Hughes and Thomas Louie—Hughes won. The next called was the four-oared time race. No. 1 crew went over the course in 9.41; No. 2 in 10.09; No. 3 did not row, but will do so first good water.

UNPRECEDENTED RESULTS.—The fortunate possessor of policy, No. 249 in "The Great Mutual Life of New York," insured his life many years ago for $2,000, should he die to-day, his heirs would receive from the Company not $2,000, as indicated on the face of his policy, but $6,338. The difference between the $2,000 and present value of the policy ($6,338) being the accruing profits since its placement. No Life Company extant has ever nearly approached this magnificent showing. Mr. John McEachern is agent for "The Great Mutual Life of New York" in this Province.

THE races on the Summerside Driving Park came off as announced yesterday. There was a large number of spectators present, and the order instilled was fairly good. In the order instilled were but three entries, viz.: 2.50 class there were Harry Messenger and Parnell. Harry Messenger won, with Harry Messenger second and Parnell last. We have not heard the official time, but it is said that Hernandez trotted the first heat in 2.37. The names of the contestants in the three-year-old race are not to hand, but we learn that it was won by a colt owned by Mr. McArthur, of Kingsburg, who won the Stuyvesant's last year.

Phillips Irving.

BORN FEBRUARY 17, DIED AUGUST 14, 1866. We think not of him; he but came and went, A lovely babe, cut off, while still no speech Save infants' cries he knew, which yet could teach A mother's heart his wants or ill-content: A lovely boy, 'for one brief season lent'— From waking winter, till the sun did reach His high'd mid-heaven, and his rays did bleach The swift-shot grain, 'neath ripening ears o'er bent. We think not of him; yet had it been planned That he should stay, methinks we now should grieve. A very type of man for he should stand— Shapely and tall; his eyes should look out free; His tongue should scorn all falshness, and his hand Be ever outstretched in deeds of charity. September, 1886.
