Moreover the proprietor, can with confidence recommend this mixture, as one of the best Vermifuges (worm medicines) extant. If a table-spoonful of this Medicine be added to a table-spoonful of water, and administered to a child for eight or ten days. The unpleasant symptoms attending them, particularly the flatulency, pain in the stomach, irregular appetite, short dry cough, and the almost daily fever will vanish. In this respect, the mixture is a valuable family Medicine, particularly to the residing at a distance from Medical assistance.
