Five Killed In Woolwich Arsenal Explosion Occurred In Research Department, Which Employs 7,500 Men.

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, July 8.—An explosion in the cruciform plant in the research department of the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich killed five persons today. The victims, one of them Lieut. Commander P. A. M. Long, an officer in the armament supply department of the Admiralty, either were conducting or watching an experiment when the explosion occurred. The research department of the huge arsenal employs 7,500 men. Officials said the blast was purely accidental and that there was no question of sabotage. Lieut. Commander Long had been employed at the arsenal 13 years. He served during the war as a sub-lieutenant in H.M.S. Barwick on the West Indies station. He specialized in gunnery. Early this year, at his own request, Long was placed on the retired list of the navy after 30 years of service in it. The building in which the five were working was destroyed, but no other part of the arsenal was damaged. The other victims were identified as P. C. Lewis, a scientist; T. Brignall, a laboratory assistant, and two factory hands, F. Cooper and W. E. Johnson. One other man was injured seriously.

Chooses To Run

Bowing to a nation-wide draft movement and a personal plea from his close friend, President Roosevelt, Governor Herbert H. Lehman (above) of New York, has reconsidered his decision of May 20, in which he declared he would not be a candidate for reelection. The governor has announced that he will run for a third term.

Michaud To Study Fishing Industry

OTTAWA, July 8.—Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister of Fisheries will leave for Vancouver July 15 to make a complete study of the Pacific Coast fishing industry. Accompanied by W. A. Found, Deputy Minister, he will spend about six weeks along the west coast as he is anxious to familiarize himself with fishing conditions from the United States border to the most northerly areas. During his western trip the Minister will likely settle Canada's attitude towards the Sockeye Salmon Treaty and the conditions attached to it by the United States Senate. Recently the Treaty, ratified by Canada a few years ago, was approved by the American Senate subject to three conditions. To two of these conditions Canada had little objection but expressed doubts about the third, which provides that no regulations may be made by the proposed International Commission until after eight years of investigation. Destroy Value The condition is looked upon here as apt to destroy much of the treaty's value. After conferring with fishermen and local Fisheries Department officials Mr. Michaud will probably be in a position to recommend a definite course of action to the Canadian Government, either to accept the condition imposed at Washington or to enter into new negotiations with a view to its removal or modification.

Zeppelin Must Comply With Regulations

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, July 8.—Great Britain is taking up with Germany the question of the zeppelin Hindenburg's flights over British industrial centres. Sir Philip Sassoon, Under Secretary for Air, said in the House of Commons crossings over England henceforth were to be allowed only in cases caused by the urgent necessity of navigation. Such crossings, even then, will carry the added condition of strict observance of regulations for the avoidance of prohibited areas.

ITALY MOURNS DEATH OF AVIATORS

10 Slain In Ethiopian Ambush — Swift Punishment For Attackers.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) ROME, July 8.—Italy mourned 10 aviators slain in an Ethiopian ambush tonight and, reports from Addis Ababa said, sent a fleet of planes into the hinterland to deal out swift punishment to the attackers. "Mass reprisals," it was reported, were ordered against the district in Walega province, western Ethiopia, where the aviators were ambushed after they had alighted on reconnaissance flight June 26. Addis Ababa heard of the killings only yesterday, from the Rev. Father Barolito, a passenger, who escaped from the hostile tribesmen. Three of the victims were among Italy's best aviators. They were General Vincenzo Maffiocco, who during the Ethiopian war was assistant chief of aviation in East Africa; Major Antonio Locatelli, member of the Italian Air Force, which passed over the Maritime Provinces on the way to Chicago in 1933 and Colonel Carlo Calderini. Italian newspapers, cautiously printing the official communique announcing the ambush on an inside page, were careful to point out the "massacre" did not mean that organized and armed opposition existed in Ethiopia. It was emphasized the aviators were ambushed by "bandits." The official statement said the air mission previously had landed at other points in the district, and had been welcomed cordially by the populace.

Nude Paraders Are Sentenced

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NELSON, B. C., July 8.—Paul Metin and Bill Viosoff were sentenced to three years in the penitentiary today after admitting to Magistrate John Martmel that they had paraded in the nude near Brilliant, B. C., on July 1. The sentencing of Metin and Viosoff follows a recent recurrence of nude parading, bombings and incendiarism in the Doukhobor colonies, reminiscent of the troublesome days of 1922 when 500 of the sons of freedom set of Doukhobors were sentenced to three years in penitentiary for parading in the nude. Three hundred children were placed in institutions on the coast while their parents served the sentences.

