Private King was wounded in both legs Oct. 13, but was reported as showing improvement in his condition. He was flown to the United States hospital only two weeks ago. Shortly after receiving word that his condition was worsening, his parents were advised that he had died.

The remains are resting at the Cutcliffe Funeral Home until noon on Monday, thence to Zion Presbyterian Church for service at 2 o'clock. Interment in People's Cemetery.

Plans For Huge Bonfire Backfire

FREDERICTON, Jan. 2 — (CP) — Plans for a giant fire on St. John River ice here have backfired, posing a problem about how to get rid of a huge pile of Christmas trees.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce originated the idea of the bonfire to dispose of the Yuletide trees discarded by Fredericton residents. Hundreds were gathered and piled up on the river shore at the foot of Regent Street. Then word came today from the Federal Fisheries Department that such a project would violate a provision of fisheries law.

Wanted — another idea.

Christmas And New Year's At The Infirmary

Despite the green Christmas the residents of the Infirmary entered into the home-like spirit of the festive season as the building throughout was artistically decorated with trees, coloured lights and trimmings.

On December 18th, Rev. G. C. Webster and Zion Church Y.P.C.C.E. conducted a variety concert opening with a devotional period in which the Christmas message was brought by the minister. This was followed by a program including vocal and instrumental music, the showing of films, and brought to a pleasant close by a treat of apples and candy.

On December 22nd they were again entertained with carol singing and treated to fudge by the First and Third Girl Guide Companies.

And again on December 23, the Basilica Youth Group arrived laden with gifts from the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau and staged an excellent variety concert which necessitated many encores, laughs and applause.

On Christmas eve the excitement centered around the filling of the Christmas stockings which were carefully hung within Santa's reach, and on Christmas morning the bright popping eyes and smiling faces of the kiddies as they discovered their gifts of toys, books, games, clothing, candy and fruit, would surely remunerate old Santa and his assistants, namely: The Beta Sigma Phi, The Kinetix Club, Zion Mission Guild, The Rebecca Past Noble Grands Club, Vocational Training School, Junior Red Cross, Trinity Stitch and Chatter Group, Mt. Herbert Orphanage and Miss Hazel Hunter for their worthy efforts and kindly interest.

In keeping with the holy season Mass was celebrated on Christmas morning by Rev. Father Bolger. At 9.30 a.m. amid shouts of laughter and the singing of carols and jingle bells, Santa (Harry Keating) danced into the recreation hall where old and young had assembled around the Christmas tree expectantly awaiting his arrival, and in addition to each being greeted by old Santa himself they received their gifts and treats of apples, oranges and candy.

Following Santa's visit the next thought was the "wants of the inner man" which was taken care of by the traditional turkey and plum pudding dinner, carefully prepared and served by a willing and cooperative staff.

This brought to a close a very enjoyable Christmas season and the New Year was ushered in by another delicious turkey dinner and treats of fruit, candy and ice cream.

To those already mentioned, patients, relatives and friends, also the following organizations and firms who through their generosity contributed to this happy and successful festive season, the Matrons, Mrs. Dunning and staff are deeply grateful and extend best wishes for the New Year.

Moving Tribute To Late Dr. MacKenzie In Montreal Church

The following tribute to the late Dr. David Wallace MacKenzie was paid by Rev. Dr. R. J. Berila in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, Montreal, where Dr. MacKenzie had been an Elder since 1925.

"It has often been observed that a time of intense happiness is shot through with poignancy and sorrow. So it has been for us in this parish during this Christmas season. While we on earth were celebrating the Festival of the Home, our Heavenly Father called to his Eternal Home several of our dearest friends. We are glad for their sakes that "they went home at Christmas,"—but we shall miss them sorely.

"Within this sanctuary, we have already paid tribute to several, but there is one friend concerning whom there has not yet been an opportunity to speak. I am thinking, of course, of Dr. David MacKenzie whose death occurred in Charlottetown last Tuesday.

From P. E. I.

"The story of Dr. David MacKenzie is part of the Canadian legend. It is the story of a lad from Prince Edward Island—a lad of stout Selkirk settler stock—who by his immense ability and perseverance rose to become one of the outstanding surgeons of our time. Within this city—and throughout this country—there are a multitude of men and women who are alive and well through the skill and brilliance of "Dr. David." Nor did he minister merely to men's bodies. By his cheerfulness and unstudied kindness, he ministered to their minds and hearts as well. He used friendliness as skillfully as he used the surgeon's knife.

"Dr. David was a devout Christian in the deepest and noblest sense of that word. As an Elder of the Kirk, he served two churches—our own—and the picturesque little church of his boyhood, the pioneer, St. John's Church, in Belfast, Prince Edward Island. It was within this latter church, so haunted with memories, that his funeral service took place on Christmas Eve. I feel that this is just as Dr. David would have wanted it.

Befriended Many

"The people of Prince Edward Island and our own people here in Montreal will miss Dr. David most of all as a friend. There are a host of persons in all classes whom Dr. David befriended across the years. After his retirement from the Royal Victoria Hospital, he went to live in the little village of Eldon in Prince Edward Island. There he was known as the Laird of Eldon, but really might have been styled the Laird of the whole Island.

"My last picture of the Doctor concerns a visit I made with some friends to his Eldon home last summer. At the end of our visit, as we were making our departure, a little Island family came to his front porch. They were obviously in some kind of need. The man

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 — (AP) — The biggest bus strike in New York's history warmed up today, but its punch still was delayed by the long New Year's holiday.

Hitch-hikers appeared in Manhattan. Subways began to feel added pressure. Car pools reminiscent of the wartime gasoline shortage came alive again. And everywhere, taxis swarmed like bees where once the buses rumbled.

Nevertheless, the all-out effect of the strike of 8,000 transport workers of the CIO against eight private bus lines was not expected before next Monday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 — (CP) — Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted spies who passed atomic bomb secrets to Russia, today lost another appeal against their death sentence. They now have only one chance — whether they are to live or die rests with the President.

"I still feel that their crime was worse than murder," said Federal Judge Irving Kaufman as he stood behind the death sentence he imposed on the husband and wife nearly 21 months ago.

Julius, 34, and his tiny, five-foot wife, Ethel, 37, are scheduled to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison within two weeks—probably the night of Jan. 15.

They have appealed their convictions and sentence through every available court up to the U.S. Supreme Court. Their last recourse now is the White House.