Premier King May Go West

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, July 8.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today he "hopes" to make a trip west as far as Vancouver during August before he leaves in September to head Canada's delegation to the League of Nations meeting at Geneva. It will depend, he said, on how many of his colleagues, six of whom will be in Europe this month, will have returned by early August.

ASK FOR PARK IN VICINITY OF CH'TOWN

The Charlottetown Board of Trade at a quarterly meeting last night endorsed the resolution recently passed by the City Council re the location of the proposed national park, if one is to be established in Prince Edward Island. The City Council had at a special meeting last week "respectfully urged the government to select the proposed park site in the vicinity of Charlottetown." Special speaker at last night's meeting was Mr. R. P. Bower, formerly acting Canadian trade commissioner at Batavia, Java, who arrived in Charlottetown last night and will be here until Saturday interviewing firms interested in trade with the Dutch East Indies. Mr. Bower told the meeting of conditions in Java, what its principal exports and imports are and many interesting facts about the country. A particular type of seed potatoes would be the only thing this province would have to offer in the way of exports to Java was the opinion of the trade commissioner. Two years ago he had an enquiry for a large order of seed potatoes of small size, the largest not to exceed an inch and a quarter in diameter. The variety wanted was green mountains. He was not able to locate a firm in Canada able to fill the order at that season, he said. The seed is always planted round there hence the small size required. The country is a Dutch possession with a population of 43 million people. The market is not nearly so great, however, as the population would indicate. The people are of a low mentality and the scale of living low. Six cents a day is considered a good wage, the speaker said. The island has an educational system but the natives do not attend school. Children of whites and half castes go to the schools but not the natives. The white (Continued on Page 10)

MONTREUX CONFERENCE DEADLOCKED

Great Britain and Russia Clash Over Warship Passage In Dardanelles.

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREUX, Switzerland, July 8.—Conflicting desires of Great Britain and Russia for warship passage in the Dardanelles still deadlocked in Montreux conference tonight. At the same time the Russian delegation, alarmed over the sensation created when it announced to the press it had received orders from Moscow to leave if Britain did not make considerable concessions, officially told the British delegation it did not intend to resort to such tactics. Joseph Paul-Boncour of France and Nicolas Politis of Greece were asked to seek a compromise between the two powers. France backed the Soviet stand that the Dardanelles Straits connecting the Black and Mediterranean Seas should be closed to all belligerents unless the warring nations were carrying out a League of Nations mission of acting under regional pacts blessed by the League. Britain still demanded the Straits be kept open in the event she was a belligerent, agreeing, however, to a plan whereby Turkey could close the straits if that nation deemed her security threatened. Russia backed the eastward passage of non-Balkan Sea powers such as Great Britain should be restricted, and at the same time demanded the right to move her warships in either direction through the Dardanelles in unrestricted numbers. The French stand in backing Russia was regarded the natural result of the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact.

Communists Defy Bium Government

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) PARIS, July 8.—Communists defied Premier Leon Bium's government tonight to make good its promise to use force if necessary to prevent new factory occupations by striking workers. Deputy Maurice Thorez, the party leader, said Roger Salengro, Minister of the Interior, who made the promise to appease the Senate's radical socialist faction, was "not well inspired in letting it be believed that force can be employed against the working class." However, in addressing the Senate, Salengro promised "persuasive measures" only in the event evacuation appeals by labor unions and others.

Privy Council Will Pass Judgment Upon Validity Of Reform Legislation

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, July 8.—The highest judicial tribunal in the British Empire will be asked by Canada to determine validity of four legislative enactments all directly affecting labor, it was announced today. They are items in the "reform legislation" brought down by the Bennett administration. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, announced the judicial committee of the Privy Council would be asked to pass upon the constitutionality of the Employment and Social Insurance Act; and the Acts which call for one day's rest in seven, a 48-hour week, and payment of minimum wages. Coupled with the announcement that Canada will appeal these four enactments was Mr. Lapointe's statement the provinces would submit references to the Privy Council concerning the validity of Section 48A of the Criminal Code, and the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act. Only two of the eight "new deal" enactments were not directly mentioned in the Minister's statement. They are the Natural Products Marketing Act and the Dominion Trade and Industries Commission Act. No official intimation was given regarding them. The Marketing Act was regarded as one of the most important pieces of legislation among the eight bills recently passed upon by the Supreme Court of Canada. The Court declared it ultra vires the Canadian Parliament. It found partly valid the Dominion Trade and Industries (Continued on Page 10)

The strikers accepted a government plan for settlement, but the employers were still to be heard from.
